U. S. HOLDS FIRMLY IN SOLOMONS

Bouchard WasAboard U.S.S. Wasp

Kingstonian, 19, Has Three Insignia for Naval Actions at Malta, Solomons

Tells of Others

Orville Sweet, La Verne Barron, Saugerties, Were on Ship

Modest and unassuming Kenneth C. Bouchard, 19, only Kingston man who was a member of the crew of the U. S. Naval Aircraft carrier Wasp torpedoed and sunk by the Japanese in the battle off the Solomon Islands on September 15, is spending a furlough at his home, 30 Ponckhockie street, before reporting for active duty next month.

"It was an exciting experience," agreed young Bouchard when seen today, "and I am hoping that when I report for duty next month I will be assigned to another carrier."

Bouchard, after the crew had abandoned the sinking carrier, was afloat in the ocean for three hours before being picked up by a U. S. destroyer.

"They said there were sharks in the ocean, but I didn't see any," the youth said, "I think the heavy explosions scared them away."

Bouchard, who holds the rating of third class petty officer, was serving as aviation machinist mate on the Wasp, and it was his duty to help fuel the airplanes.

On his uniform he wears an insignia which tells the story of his taking part in three battles at sea, one off the island of Malta in the Mediterranean, and two off the Solomon Islands.

The youth since childhood had made his home with his uncle and aunt, former Alderman and Mrs. Henry Fox, of Ponckhockie street. He was graduated from Kingston High School in January, 1941, but did not wait for the June graduation exercises of his class, but on June 19, 1941, he enlisted in the U. S. Navy and was sent to Newport for his preliminary training, then to Jacksonville, Florida, and back again to Newport. He had been a member of the crew of the Wasp for about seven months before she was torpedoed and sunk.

"I did not see the submarine that fired the torpedo," said Bouchard, "but it struck the ship and set fire to gasoline. We were ordered to fight the fire, and were busy when the second and third torpedoes struck, and orders were issued to abandon ship.

"I had on my life jacket and slid down a rope into the sea, and I must have floated about five miles from the spot where the Wasp sank. After being in the water for nearly three hours a raft floated by and I climbed aboard and was picked up by a destroyer."

"The sea was covered with a skim of oil for a considerable distance, and although some of the men saved from the carrier said they had seen sharks in the water, I did not see any."

Young Bouchard when he abandoned ship with the other members of the crew who were still alive was forced to leave all his belongings behind. "The only thing I saved was this wallet, which I have carried ever since I joined the Navy," he said, exhibiting the wallet, which was soaked and stained from being in the water so many hours.

"There were two from Saugerties who were members of the Wasp" said Bouchard in reply to questions "one of them was Orville Sweet, who I believe has been reported missing in action, and the other—I thing his name is LaVerne Barron—is home on a furlough."

Bouchard said that his first sea duty was off the coast of Scotland and from there the Wasp was sent to Malta. "They say the planes we brought saved Malta from falling," he observed with a grin, "and I understand the crew of the Wasp is going to be given medals, but we haven't got them yet."

"The first time the Japs reported the Wasp sunk," he said "we were 10,000 miles away."

The youthful survivor of the Wasp stands 6 feet two inches in his stocking feet, and his face is bronzed by the ocean and sun.

Bouchard plans to leave Kingston on November 7 to report for duty on the west coast.

Landis Revises Instructions for Combatting Bombs

O. C. D. Chief Announces New Incendiary Types Require Special Consideration

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—Director James M. Landis of the Office of Civilian Defense today announced revised instructions for dealing with new types of enemy fire bombs, chief of which he listed as an attached explosive charge set off by a time fuse.

Discussing new types of bombs being used by both Germans and Japanese, the O. C. D. chief termed the "jet of water" still the most potent weapon in fighting large and small incendiaries.

While many delayed-explosion bombs are attached to the regular type incendiaries which burst into flames upon impact, the effect of the time blast also is largely incendiary, Landis said, and defense workers should dampen the area around the bomb from a protected position.

The O. C. D. announcement warned civilians against use of "all such smothering agents as 'bomb extinguishing' powders,* * *scoops, grabs and snuffers. They are entirely without merit and may endanger the lives of persons who depend upon them."

Use of either the water "spray system" or sand, is "no longer recommended," the O. C. D. said, "because the possibility of fragmentation makes it too dangerous to approach the bomb sufficiently close to apply them."

New types of enemy bombs aimed at starting fires and at the same time "eliminating" the fire-fighting crews include:

The old-style 2.2-pound fire bomb "with an extension of the nose containing a larger explosive charge," which increases the total weight to five pounds.

A combination incendiary and high explosive bomb, about the same size and shape as the old-style 110-pound high explosive bomb, which ejects 60 incendiary units and explodes a 12-pound charge of TNT.

A phosphorus-oil bomb similar to the 110-pound explosive bomb, which may be extinguished by water but flames anew when dry.

A Japanese bomb weighing about 110 pounds, and designed to start several scattered small fires.

M. M. Peck Is District Manpower Official

Merrill M. Peck of 168 Washington avenue, has been appointed Special Agent to the National Committee for the Conservation of Manpower in War Industries. Mr. Peck's appointment was recently sent him by the United States government.

Mr. Peck has been affiliated with the New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization as electrical inspector for the past 20 years. He will continue in that capacity and also promote the Industrial Safety Engineering Program in War Industries.

As special agent for the United States Department of Labor, under Region II, Mr. Peck's district includes Ulster, Greene and Sullivan counties. He will make his office at 298 Wall street in this city.

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—The position of the treasury October 26: Receipts, $36,877,124.76; expenditures, $320,227,268.12; net balance, $4,820,558,655.61; working balance included $4,058,059,113.60; customs receipts for month, $19,131,419.67; receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $4,397,012,511.92; expenditures, $21,278,334,488.85; excess of expenditures $16,881,321,976.93; total debt, $96,210,676,301.38; increase over previous day, $10,657,806.87; gold assets, $22,747,111,166.19.

Army Completes Transfer of 110,599 Japanese in West

Removals Cover 8-Month Period Without Incident; Care Is Provided

San Francisco, Oct. 28 (AP)—In a movement without parallel in the nation's history, 110,599 persons of Japanese ancestry have been transferred by the army from the strategic military areas of the west coast.

The army today summed up its operations, covering a period of eight months, in which the exodus was accomplished. The last of the Japanese were moved inland this week from Santa Anita and Fresno assembly centers.

"Never before had military necessity dictated such a program," the army remarked. "It can now be said that the transference to relocation centers has been effected without incident, on time, and with a proper regard for the comfort of the persons moved."

The order of exclusion from strategic military areas, issued by Lieut. General J. L. DeWitt, commanding general of the Western Defense Command, affected all Japanese, those born in this country as well as natives of Japan.

All now are in ten huge relocation centers in the interior, maintaining their own quarters, operating their own facilities, maintaining hospitals, recreation areas and governing councils. They receive their housing, food and medical attention without cost, and in addition, those who work are paid $19 a month for professional people, $16 a month for skilled men and women, and $12 a month for the unskilled.

The army arranged for storage and conservation of property of all of those moved, took safeguards to preserve property rights of the Japanese, and to minimize resulting economic dislocations.

About 8,000 Japanese now are engaged in agriculture labor outside the relocation camps in several western states, but are not permitted in military zones.

W. R. White Resigns

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—William R. White, state superintendent of banks, resigned today to accept a position in "one of the important commercial banks of the state." Governor Lehman, in accepting the resignation, wrote White: "You have not only efficiently supervised the banking institutions of the state but you have taken a very active and constructive part in our efforts to revise and strengthen the banking law." White became superintendent in January, 1936, at the age of 33, two years after joining the department's legal staff.

State Aid Might Drop $2,000,000

Financial Help to Schools Will Be Less Because of Enrollment Cut

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—State financial aid to New York schools may be reduced more than $2,000,000 this year, education department statisticians estimated today from preliminary enrollment reports showing declines in almost all sections.

Losses over last year range from two per cent in Johnson City and three in Schenectady to 11 per cent in Binghamton, they said. A tabulation of early reports last week indicated a statewide drop of about two per cent, from 2,434,603 students last year to approximately 2,395,900.

Exact computations cannot be made, however, until final reports with details of elementary and high school registrations and attendance records are made in January, they added. These will provide the basis for state aid allotments.

Schools receive an average of $55.56 per capita for elementary school pupils, and $86.36 for high school students plus a non-resident

Dewey Completes Upstate Swing

Will Make Major Campaign Speech in Buffalo in Bid for Votes

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP) — Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor, centered in highly industrialized Buffalo today the windup of an upstate campaign pledged anew to "every human endeavor" toward winning the war.

Completing his sixth and final upstate swing, the former Manhattan district attorney undertook a day-long tour of the city to be climaxed by a major campaign speech tonight. He will entrain immediately thereafter for New York city, where his remaining effort to break a 20-year Democratic rule of state government will be concentrated.

Dewey came here directly from Binghamton where last night he told an enthusiastic audience of several hundred that New York demands its "rightful place" in the war effort—"the place of the Empire State."

"New York is one-tenth of the nation," Dewey said, "It pays one-fifth of the cost of this war. But we are not complaining about that.

"We want to do more than we have been permitted to do. We want to do everything that human endeavor can to accomplish the one need of the hour, the crushing of the forces of our enemies."

Asserting the people "want action, not reaction," he declared they will get it by electing next Tuesday "a forward-looking Republican administration."

All Democratic candidates, Dewey said, "are very enthusiastic about yesterday" but "not one of them has shown even the glimmering of an idea about tomorrow.

"The only thing the Democrats look forward to is the family fight they are going to have in 1944," he continued. "That is the real objective to which arey are asking

'I Got a Raise' Cry Ends

Economic Regulations Make Weekly Pay Check Same, With Few Exceptions; Wages Are Frozen

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—That joyous cry, "I just got a raise," probably will be heard much less frequently during the wartime emergency due to new federal regulation of all wage and salary increases.

Under rules announced yesterday the captains of industry and the lowliest wage earners both become subject to pay control—and even salary or wage decreases must be justified in certain cases.

In cases where salaries were less than $5,000 a year on October 3, no decrease may be made by the employer below the highest salary paid between January 1, 1942 and September 15, 1942, "unless to correct gross inequities or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war," except with government approval. In cases where salaries exceeded $5,000 a year on October 3 any cut must be justified to the government if it reduces the level below $5,000.

The regulations issued by Economic Director James F. Byrnes and approved by President Roosevelt generally limit public and private salaries, except those fixed by statute to a top net of $25,000 a year with no changes to be made in general pay and wage schedules up to that amount except for such things as increased production, individual merit raises within established salary rate ranges, and individual promotions.

The Treasury and War Labor Board will enforce the rules.

The purpose was to discourage wartime inflation and at the same time increase federal tax revenues by causing corporations to retain amounts formerly paid out in high salaries. The corporations thus would be required to pay taxes levied at a higher rate than on individual earned income.

The $25,000 salary limitation is not effective until January 1, although increases are prohibited meantime.

The President, whose $75,000 salary is the only statutory federal increment exceeding $25,000, has asked the treasury, Byrnes said, that his pay be limited within the regulations. Whether he would have to turn back a portion of his salary depended on the amount of his deduction allowances.

Allowing for tax deductions and other allowances, treasury officials estimated that a person would

Three Steps Necessary to Obtaining Fuel Oil Ration Given by Local Board

Three steps which every consumer of fuel oil should take immediately to assure receipt of a fuel oil ration book were outlined today by John M. Cashin, chairman of the Kingston City War Price and Rationing Board.

The steps, according to instructions received from Lee S. Buckingham, New York State Director of the Office of Price Administration, are:

"If you did not take an inventory on October 1 of the fuel oil in the storage tank in your home, do it now. This information will be required on a fuel oil ration application from which must be filled out and mailed to your Local Board.

"If you have in the past obtained fuel oil from a regular dealer, he will probably mail to you very soon your fuel oil ration application and a certificate showing your fuel oil purchases from him for the 12-month period ending May 31, 1942.

"Measure the floor area of each room in your home which is used for living or sleeping purposes. Do not include basement, laundries, sleeping porches, sun porches, garage space, recreation rooms, work shops, attics and any other space for which heating is not essential. Floor area figures will be required on your fuel oil ration application.

"All dealers who have not registered should do so at once."

16 Persons Die in Bus-Train Crash

Fast Passenger Train Slices Detroit City Bus; Many of Dead Are School Children

Tower Operator Describes How He Tried to Make Bus Driver Realize Train Was Roaring Down Upon Railroad Crossing

Detroit, Oct. 28 (AP).—Sixteen persons, including several school pupils, were killed this morning as a passenger train sliced through a crowded Detroit street railways motorbus.

At least 26 persons were injured sufficiently to require hospital treatment.

Bodies were strewn along the tracks for two blocks, and some were mangled against the front of the locomotive as the train, a Grand Trunk Western passenger train arriving from Chicago, pulled to a stop a quarter mile past the crossing.

The bus, driven by William F. Clos of Detroit, had stopped at the Caniff avenue crossing while a northbound freight train passed.

Eye-witnesses said that electric flasher signals were operating, but that after the freight passed, the bus started across the tracks into the path of the southbound passenger train.

The front end of the bus cleared the tracks, but the locomotive smashed through the vehicle at its middle doors, cutting it in half. Most of the dead were passengers in the rear end of the bus.

Schoolbooks of the younger passengers on the bus were scattered along the right-of-way. Many of the bodies, some decapitated and others with limbs severed, were impossible to identify immediately.

The front end of the bus, hurled aside as the tran struck it, was left on its side close to the intersection. The rear end was smashed to fragments and scattered.

Fred A. Nolan, general manager of the municipally owned Detroit Transportation System, said it was the worst accident in Detroit street railways history.

Operator Yells at Driver

Joseph Levinski, operator in a tower at the southeast corner of the intersection, told how he watched the bus start up after the freight passed.

"The red flasher lights were still working," he said. "The passenger train was coming fast, southbound, with the engine whistle screaming. I saw this bus start up. I knew it would do no good, but I leaned out of the tower and yelled. I yelled my head off. The bus went right in the path of the train, and there was an awful

Canterbury Fears Anglo-U. S. Amity Might Be Cooled

ArchbishopSeesFriendship as Vital to Rebuilding World After War; Represents Progress

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

London, Oct. 28 — The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. William Temple, tells me he believes Anglo-American friendship is one of the first needs in rebuilding the post-war world and he is concerned over a report he has received that the United States may draw away from this country because of Britain's trend to the "left."

When the archbishop speaks of the "left" he is not using the expression in the political sense but in its broad socialistic meaning. He has in mind England's social upheaval which is heading toward equal opportunity for all with special privileges for none.

His grace asked if there was danger of amity and cooperation between the two countries being harmed by this tendency.

I assured him that my observation led me to believe that the United States was surging forward with the times and that we should keep step with England in any humanitarian developments.

The archbishop has a very special interest in this "leftist" movement in Britain because, forsooth, he himself is a vital part in it. In Dr. Temple we have a curious break in generations of conservatism which have occupied the primate's throne.

He not only has been named a member of the Labor party but for years has urged the rank and file toward a goal of partnership in industries in which they serve and has called for limitation of the profits of capital.

He has done this while vested interests have roared "leftist" and "radical," but this most outspoken liberal of all the long line of England's primates never has given a tinker's dam for harsh names.

He has kept on preaching his socialistic brand of practical Christianity both through his brilliant tongue and his equally brilliant writings.

Finally, last February, despite the sensational manner in which he had been standing diehards on their heads, he was called at the age of 60 from the archbishopric of York to his present high position

Steel Is Allocated For Eastern Line

Petroleum Emergency Has Less Critical Outlook With W.P.B. Grant

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—Some easement for the eastern petroleum emergency apparently was assured for the future today, as an official of the Petroleum Coordination Office said the War Production Board had allocated the necessary steel for completion of the world's largest oil pipeline system from Texas to the Philadelphia-New York area.

The 850-mile line extension, from Norris City, Ill., to the Philadelphia-New York area, would cost approximately $60,000,000, said the spokesman, who declined to be quoted, and would be completed next spring or summer.

The 530-mile first link of the huge war product, from Texas to Norris City, is expected to be completed in December, and will move 300,000 barrels of petroleum daily for transshipment by rail, barge and truck on to the eastern shortage area.

Construction of the eastward extension would establish a direct pipeline delivery of the 300,000 barrels daily to the Bayonne, N. J., refining area, the O. P. C. official said.

W. P. B. was reported to have granted priorities on 224,000 tons of steel for the extension.

The pipeline is being built for the government by War Emergency Pipeline, Inc., a peroleum industry organization. It will extend approximately 1,380 miles, and the total cost of both links was expected to approach $95,000,000.

The O. P. C. official said the entire 1,380 miles will be traversed by a 24-inch conduit, or else a 24-inch line will run to Phoenixville, Pa., with a 20-inch pipe continuing to the New York-Philadelphia area.

The spokesman could not give the definite route the line would follow from Norris City, Ill., to the eastern terminus.

Anglo, Red Positions Are Better

U. S. Fighter Pilots Bag Seven of 18 Axis Planes Shot Down Over Egypt

Jap Losses Cited

U. S. Navy Says Japs Lose 70 Vessels to 20 for Americans

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated PPress War Editor)

Britain's desert armies were reported to have knifed through Axis forward defenses in the battle of Egypt today, while the Russians turned the tables on German forces in the western Caucasus and American troops held firmly in the Solomon Islands.

U. S. fighter pilots bagged seven of the 18 Axis planes shot down over the Egyptian battlefront yesterday, making their best score since the start of the new Allied offensive.

Latest reports from the South Seas battle zone said the conflict was developing at a furious pace, with the results not yet clear.

In Washington, the Navy announced a scoresheet of 70 Japanese warships and transports sunk or damaged in the Solomons campaign against approximately 20 American ships lost or hit.

These included 12 Japanese vessels definitely sunk, three probably sunk and 55 damaged; compared with 14 U. S. ships sunk, three warships and "several other" unidentified types damaged.

The Tokyo radio continued to broadcast wildly extravagant claims of victory but quoted Japanese naval quarters as warning that "the battle is still in progress and the final results therefore cannot be foreseen."

Tokyo naval commentators added:

"It can be said that this is one of the greatest naval battles since the outbreak of the war."

Meanwhile, American sources in London said the U. S. Navy was greatly outnumbered by the Japanese in the southwest Pacific but that the numbers would be equalized before long.

On the whole, the day's news indicated a noticeable improvement for the Allies in the three key theatres of action.

These were the highlights:

Egypt—British headquarters reported that Lieut.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery's British 8th Army made "further progress" in its five-day-old offensive to break through Axis defenses on the El Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

The British war bulletin said tank battles developed on a larger scale yesterday and that "after heavy fighting the enemy was driven off with considerable loss."

British tank losses were described as "light."

A Reuters dispatch said British troops had "advanced beyond a number of enemy strong points" and were "busy mopping up others."

Overhead, American, British and other Allied warplanes thundered incessantly into the attack against Axis planes and troops, and latest reports said the Allies continued to dominate the skies. U. S. Army fliers were using American bombs for the first time to pound Axis concentrations behind the lines.

"The enemy was mainly on the defensive," British G. H. Q. announced, "but late in the evening they attempted a Stuka (dive bomber) attack on our forward troops.

"This raid was successfully intercepted by our fighters, who dispersed the attack, destroying 13 enemy aircraft."

The day's total bag of Axis planes was listed at 18, with nearly a score others damaged.

'Without Abatement'

The British command said the new offensive was being pressed "without abatement" as Allied infantry punched away at Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's strong points between the Mediterranean Sea and the Qattara Depression.

D.N.B., the German news agency, said British tanks were already attacking in waves on the northern flank—indicating that Allied sappers had cleared a path through the maze of Axis minefields—but asserted they had failed to achieve any noteworthy success.

An Italian communique reported that attacks and counterattacks were developing continuously on the northern sector of the 35-mile desert front and asserted that "an important position which was bitterly contested remained

16 Persons Die in Bus-Train Crash

Army Completes Transfer of 110,599 Japanese in West

Removals Cover 8-Month Period Without Incident; Care Is Provided

San Francisco, Oct. 28 (AP)—In a movement without parallel in the nation's history, 110,599 persons of Japanese ancestry have been transferred by the army from the strategic military areas of the west coast.

The army today summed up its operations, covering a period of eight months, in which the exodus was accomplished. The last of the Japanese were moved inland this week from Santa Anita and Fresno assembly centers.

"Never before had military necessity dictated such a program," the army remarked. "It can now be said that the transference to relocation centers has been effected without incident, on time, and with a proper regard for the comfort of the persons moved."

The order of exclusion from strategic military areas, issued by Lieut. General J. L. DeWitt, commanding general of the Western Defense Command, affected all Japanese, those born in this country as well as natives of Japan.

All now are in ten huge relocation centers in the interior, maintaining their own quarters, operating their own facilities, maintaining hospitals, recreation areas and governing councils. They receive their housing, food and medical attention without cost, and in addition, those who work are paid $19 a month for professional people, $16 a month for skilled men and women, and $12 a month for the unskilled.

The army arranged for storage and conservation of property of all of those moved, took safeguards to preserve property rights of the Japanese, and to minimize resulting economic dislocations.

About 8,000 Japanese now are engaged in agriculture labor outside the relocation camps in several western states, but are not permitted in military zones.

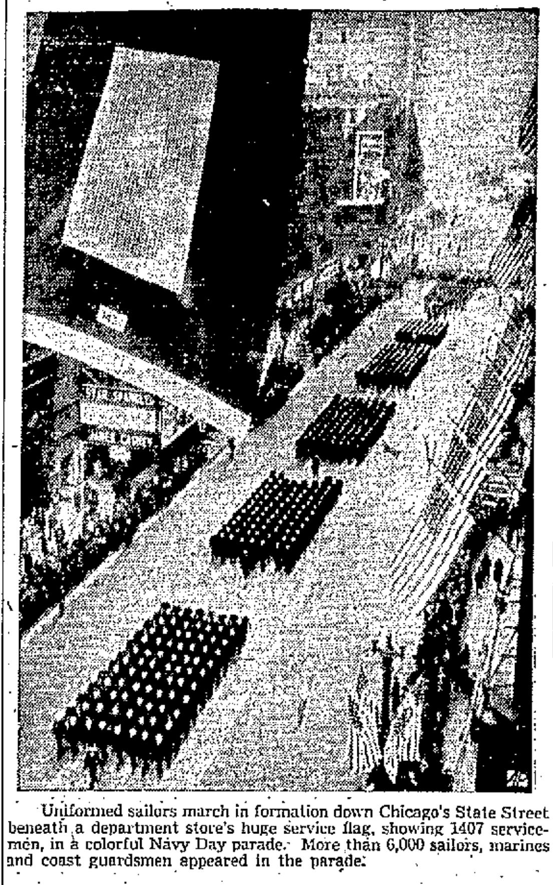
W. R. White Resigns

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—William R. White, state superintendent of banks, resigned today to accept a position in "one of the important commercial banks of the state." Governor Lehman, in accepting the resignation, wrote White: "You have not only efficiently supervised the banking institutions of the state but you have taken a very active and constructive part in our efforts to revise and strengthen the banking law." White became superintendent in January, 1936, at the age of 33, two years after joining the department's legal staff.

Nazis Pledge Help

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—A German broadcast said today that hungry Finland had been pledged Nazi help for the next 12 months in feeding her people with whatever her own agriculture cannot provide.

Flag Waves Over Navy Parade



Uniformed sailors march in formation down Chicago's State Street beneath a department store's huge service flag, showing 1407 servicemen, in a colorful Navy Day parade. More than 6,000 sailors, marines and coast guardsmen appeared in the parade.

State Aid Might Drop $2,000,000

Financial Help to Schools Will Be Less Because of Enrollment Cut

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—State financial aid to New York schools may be reduced more than $2,000,000 this year, education department statisticians estimated today from preliminary enrollment reports showing declines in almost all sections.

Losses over last year range from two per cent in Johnson City and three in Schenectady to 11 per cent in Binghamton, they said. A tabulation of early reports last week indicated a statewide drop of about two per cent, from 2,434,603 students last year to approximately 2,395,900.

Exact computations cannot be made, however, until final reports with details of elementary and high school registrations and attendance records are made in January, they added. These will provide the basis for state aid allotments.

Schools receive an average of $55.56 per capita for elementary school pupils, and $86.36 for high school students plus a non-resident

Dewey Completes Upstate Swing

Will Make Major Campaign Speech in Buffalo in Bid for Votes

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP) — Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor, centered in highly industrialized Buffalo today the windup of an upstate campaign pledged anew to "every human endeavor" toward winning the war.

Completing his sixth and final upstate swing, the former Manhattan district attorney undertook a day-long tour of the city to be climaxed by a major campaign speech tonight. He will entrain immediately thereafter for New York city, where his remaining effort to break a 20-year Democratic rule of state government will be concentrated.

Dewey came here directly from Binghamton where last night he told an enthusiastic audience of several hundred that New York demands its "rightful place" in the war effort—"the place of the Empire State."

"New York is one-tenth of the nation," Dewey said, "It pays one-fifth of the cost of this war. But we are not complaining about that.

"We want to do more than we have been permitted to do. We want to do everything that human endeavor can to accomplish the one need of the hour, the crushing of the forces of our enemies."

Asserting the people "want action, not reaction," he declared they will get it by electing next Tuesday "a forward-looking Republican administration."

All Democratic candidates, Dewey said, "are very enthusiastic about yesterday" but "not one of them has shown even the glimmering of an idea about tomorrow.

"The only thing the Democrats look forward to is the family fight they are going to have in 1944," he continued. "That is the real objective to which arey are asking

'I Got a Raise' Cry Ends

Economic Regulations Make Weekly Pay Check Same, With Few Exceptions; Wages Are Frozen

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—That joyous cry, "I just got a raise," probably will be heard much less frequently during the wartime emergency due to new federal regulation of all wage and salary increases.

Under rules announced yesterday the captains of industry and the lowliest wage earners both become subject to pay control—and even salary or wage decreases must be justified in certain cases.

In cases where salaries were less than $5,000 a year on October 3, no decrease may be made by the employer below the highest salary paid between January 1, 1942 and September 15, 1942, "unless to correct gross inequities or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war," except with government approval. In cases where salaries exceeded $5,000 a year on October 3 any cut must be justified to the government if it reduces the level below $5,000.

The regulations issued by Economic Director James F. Byrnes and approved by President Roosevelt generally limit public and private salaries, except those fixed by statute to a top net of $25,000 a year with no changes to be made in general pay and wage schedules up to that amount except for such things as increased production, individual merit raises within established salary rate ranges, and individual promotions.

The Treasury and War Labor Board will enforce the rules.

The purpose was to discourage wartime inflation and at the same time increase federal tax revenues by causing corporations to retain amounts formerly paid out in high salaries. The corporations thus would be required to pay taxes levied at a higher rate than on individual earned income.

The $25,000 salary limitation is not effective until January 1, although increases are prohibited meantime.

The President, whose $75,000 salary is the only statutory federal increment exceeding $25,000, has asked the treasury, Byrnes said, that his pay be limited within the regulations. Whether he would have to turn back a portion of his salary depended on the amount of his deduction allowances.

Allowing for tax deductions and other allowances, treasury officials estimated that a person would

Fast Passenger Train Slices Detroit City Bus; Many of Dead Are School Children

Tower Operator Describes How He Tried to Make Bus Driver Realize Train Was Roaring Down Upon Railroad Crossing

Detroit, Oct. 28 (AP).—Sixteen persons, including several school pupils, were killed this morning as a passenger train sliced through a crowded Detroit street railways motorbus.

At least 26 persons were injured sufficiently to require hospital treatment.

Bodies were strewn along the tracks for two blocks, and some were mangled against the front of the locomotive as the train, a Grand Trunk Western passenger train arriving from Chicago, pulled to a stop a quarter mile past the crossing.

The bus, driven by William F. Clos of Detroit, had stopped at the Caniff avenue crossing while a northbound freight train passed.

Eye-witnesses said that electric flasher signals were operating, but that after the freight passed, the bus started across the tracks into the path of the southbound passenger train.

The front end of the bus cleared the tracks, but the locomotive smashed through the vehicle at its middle doors, cutting it in half. Most of the dead were passengers in the rear end of the bus.

Schoolbooks of the younger passengers on the bus were scattered along the right-of-way. Many of the bodies, some decapitated and others with limbs severed, were impossible to identify immediately.

The front end of the bus, hurled aside as the tran struck it, was left on its side close to the intersection. The rear end was smashed to fragments and scattered.

Fred A. Nolan, general manager of the municipally owned Detroit Transportation System, said it was the worst accident in Detroit street railways history.

Operator Yells at Driver

Joseph Levinski, operator in a tower at the southeast corner of the intersection, told how he watched the bus start up after the freight passed.

"The red flasher lights were still working," he said. "The passenger train was coming fast, southbound, with the engine whistle screaming. I saw this bus start up. I knew it would do no good, but I leaned out of the tower and yelled. I yelled my head off! The bus went right in the path of the train, and there was an awful

Canterbury Fears Anglo-U. S. Amity Might Be Cooled

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

London, Oct. 28 — The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. William Temple, tells me he believes Anglo-American friendship is one of the first needs in rebuilding the post-war world and he is concerned over a report he has received that the United States may draw away from this country because of Britain's trend to the "left."

When the archbishop speaks of the "left" he is not using the expression in the political sense but in its broad socialistic meaning. He has in mind England's social upheaval which is heading toward equal opportunity for all with special privileges for none.

His grace asked if there was danger of amity and cooperation between the two countries being harmed by this tendency.

I assured him that my observation led me to believe that the United States was surging forward with the times and that we should keep step with England in any humanitarian developments.

The archbishop has a very special interest in this "leftist" movement in Britain because, forsooth, he himself is a vital part in it. In Dr. Temple we have a curious break in generations of conservatism which have occupied the primate's throne.

He not only has been named a member of the Labor party but for years has urged the rank and file toward a goal of partnership in industries in which they serve and has called for limitation of the profits of capital.

He has done this while vested interests have roared "leftist" and "radical," but this most outspoken liberal of all the long line of England's primates never has given a tinker's dam for harsh names.

He has kept on preaching his socialistic brand of practical Christianity both through his brilliant tongue and his equally brilliant writings.

Finally, last February, despite the sensational manner in which he had been standing diehards on their heads, he was called at the age of 60 from the archbishopric of York to his present high position

Steel Is Allocated For Eastern Line

Petroleum Emergency Has Less Critical Outlook With W.P.B. Grant

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—Some easement for the eastern petroleum emergency apparently was assured for the future today, as an official of the Petroleum Coordination Office said the War Production Board had allocated the necessary steel for completion of the world's largest oil pipeline system from Texas to the Philadelphia-New York area.

The 850-mile line extension, from Norris City, Ill., to the Philadelphia-New York area, would cost approximately $60,000,000, said the spokesman, who declined to be quoted, and would be completed next spring or summer.

The 530-mile first link of the huge war product, from Texas to Norris City, is expected to be completed in December, and will move 300,000 barrels of petroleum daily for transshipment by rail, barge and truck on to the eastern shortage area.

Construction of the eastward extension would establish a direct pipeline delivery of the 300,000 barrels daily to the Bayonne, N. J., refining area, the O. P. C. official said.

W. P. B. was reported to have granted priorities on 224,000 tons of steel for the extension.

The pipeline is being built for the government by War Emergency Pipeline, Inc., a peroleum industry organization. It will extend approximately 1,380 miles, and the total cost of both links was expected to approach $95,000,000.

The O. P. C. official said the entire 1,380 miles will be traversed by a 24-inch conduit, or else a 24-inch line will run to Phoenixville, Pa., with a 20-inch pipe continuing to the New York-Philadelphia area.

The spokesman could not give the definite route the line would follow from Norris City, Ill., to the eastern terminus.

Three Steps Necessary to Obtaining Fuel Oil Ration Given by Local Board

Three steps which every consumer of fuel oil should take immediately to assure receipt of a fuel oil ration book were outlined today by John M. Cashin, chairman of the Kingston City War Price and Rationing Board.

The steps, according to instructions received from Lee S. Buckingham, New York State Director of the Office of Price Administration, are:

"If you did not take an inventory on October 1 of the fuel oil in the storage tank in your home, do it now. This information will be required on a fuel oil ration application from which must be filled out and mailed to your Local Board.

"If you have in the past obtained fuel oil from a regular dealer, he will probably mail to you very soon your fuel oil ration application and a certificate showing your fuel oil purchases from him for the 12-month period ending May 31, 1942.

"Measure the floor area of each room in your home which is used for living or sleeping purposes. Do not include basement, laundries, sleeping porches, sun porches, garage space, recreation rooms, work shops, attics and any other space for which heating is not essential. Floor area figures will be required on your fuel oil ration application.

"All dealers who have not registered should do so at once."

U. S. Fighter Pilots Bag Seven of 18 Axis Planes Shot Down Over Egypt

Jap Losses Cited

U. S. Navy Says Japs Lose 70 Vessels to 20 for Americans

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated PPress War Editor)

Britain's desert armies were reported to have knifed through Axis forward defenses in the battle of Egypt today, while the Russians turned the tables on German forces in the western Caucasus and American troops held firmly in the Solomon Islands.

U. S. fighter pilots bagged seven of the 18 Axis planes shot down over the Egyptian battlefront yesterday, making their best score since the start of the new Allied offensive.

Latest reports from the South Seas battle zone said the conflict was developing at a furious pace, with the results not yet clear.

In Washington, the Navy announced a scoresheet of 70 Japanese warships and transports sunk or damaged in the Solomons campaign against approximately 20 American ships lost or hit.

These included 12 Japanese vessels definitely sunk, three probably sunk and 55 damaged; compared with 14 U. S. ships sunk, three warships and "several other" unidentified types damaged.

The Tokyo radio continued to broadcast wildly extravagant claims of victory but quoted Japanese naval quarters as warning that "the battle is still in progress and the final results therefore cannot be foreseen."

Tokyo naval commentators added:

"It can be said that this is one of the greatest naval battles since the outbreak of the war."

Meanwhile, American sources in London said the U. S. Navy was greatly outnumbered by the Japanese in the southwest Pacific but that the numbers would be equalized before long.

On the whole, the day's news indicated a noticeable improvement for the Allies in the three key theatres of action.

These were the highlights:

Egypt—British headquarters reported that Lieut.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery's British 8th Army made "further progress" in its five-day-old offensive to break through Axis defenses on the El Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

The British war bulletin said tank battles developed on a larger scale yesterday and that "after heavy fighting the enemy was driven off with considerable loss."

British tank losses were described as "light."

A Reuters dispatch said British troops had "advanced beyond a number of enemy strong points" and were "busy mopping up others."

Overhead, American, British and other Allied warplanes thundered incessantly into the attack against Axis planes and troops, and latest reports said the Allies continued to dominate the skies. U. S. Army fliers were using American bombs for the first time to pound Axis concentrations behind the lines.

"The enemy was mainly on the defensive," British G. H. Q. announced, "but late in the evening they attempted a Stuka (dive bomber) attack on our forward troops.

"This raid was successfully intercepted by our fighters, who dispersed the attack, destroying 13 enemy aircraft."

'Without Abatement'

The British command said the new offensive was being pressed "without abatement" as Allied infantry punched away at Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's strong points between the Mediterranean Sea and the Qattara Depression.

D.N.B., the German news agency, said British tanks were already attacking in waves on the northern flank—indicating that Allied sappers had cleared a path through the maze of Axis minefields—but asserted they had failed to achieve any noteworthy success.

An Italian communique reported that attacks and counterattacks were developing continuously on the northern sector of the 35-mile desert front and asserted that "an important position which was bitterly contested remained

Dougherty Tells F. B. I. Workings To Service Clubs

"Cooperation," which he said was the keynote to success in any undertaking, was taken as the theme for an interesting and informative talk at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday noon on the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The speaker was Vincent G. Dougherty, special agent for the New York city territory of the F.B.I. and he spoke to members of the three service clubs, the Lions club being host to Rotary and Kiwanis.

Ernest DuBois, president of Lions, presided and Walter Donnaruma, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Singing was led by Roger Baer, with Bob Steuding at the piano.

Discussing cooperation as an important factor in the success of the work of the B.C.I., Mr. Dougherty said that there was fine cooperation between the men in the field and those in the offices and the criminal laboratory; between the F.B.I. and the various police departments and the county law officers headed by the sheriff; also between the federal agency and the various defense plants.

An example of the great help given by the criminal laboratory was in the case of sabotage on a ship in the harbor at Seattle, Wash., when sand was found in the engine. Agents questioned the men on the ship and eliminated all but three. Finger-nail scrapings were taken from these three men and analyzed at the laboratory. Those from one man tallied with sand found in the engine and in some barrels on shore. When they came to look for the man he had cleared out, but finally he was located in New York city, confessed, was tried and convicted.

Speaking of cooperation with other enforcement officers, Mr. Dougherty said that before Pearl Harbor, with the cooperation of sheriffs and police chiefs very complete information was secured and filed regarding people all over the country who might be regarded as suspicious. By reason of this advance work the F.B.I. was able a few hours after Pearl Harbor to go out and pick up these men. Personally, he said, I consider that about the greatest single stroke of police activity in this country.

Speaking of their work in defense plants, some stories were told of unsafe conditions found as a result of surveys made in 1939.

In one case a six-foot wire fence enclosed a plant area of a square mile or so—but keys to the padlocked gates were given to school children of families whose members worked in the plant.

Another instance was that where workers went into a room to smoke near where barrels of thermite were standing. Match scrapings were found on the barrels containing the thermite.

Then, there was the plant where very valuable blueprints were stored overnight in a vault. The vault had a very imposing front, with time-locks, etc., but at the back was a beaverboard wall.

Answering the oft repeated assertion that there are many spies and the question, "Why not arrest them?" Mr. Dougherty said that the procedure was to locate and identify the spy, then watch him and observe his contacts, nabbing the whole lot when the time is ripe.

Reference was made to such a case in Brooklyn when more than 30 persons were arrested and convicted, not one of them getting less than 15 years. These people were picked up just before July 4, 1941, after being under surveillance for over a year and a half. Not one of the agents who "tailed" these people was recognized by them, it was stated.

Mr. Dougherty praised very highly the cooperation that had been given by all local law enforcement agencies since they were called upon in December, 1939, but asked for more than that today. He asked that every individual do his part and pass on to the proper authority "anything that impresses you as being un-American."

You may not know the importance of something you have observed, said Mr. Dougherty, but it may be the needed link in some case.

Emphasis was laid on the request that the individual not start investigating suspicious people or circumstances himself. "You may upset a lot of apple-carts by such action," said the speaker.

It was said that Louis Hurley was the resident F.B.I. man in this section and anyone having information which they believed should be passed on was asked to get in touch with him.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Oct. 27 — On Thursday evening, October 29, a joint get-together will be held by the Marlborough Boy and Girl Scouts, in the auditorium of the Central School. This will be a farewell to Alfred Syllie, who has resigned as Cub master and will leave here soon.

Both the boys and girls will present skits and contests will be staged. Arther Gow will be presented with the first class badge. Following the program, refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Miss Lillian Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Dawes of Marlborough, a student at Dubuque University, Iowa, was a member of the university cast which presented a play last week.

This week is known as Girl Scout Week, and members of Troop 6 of the scouts are engaged in gathering magazines, which will be bundled and sent to soldiers.

On Election Day, the Catholic Daughters of America will hold a food sale in the vacant store at the corner of King and Western avenues, with Mrs. Miles Doyle in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sears of North road on Tuesday evening celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary at a family party held in their home. Mr. and Mrs. Sears were given a radio by their children. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter McElrath, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith of Marlborough, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nash of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. David Tiker of Newburgh and Mrs. Charles Freligh of Saugerties. The Misses Mary and Miriam Sears, who are in Buffalo, were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cutrone received a cablegram from their son, Corp. Jack Cutrone, that he had arrived safely overseas. Corp. Cutrone was inducted into the Army in February, 1941. Word has been received in Marlborough that Robert L. Schoonmaker, of Grahamsville, a former local boy, who was inducted into the Army in July, passed tests for Army Air Force Technical Corps, at Camp Upton. He received his basic training at Technical School, replacement training center, Miami Beach, Fla. At present he is stationed at the Air Corps technical school, Gulfport Field, Miss.

Pupils of the Marlborough Central High School, enjoyed the program presented on Wednesday by Miss Gitta Serny, a young Hungarian girl.

Joseph Casscles of Marlborough has been appointed by the New York state conservation department as game warden for this area. Mr. Casscles began his new duties last week.

Joseph Swartz is better now, after being ill at his home with blood poisoning.

Joseph and George Alfano of New York spent the week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alfano.

Charles Lester, local plumber, has taken a position in West Point and for the present discontinues his plumbing business in town.

Mrs. Mary Hannigan and Mrs. James Hannigan were guests on Thursday of Mrs. Margaret Dorhman in Highland.

Miss Anna Carafano has returned to her home from St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nickerson of New Paltz spent Sunday with Mrs. Nickerson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Masten.

Mrs. Bertha Gurnett of Poughkeepsie spent a day in town with her sisters, Mrs. Frank Johnston and Mrs. Doyle Hutchins.

Miss Catherine Casey has taken a position with the Edward Cumiskey store on Main street.

Mrs. Mae Crowser and children and Mrs. Mae Atkins are spending a few days in Pequannock, N. J., with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Partington and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor of Poughkeepsie were guests of Mrs. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hines, of West street, on Sunday.

Missing New York Boy Is Given Ride by Wood to Ulster Park

Prompt action on the part of the sheriff's office and the keen observations of former Chief of Police J. Allan Wood of this city have re-united a mother and son. Monday it was reported that Mrs. Kiely Dempsey of 301 East 92nd street, had not seen her son, Jay Kiely, since September 11, when he left home. She told the sheriff's office that she believed the boy, 16 years old, was in this locality.

That information with a description of the lad was published Monday night in The Freeman. Yesterday shortly after 10 o'clock Chief Wood reported to Under Sheriff Stanley Winne that he had seen the notice in the press and recalled that he had picked up a lad several days ago who answered the description. The lad told him at the time he was from New York and was working nights as water boy at the Stewart Airport and during the day was engaged as an apple packer and that he boarded in Kingston. Chief Wood said he had taken the lad as far as Ulster Park.

This morning Deputy Sheriff Keates Young went to the packing house of Leslie Herring at Ulster Park and there located the lad, who admitted his identity and said that he had left home to secure work. Later he told Sheriff Anderson that he would like to keep the job and that he had not told his mother where he was located but that he had sent her money since he was working. Sheriff Anderson got in touch with the boy's mother and she stated she would come to Kingston by bus to see him. Meanwhile he was fed and taken care of by the sheriff's staff to whom he said he would like to remain on the job here. He admitted that he had been negligent in not notifying his mother of his address and expressed regret that he had caused worry.

Penalty Date Extended

Chester A. Lyons, county treasurer, announces that as November 1 falls on Sunday, he will accept taxes without penalty on Monday, November 2, and those who pay by that date will also avoid the added penalty of advertising in the papers for the tax sale to be held in December. There are many unpaid taxes still to come in and the county treasurer is anxious to have everyone avoid these extra charges if possible.

Hollywood Is Ready to Get Along on Mere $25,000 Per

By JAMES S. LINDSLEY

Hollywood, Oct. 28 (AP)—The consensus here seems to be that Hollywood, where $1,000 a week is practically penury and the mendicants are reputed to hold out platinum cups while they sell gold lead pencils, will manage to struggle along on the $25,000 annual salary top which the government will invoke January 1.

There's no doubt that the restriction will cause no end of racking among the finest brains in the film studios, which often feature contracts running heavily to options at so much increase, bonus clauses, renewal provisions and what not. These will probably require a lot of untangling.

But there was no evidence of undue worry among the boys and girls drawing down the corpulent pay checks, and there are probably a number of reasons for this.

To begin with there are the income taxes. The way they understand it here, the $25,000 will be net income, after Uncle Sam takes his bite, and Uncle Sam takes an awful mouthful out of those top-heavy salaries, as is well known. Furthermore, there are charitable contributions, and payments on life insurance policies and other fixed obligations. Additional payments of salary may be made to take care of these, providing the salary-earner has no other income with which to discharge the obligations.

There is many a high-paid actor—not in the top brackets, perhaps, but highly paid—who would count himself lucky to wind up each year with $25,000 he could actually spend after paying his taxes, and taking care of his charities and other more or less fixed expenses.

And there is another angle. Some of Hollywood's very highest priced stars, and many a director and producer as well, are now in the armed forces, off the studio payrolls and drawing from the government monthly a sum they might toss off in an hour or so in a night club.

Such names as Clark Gable, Henry Fonda, Tyrone Power, Cesar Romero, Rudy Vallee, Robert Montgomery and young Douglas Fairbanks come to mind. Gable, for instance, was paid $357,000 for his movie work last year. Montgomery got $211,416, and Ty Power's checks in 1940 added up $169,009. The list of film colony enlistees is constantly growing, and naturally the newcomers taking their places aren't going to get the bloated salaries of the established stars.

Most of the studio folk have been trimming their sails lately, anyway. Many of them have given up their estates for the duration, and taken unpretentious apartments nearer their studios to save gasoline and tires.

One well known actor and his wife even moved in from their country place because a servant said she must live nearer a bus or street-car line.

Farm Hand Given 30 Days

Ernest Butler, 41-year-old negro farm hand, was brought to the county jail Tuesday by Deputy Charles Matarazo to serve a 30-day jail sentence imposed by Justice of the Peace P. H. Lyon of Marlborough. Butler, who said his home was in New York, was accused of disorderly conduct in the village.

Five Principal Changes in New Corporation Tax

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Oct. 28—There are five principal changes affecting corporations in the new tax law.

They increase the surtaxes, slap on a 90 per cent excess profits levy, place an over-all limit on taxation, provide some relief in the form of post-war rebate and current debt reduction credit, and put all corporations on a calendar year tax basis for the future.

Let's take them up one by one:

1. Normal and surtaxes.

The normal tax rate is unchanged: For corporations with normal tax net income of not more than $25,000, the rates are 15 per cent on the first $5,000; 17 per cent on the next bracket up to $20,000; 19 per cent on the $20,000-$25,000 bracket. For corporations whose normal tax net income is over $25,000, the rate is a flat 24 per cent.

The surtax rates have been boosted. For corporations whose surtax net income is not more than $25,000, the new rate is 10 per cent. For corporations whose surtax net income is over $25,000, the new rate is 16 per cent, applicable to the whole amount.

Thus the total of corporate income tax at full rates will be 40 per cent, compared with the present 31 per cent.

(Note: Corporate net income for tax purposes is decreased by the amount of an excess-profits net income, which is subject only to excess profits taxes.)

Corporations with affiliated companies may file consolidated returns on their regular as well as excess profits taxes if they pay an extra two per cent in corporate income surtax.

2. Excess profits tax.

A flat 90 per cent is levied on the adjusted excess-profits net income—that is, the excess-profits net income less the excess-profits credit and a specific exemption of $5,000.

In determining the excess-profits credit by the income method, the figure of 95 per cent of average earnings in the base period (1936-39) is retained. However, in case of a deficit year or years in the base period, the law provides for increasing the base by using for one such year an amount equal to 75 per cent of the average of the other years.

For corporations using the invested-capital method of determining the credit, there are two changes in rates, for the first $5,000,000 of invested capital, the rate of eight per cent is retained; for the next $5,000,000, the rate of seven per cent is continued. For the amount from $10,000,000 to $200,000,000, the new rate is six per cent (instead of seven), and over $200,000,000, the new rate is five per cent (instead of seven).

3. Over-all limit: A limitation on the total effective rate of income and excess profits taxes assessed against any corporation is placed at 80 per cent of corporation surtax net income (computed without any excess-profits credit).

4. Relief provisions.

A post-war credit in the amount of 10 per cent of the excess profits tax will take the form of non-negotiable, non-interest-bearing bonds to be issued to the corporation by the Treasury, to be paid off after the war.

Up to the same amount, a corporation may take a credit against excess profits taxes to the extent of 40 per cent of the money it pays out during the taxable year in retirement of debt. But this credit reduces the post-war credit by its amount.

5. The calendar-year basis.

All corporations are placed on a calendar-year tax basis in the future. For 1942, there are two provisions: A corporation with a fiscal year which ended on or before June 30, 1942, will pay under the rates of the old law; a corporation having a fiscal year ending later than June 30 in this year will have to make two computations and pay proportionately.

6. Notes:

The dividing line between short- and long-term capital gains and losses is fixed at six months (formerly eight months).

The capital stock tax and declared-value-excess-profits tax are retained.

Taxpayers are permitted to charge off losses on property seized by the enemy.

The children of School District No. 7, Zena, bring out the scrap and if they cannot carry it themselves, there are many willing to cart it for them. Under the direction of Miss Florence Hill, their teacher, the October drive resulted in the above accumulation.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Fast Ride

New York—Kenneth Porter, 9, was locked out when he got home from school.

He went to the roof of his apartment house, climbed into the dumbwaiter and prepared to lower away, but his strength was no match for the contraption.

He and it zoomed downward.

Kenneth grabbed at a sill and hung on until his cries attracted neighbors who called police for the rescue.

He wasn't hurt.

Family Party

Gallup, N. M.—Polly Ryan volunteered for the W.A.A.C.S. while her brother, R. M., Jr., took his preliminary examinations as an aviation cadet.

If both pass their tests, they will be sworn in together at a public ceremony.

Youthful Warrior

Los Angeles—Garry H. Dean heard he would need a birth certificate to join the navy. So he got one, and showed up with it at recruiting headquarters.

It proved he was born all right—in Los Angeles 11 years ago.

Sleep Saver

Orrick, Mo.—A mouse trap gives Joe Albertson, owner of a small coal mine near, another hour's sleep each morning.

A string runs from an alarm clock to the mouse trap. When the alarm goes off, the vibration of the string springs the trap.

The trap throws a switch that starts an electric pump.

By the time Albertson and his helpers arrive, all the water which has seeped in overnight has been pumped out of the mine—and they can start work immediately.

Mystery Singer

Philadelphia—A tall blonde entered the stage door canteen and introduced herself as "Mrs. Helen Bass, a singer."

She sang for 20 minutes and the servicemen shouted an ovation.

"Wow!" a corporal exulted. "That dame oughtta be in the movies."

After she'd left a committeewoman explained that Mrs. Helen Bass in public life is Helen Traubel, famous Metropolitan Opera soprano.

Saboteuring Santas

Wichita, Kas.—Santa Claus can wear his mask in a department store, but if he steps into the street, he will break the law.

The city council has passed an anti-mask ordinance, but Santa Clauses who remain on private property won't be affected.

Police Chief Thomas Jaycox asked for the law, primarily to hamper Halloweeners. He says criminals and saboteurs could lurk unprotected behind the masks.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, October 27—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Civill of Coeymans are parents of a son born at the Albany Hospital on October 19. Mrs. Civill is the former Evelyn Roosa of Stone Ridge.

Miss Anna Mae Conners of Poughkeepsie spent the week-end with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sickler.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sahler spent the week-end at Fonda where they visited the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Hunt and son, Teddy, Elmer Hunt and Jesse Hunt were guests Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Nettie Lockwood and Mrs. Claire Lockwood. Mrs. William Hicks of Washington also visited the Lockwood home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hasbrouck spent Sunday with Mrs. Hasbrouck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark of Tillson.

Miss Phyllis Muller is convalescing at her home from a recent illness.

The date for opening the Girl Scout House has been postponed and will be announced later. On Saturday afternoon the Girl Scouts visited Mrs. Sadie Snyder, who gave an interesting talk, and visited the estate of Dr. John Hasbrouck where the scouts became acquainted with imported ornamental trees.

A Halloween party will be held at the Methodist Sunday school room on Friday evening, October 30. All are requested to come in costume. The party starts at 7:30 and the grand march will begin at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

A spaghetti supper will be served at the Grange Hall on Election evening, Tuesday, November 3. Servings will begin at 6:30 and continue until all are served.

A chicken supper will be served on Thursday, November 5, at the Methodist Church. Servings will begin at 6 o'clock.

Dougherty Tells F. B. I. Workings To Service Clubs

"Cooperation," which he said was the keynote to success in any undertaking, was taken as the theme for an interesting and informative talk at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday noon on the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The speaker was Vincent C. Dougherty, special agent for the New York city territory of the F.B.I. and he spoke to members of the three service clubs, the Lions club being host to Rotary and Kiwanis.

Ernest DuBois, president of Lions, presided and Walter Donnaruma, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Singing was led by Roger Baer, with Bob Steuding at the piano.

Discussing cooperation as an important factor in the success of the work of the B.C.I., Mr. Dougherty said that there was fine cooperation between the men in the field and those in the offices and the criminal laboratory; between the F.B.I. and the various police departments and the county law officers headed by the sheriff; also between the federal agency and the various defense plants.

An example of the great help given by the criminal laboratory was in the case of sabotage on a ship in the harbor at Seattle, Wash., when sand was found in the engine. Agents questioned the men on the ship and eliminated all but three. Finger-nail scrapings were taken from these three men and analyzed at the laboratory. Those from one man tallied with sand found in the engine and in some barrels on shore. When they came to look for the man he had cleared out, but finally he was located in New York city, confessed, was tried and convicted.

Speaking of cooperation with other enforcement officers, Mr. Dougherty said that before Pearl Harbor, with the cooperation of sheriffs and police chiefs very complete information was secured and filed regarding people all over the country who might be regarded as suspicious. By reason of this advance work the F.B.I. was able a few hours after Pearl Harbor to go out and pick up these men. Personally, he said, I consider that about the greatest single stroke of police activity in this country.

Speaking of their work in defense plants, some stories were told of unsafe conditions found as a result of surveys made in 1939.

In one case a six-foot wire fence enclosed a plant area of a square mile or so—but keys to the padlocked gates were given to school children of families whose members worked in the plant.

Another instance was that where workers went into a room to smoke near where barrels of thermite were standing. Match scrapings were found on the barrels containing the thermite.

Then, there was the plant where very valuable blueprints were stored overnight in a vault. The vault had a very imposing front, with time-locks, etc., but at the back was a beaverboard wall.

Answering the oft repeated assertion that there are many spies and the question, "Why not arrest them?" Mr. Dougherty said that the procedure was to locate and identify the spy, then watch him and observe his contacts, nabbing the whole lot when the time is ripe.

Reference was made to such a case in Brooklyn when more than 30 persons were arrested and convicted, not one of them getting less than 15 years. These people were picked up just before July 4, 1941, after being under surveillance for over a year and a half. Not one of the agents who "tailed" these people was recognized by them, it was stated.

Mr. Dougherty praised very highly the cooperation that had been given by all local law enforcement agencies since they were called upon in December, 1939, but asked for more than that today. He asked that every individual do his part and pass on to the proper authority "anything that impresses you as being un-American."

You may not know the importance of something you have observed, said Mr. Dougherty, but it may be the needed link in some case.

Emphasis was laid on the request that the individual not start investigating suspicious people or circumstances himself. "You may upset a lot of apple-carts by such action," said the speaker.

It was said that Louis Hurley was the resident F.B.I. man in this section and anyone having information which they believed should be passed on was asked to get in touch with him.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Oct. 27 — On Thursday evening, October 29, a joint get-together will be held by the Marlborough Boy and Girl Scouts, in the auditorium of the Central School. This will be a farewell to Alfred Syllie, who has resigned as Cub master and will leave here soon.

Both the boys and girls will present skits and contests will be staged. Arther Gow will be presented with the first class badge. Following the program, refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Miss Lillian Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Dawes of Marlborough, a student at Dubuque University, Iowa, was a member of the university cast which presented a play last week.

This week is known as Girl Scout Week, and members of Troop 6 of the scouts are engaged in gathering magazines, which will be bundled and sent to soldiers.

On Election Day, the Catholic Daughters of America will hold a food sale in the vacant store at the corner of King and Western avenues, with Mrs. Miles Doyle in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sears of North road on Tuesday evening celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary at a family party held in their home. Mr. and Mrs. Sears were given a radio by their children. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter McElrath, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith of Marlborough, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nash of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. David Tiker of Newburgh and Mrs. Charles Freligh of Saugerties. The Misses Mary and Miriam Sears, who are in Buffalo, were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cutrone received a cablegram from their son, Corp. Jack Cutrone, that he had arrived safely overseas. Corp. Cutrone was inducted into the Army in February, 1941. Word has been received in Marlborough that Robert L. Schoonmaker, of Grahamsville, a former local boy, who was inducted into the Army in July, passed tests for Army Air Force Technical Corps, at Camp Upton. He received his basic training at Technical School, replacement training center, Miami Beach, Fla. At present he is stationed at the Air Corps technical school, Gulfport Field, Miss.

Pupils of the Marlborough Central High School, enjoyed the program presented on Wednesday by Miss Gitta Serny, a young Hungarian girl.

Joseph Cassceles of Marlborough has been appointed by the New York state conservation department as game warden for this area. Mr. Cassceles began his new duties last week.

Joseph Swartz is better now, after being ill at his home with blood poisoning.

Joseph and George Alfano of New York spent the week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alfano.

Charles Lester, local plumber, has taken a position in West Point and for the present discontinues his plumbing business in town.

Mrs. Mary Hannigan and Mrs. James Hannigan were guests on Thursday of Mrs. Margaret Dorlman in Highland.

Miss Anna Carafano has returned to her home from St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nickerson of New Paltz spent Sunday with Mrs. Nickerson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Masten.

Mrs. Bertha Gurnell of Poughkeepsie spent a day in town with her sisters, Mrs. Frank Johnston and Mrs. Doyle Hutchins.

Miss Catherine Casey has taken a position with the Edward Cumiskey store on Main street.

Mrs. Mae Crowser and children and Mrs. Mae Atkins are spending a few days in Pequannock, N. J., with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Partington and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor of Poughkeepsie were guests of Mrs. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hines, of West street, on Sunday.

Missing New York Boy Is Given Ride by Wood to Ulster Park

Prompt action on the part of the sheriff's office and the keen observations of former Chief of Police J. Allan Wood of this city have re-united a mother and son. Monday it was reported that Mrs. Kiely Dempsey of 301 East 92nd street, had not seen her son, Jay Kiely, since September 11, when he left home. She told the sheriff's office that she believed the boy, 16 years old, was in this locality.

That information with a description of the lad was published Monday night in The Freeman. Yesterday shortly after 10 o'clock Chief Wood reported to Under Sheriff Stanley Winne that he had seen the notice in the press and recalled that he had picked up a lad several days ago who answered the description. The lad told him at the time he was from New York and was working nights as water boy at the Stewart Airport and during the day was engaged as an apple packer and that he boarded in Kingston. Chief Wood said he had taken the lad as far as Ulster Park.

This morning Deputy Sheriff Keates Young went to the packing house of Leslie Herring at Ulster Park and there located the lad, who admitted his identity and said that he had left home to secure work. Later he told Sheriff Anderson that he would like to keep the job and that he had not told his mother where he was located but that he had sent her money since he was working. Sheriff Anderson got in touch with the boy's mother and she stated she would come to Kingston by bus to see him. Meanwhile he was fed and taken care of by the sheriff's staff to whom he said he would like to remain on the job here. He admitted that he had been negligent in not notifying his mother of his address and expressed regret that he had caused worry.

Penalty Date Extended

Chester A. Lyons, county treasurer, announces that as November 1 falls on Sunday, he will accept taxes without penalty on Monday, November 2, and those who pay by that date will also avoid the added penalty of advertising in the papers for the tax sale to be held in December. There are many unpaid taxes still to come in and the county treasurer is anxious to have everyone avoid these extra charges if possible.

Hollywood Is Ready to Get Along on Mere $25,000 Per

By JAMES S. LINDSLEY

Hollywood, Oct. 28 (UP)—The consensus here seems to be that Hollywood, where $1,000 a week is practically penury and the mendicants are reputed to hold out platinum cups while they sell gold lead pencils, will manage to struggle along on the $25,000 annual salary top which the government will invoke January 1.

There's no doubt that the restriction will cause no end of racking among the finest brains in the film studios, which often feature contracts running heavily to options at so much increase, bonus clauses, renewal provisions and what not. These will probably require a lot of untangling.

But there was no evidence of undue worry among the boys and girls drawing down the corpulent pay checks, and there are probably a number of reasons for this.

To begin with there are the income taxes. The way they understand it here, the $25,000 will be net income, after Uncle Sam takes his bite, and Uncle Sam takes an awful mouthful out of those top-heavy salaries, as is well known. Furthermore, there are charitable contributions, and payments on life insurance policies and other fixed obligations. Additional payments of salary may be made to take care of these, providing the salary-earner has no other income with which to discharge the obligations.

There is many a high-paid actor—not in the top brackets, perhaps, but highly paid—who would count himself lucky to wind up each year with $25,000 he could actually spend after paying his taxes, and taking care of his charities and other more or less fixed expenses.

And there is another angle. Some of Hollywood's very highest priced stars, and many a director and producer as well, are now in the armed forces, off the studio payrolls and drawing from the government monthly a sum they might toss off in an hour or so in a night club.

Such names as Clark Gable, Henry Fonda, Tyrone Power, Cesar Romero, Rudy Vallee, Robert Montgomery and young Douglas Fairbanks come to mind. Gable, for instance, was paid $357,000 for his movie work last year. Montgomery got $211,416, and Ty Power's checks in 1940 added up $169,009. The list of film colony enlistees is constantly growing, and naturally the newcomers taking their places aren't going to get the bloated salaries of the established stars.

Most of the studio folk have been trimming their sails lately, anyway. Many of them have given up their estates for the duration, and taken unpretentious apartments nearer their studios to save gasoline and tires.

One well known actor and his wife even moved in from their country place because a servant said she must live nearer a bus or street-car line.

Farm Hand Given 30 Days

Ernest Butler, 41-year-old negro farm hand, was brought to the county jail Tuesday by Deputy Charles Matarazo to serve a 30-day jail sentence imposed by Justice of the Peace P. H. Lyon of Marlborough. Butler, who said his home was in New York, was accused of disorderly conduct in the village.

NO SOMME FOR STALINGRAD

The fight for Stalingrad has often been compared to the last war's struggle for Verdun. Both were stoutly defended. The retention or capture of both became a symbol, beyond the mere strategic importance of the place, of victory or defeat.

Verdun was saved, and that in itself is a good omen for Stalingrad. What saved Verdun, however, was the great British attack on the Somme. Launched on July 1, 1916, it made such gains as to force the Germans to draw off from Verdun vitally needed men and guns. Eventually the Somme became a bloody slaughter for British and Germans alike, but it achieved its purpose—that of diverting the German attack on Verdun.

Stalingrad has had no relieving battle like the Somme. The Russian attempts to provide one by their attacks in the Rhzev sector may or may not succeed. But they recognize the principle that unless the Nazi striking force can be split between two areas, the one on which the Germans concentrate is only too likely to be captured.

POLITICS ARE IMPORTANT

Speakers at political rallies this fall are saying that there is too much apathy shown in politics this year, and that the average man and woman is thinking more about the war than the candidates to be elected in the important state election on November 3.

The fact that registration is lower than it has been in the past two years, however, is no indication that the public is apathetic.

A great many men are now in the active service of the country and in large measure accounts for the decline in registration.

Never before in the history of the country was it more important that the voters elect the men who are best capable of carrying on the duties for which they will be selected. This fall the Republican party in Ulster county has named one of the strongest tickets in its long and honorable history.

The Republican party has selected men who have shown that they are efficient and capable. Every candidate on the Republican ticket this fall from Thomas E. Dewey for governor down through the list has been selected because they were best qualified to serve.

Voters this fall, irrespective of party affiliations, will make no mistake in voting a straight Republican ticket.

A strong home front is as greatly needed as a powerful front on the battlefields of the world. Civilian affairs must be carried on with higher efficiency than ever before.

All indications point to the fact that this fall Ulster county will not only elect the Republican county ticket, but will give Dewey and the other candidates on the ticket the usual Republican majorities.

CONTINUOUS SCRAPPING

There has been some confusion in several quarters about the number of scrap drives that have been staged in the various communities, counties and states since the war started.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that these are not separate drives, but integral parts of a continuous program launched by the Conservation Division of the War Production Board. It is a program that will continue indefinitely—as long as the war lasts.

Scrapping is not a one-shot proposition. Everyone must be a scrapper every day. There is hardly a day that passes that some article of metal, rubber or cloth does not outlive its usefulness in your home. The time when this object could be pushed back out of sight in the cellar is no more. It must be saved and salvaged.

Use of the word drive may be ill-advised in connection with our national scrap salvage program, but it is a favorite American word that has been worked overtime and we probably will continue to use it to describe any concentrated effort we make to get a job done.

This land of plenty was the least salvage conscious of any nation in the world, and the various drives that have been held and will be held before this war is ended were and are necessary to awaken the nation to this vital phase of the war effort. It was the same in Great Britain in September, 1939. Every imaginable kind of salvage drive was inaugurated to collect idle materials. Now salvage is an everyday job that every British citizen does automatically. He has been taught to waste nothing. His salvage effort is continuous, just as ours must be until the Axis dictators no longer threaten our homes and our liberty.

FIRST AID

One of the good things that comes from the war is the interest in first aid. Everywhere, even in small villages, first aid classes are being formed and the members of the class learn the correct manner of handling the injured, and water, gas, and electricity accidents.

So widespread is the interest in first aid that our humorists and cartoonists are using it in their strips or columns. I have spoken before of one class in which the young man was treated for a "supposed" broken leg was allowed to fall off the table and really did break his leg. In putting him into the ambulance he was not pushed far enough forward and the door being forcibly closed struck his head and caused concussion. The humorous comment was that with a few more lessons this class could be set against the enemy.

A daily cartoon about youngsters shows the little heroine trying first aid methods on youngsters whom her boy friend had damaged in order to give her the necessary cases on which to practice.

As a matter of fact, the first lesson taught by the instructor to a first aid class is that they are not learning to be doctors but to do the right thing until the doctor arrives, thereby preventing complications and saving life. Many physicians, including myself, can testify to the skill and judgment of the members of these classes. I have taught first aid classes and have worked with members of the Red Cross and St. John's Ambulance Corps.

My point in writing about first aid is to emphasize the importance of the first lesson given by the first aid instructors which is that what not to do is as important as what to do.

Dr. H. E. McDermott, editor of the Canadian Journal, in his Editorial Comments, says: "There is great value in a widespread knowledge of first aid methods and there can be nothing but encouragement of the movement. At the same time experience shows that enthusiasm to learn and practice first aid must be kept within proper bounds. The first aider must realize his limits and must not exceed them. That is the first and great commandment in his work."

"First aid is largely a combination of physiology and common sense. Of physiology we can never know too much, and without common sense the most profound knowledge may be of no avail."

Republican Candidates

A series of word pictures of the Republican Candidates

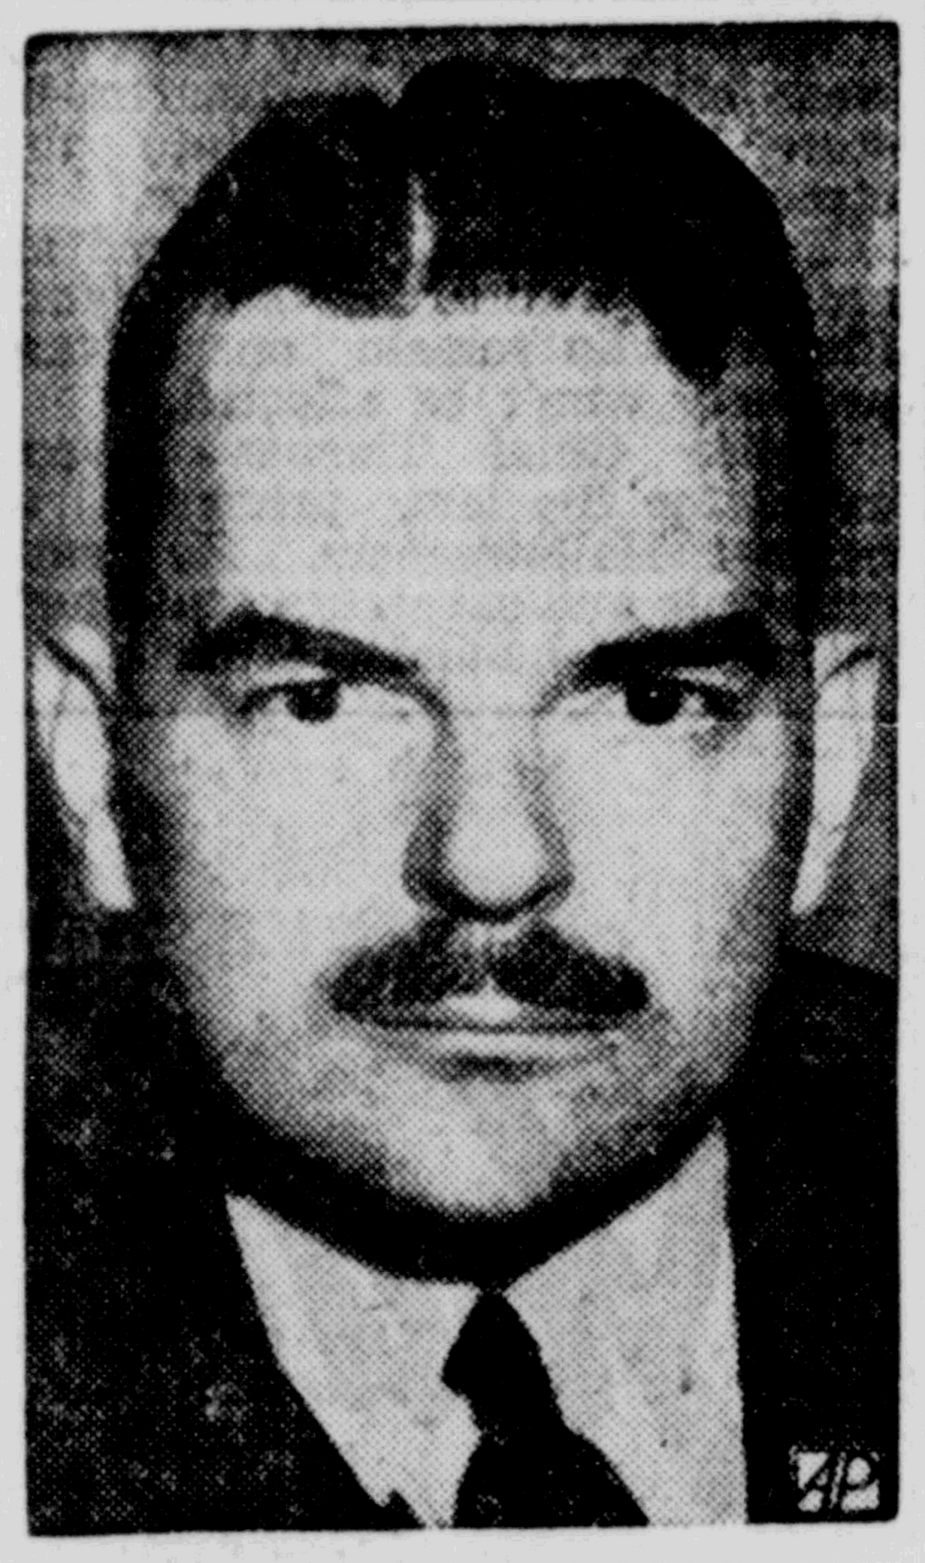
Thomas Edmund Dewey, Republican candidate for governor, was born at Owosso, Michigan, March 24, 1902, the son of George Martin and Annie Thomas Dewey. His first American paternal ancestor was Thomas Dewey, a native of England, who reached Boston in 1630 and settled five years later in Windsor, Conn., which he helped found.

After graduating at the University of Michigan with an A. B. degree in 1923, and at the end of one year of law at the University of Michigan Law School, Thomas Dewey completed his professional studies at the law school of Columbia University, where he was awarded his LL.B in 1925. He was admitted to the bar of New York state in 1926. From 1925 to 1926 he was associated with the law firm of Larkin, Ruthbone & Perry; he was with the firm of McNamara & Seymour from November 1926, until April 1, 1931, when he became chief assistant U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

In this capacity he conducted or participated in the prosecution of Irving Wexler, alias Waxey Gordon, one of the most notorious gangster leaders of the day; James J. McCormack, a deputy city clerk; Patrick Commerford, labor racketeer; Henry Miro and Wilfred Brunder, policy bankers; Patrick McGovern, subway builder; and David Paris, member of the New York state legislature. During 1934-35 he engaged in private practice in New York city, also in this period acting as counsel of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York in proceedings resulting in the removal from the bench of Municipal Justice Harold L. Kunstler (1934); serving as special assistant U. S. attorney general in the conduct of civil income tax proceedings against Charles Edwin Mitchell (1934-35) and also in the connection with the appeal of Irving Wexler (1934-35).

In 1935 a New York city grand jury, believing the incumbent district attorney unable or unwilling to proceed against racketeers, requested Gov. Herbert H. Lehman to appoint an independent prosecutor and suggested for the post the subject of this sketch. Governor Lehman appointed Mr. Dewey special prosecutor in the investigation of organized crime in the city of New York. From July 29, 1935, until December 31, 1937, he conducted investigations and procured indictments and convictions of dominant figures in the loan shark racket; a syndicate representing an organization of all chain houses or prostitution in the city of New York by a group of gunmen and narcotic peddlers; a restaurant racket involving the Dutch Schultz mob and executives of two labor unions; a bakery racket involving leading gangsters and executives of two unions and others; a poultry racket and a garment trucking racket.

He also obtained indictments in the policy and garment rackets, in which the defendants were either fugitives from justice or awaiting trial at the time this sketch was written. He ordered and sponsored legislation permitting joinder of similar or connected offenses in a single case; and he conducted an appeal which resulted in an unanimous opinion by the New York state court of appeals sustaining the constitutionality of the statute. In the fall of 1937, yielding to the pressure from many quarters, he consented to stand as Republican candidate for the office of district attorney of New York county; he received the joint endorsement of the Fusion, American Labor and Progressive parties, and was elected on November 2 by the largest plurality of any candidate on the election.



THOMAS E. DEWEY

He is a member of the American and New York State Bar Associations, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the New York County Lawyers' Association, the New York Law Society and the Alumni of Columbia University Law School. His fraternities are Phi Delta Phi and Phi Mu Alpha, and his clubs comprise the National Republican, Columbia University and the University of Michigan Club of New York. In 1937 the University of Michigan conferred upon him an honorary LL.M. degree for his effective and relentless crusade against crime and graft in the year Tufts College also honored him with an LL.D degree. His religious affiliation is with the Protestant Episcopal Church. Sailing and tennis are his favorite forms of outdoor recreation. He was married June 16, 1928, in New York, to Frances Eileen, daughter of Orla Thomas and Lee Davis Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., and they have two sons, Thomas Edmund, Jr., and John Martin.

Niagara Falls' Electrochemistry

Behind the scenic wonders of Niagara Falls, electrochemistry has developed the great salt-consuming industries of America which annually use 400,000 tons of common salt, or approximately 4 per cent of total United States production.

The promising power situation, proximity to vast salt fields and the favorable location with respect to potential consumers have been the major factors responsible for leadership of the Niagara area in the production of saline chemicals, according to the report.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Back in the Gay Nineties in Kingston there was published an extensive work in a number of volumes under the general title of "Picturesque Ulster." It was the work of R. Lionel DeLisser, a famous artist, who traveled the highways and byways of Ulster county in a horse and buggy armed with his camera snapping familiar and unfamiliar sights encountered on his trips.

There are many older readers of this column who have at least one or two of these profusely illustrated books in their possession, and it is interesting to recall that the artist died on September 16, 1907, in Munich, Bavaria.

As I recall it three of the books were devoted to picturing Kingston as it was in the Gay Nineties, and the photographs show many buildings that no longer exist. There are also many pictures of boats that once were famous on the Hudson river, such as the Mary Powell and the boats of the old Central Hudson Line.

In addition to the hundreds of photographs the books carried many interesting articles on Ulster county history. Several of these articles were written by the late A. W. Hoffman, for many years editor of The Freeman.

The other day I read an old clipping dated September 18, 1907, which told of the disbanding of Weber Hose Co., No. 3. Veteran volunteer firemen will recall the years when this fire company was active.

I also recall that in September, 1907, Isaac Delamater purchased of Mrs. Mary Mellert the bakery on lower Broadway, adjoining the former furniture house of Stock & Cordts.

Recalling the days of the handmade cigars that were enjoyed by Kingston smokers one of the best known of the cigar makers in the Gay Ninties was James B. Jarman who died on September 20, 1917, in his home on Hoffman street.

Dr. Charles O. Sahler who founded Sahler's Sanitarium on Wall street, died on September 17, 1917. He was an authority on therapeutics. Dr. Sahler for years was active in the Ulster county Prohibition party and also in the affairs of the old Citizens' League, which was very active in the years at the turn of the century.

I recall that whenever I attended a show put on by a traveling hyponist, that Dr. Sahler always occupied one of the seats up front. He was deeply interested in hypnotism and used it extensively in his work of curing the sick.

Leafing the pages of the city's history to Saturday, September 17, 1927, that day marked the opening of the J. J. Newberry Co. store on Wall street. This store had been erected on the site of the old St. John's Church, which had been taken down and re-erected on its present site on Albany avenue.

Willkie's Free Discussion Has Given President Roosevelt Strong Support on Entire War Program

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 28 — Wendell Willkie's outline of a new internationalism may have thrilled the people overseas even more than it did the people of his own country. For not since the days of Woodrow Wilson has a discussion of international policy been expressed on a plane so high and yet so close to the aspirations of millions of human beings abroad whose cooperation is vital to victory.

One may detect here and there in the Willkie address a bit of earnest criticism of the administration but he would be shortsighted who does not see that in the main no stronger arm of support than Mr. Willkie extended could have been given to President Roosevelt as he copes with the problems of the present and the future in relation to second fronts, peace terms and the economic barriers that produce international friction and eventually war.

One may also differ with Mr. Willkie's criticism as to the meagre amount of Lend-Lease equipment that has gone abroad thus far; one may see the merit of a possible answer the President could make, namely that global strategy dictated what we have done to date and yet one may see even in this a helping hand to the effort that inevitably must be made by the President to turn certain Allied leaders from a psychology of defensiveness to an offensive of increasing proportions.

The Willkie speech comes at a time when some Americans may be dispirited by the terrible toll being taken of our men and ships in the Pacific, but this is not the moment to remind anybody at length that we are fighting a two-ocean war with a one-ocean navy and that the United States despite her prowess of the past is the underdog in this fight.

Where are our ships? Where are our troops and transports, our tanks and our planes? They certainly are not even in the Pacific areas as yet where our own prestige is at stake because the defense of England has absorbed much and so also have the other theatres of war in the Middle East. We have sent some to China, some to Russia, some to North Africa, some to Australia — it's a small amount to any one place but in the aggregate it represents the 1941 and 1942 production of a nation that really never went to war till ten months ago and in some respects, judging by the selfishness and the bickering and the political maneuvering here, has not yet gone to war.

Mr. Willkie's broad explanation of what the rest of the world wants from us is invaluable. It is an honest, frank, outspoken speech of historic importance. All around the globe the nations we need most to encourage will derive inspiration from it. And within the United States, those who believe that there should be a global peace will find comfort in the fact that it is a Republican leader who is talking to a party which has within its ranks a substantial number of patriotic persons who do not believe in our maintenance of a world organization for peace.

Mr. Willkie may or may not be again a presidential candidate. He may never hold public office. But he has revealed a forthrightness on international issues which is as essential to the formation of American public opinion on peace problems as anything that has been said thus far even by the President or members of his official family. It is heartening that such a speech could be made by a rival presidential candidate of 1940 for it shows that despite the presence of isolationism in the Republican party, there is also a substantial opinion growing up behind the international concept of human relations today. Mr. Willkie sketches, of course, only the highlights. A powerful realism will some day demand that the abstract principles be translated into actual workable terms of peace at a time when the war will have been won and the leverage that influences allies in time of crisis has long since passed. But Mr. Willkie has made a fine beginning. He has started a worldwide discussion on war-aims and peace aims. He has brought back a message of fraternity expressed with splendid fidelity toward those he left behind in the vast expanses over which he travelled. He has made a great contribution and he has, in effect, challenged the administration to go boldly ahead to a global strategy and a global peace with the confidence that there will be millions overseas as well as in America who will fight all the more intensely for human liberty because Americans irrespective of party can still speak the truth unhampered and unafraid.

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

"The Harvey Girls," by Samuel Hopkins Adams

About halfway down the flapmatter on the jacket of Samuel Hopkins Adams' "The Harvey Girls" the reason for the novel's peculiar texture comes out. Later says, the blurb-writer, the book will be transferred to the screen, since it was bought from the manuscript. Why, therefore, should Mr. Adams bother to make a rounded performance out of the book?

The fact is that his material is as nearly perfect as any novelist is likely to have this season. Easterners may not know about the eating houses Fred Harvey founded back in 1876, with the cooperation of the Santa Fe railway. The fact is that these amazing restaurants were a kind of gustatory declaration of independence in a land where public restaurants were as bad as any in the world. And the additional, and perhaps even more amazing fact was that Mr. Harvey watched over his waitresses so carefully that as a rule their station was equal to that of anybody in the towns they served, and often it was superior.

So the Harvey girls actually were top crust, and actually did more than a waitress' share to develop the country in which they worked. Some of them became People Who Matter. Many of them deserved that fate.

Mr. Adams takes three girls, snatched from various backgrounds, and sends them through some of the novelist's most hackneyed situations. They arrive in a remote village called Sandrock, reconstructed from the most popular Hollywood horse operas—dance-hall, embattled and hansome young rancher, impressive Judge in Prince Albert who is boss of Sandrock, even the young Englishman who arrives on his uppers and drops final "g's" all over the desert. There are naughty girls from the Alhambra, a delightful low-comedy pantry-woman (or something like that), a red-headed Irish telegrapher and a prim overseer with a cast-iron bosom.

As Mr. Adams has ripped it off, "The Harvey Girls" has a lot of conventional humor and a good standard-gauge "point." But this is material for a really fine novel of the real West, and Mr. Adams has not bothered to develop it. Maybe Hollywood will.

U. S. Plane in Britain 22 Hours After Made

The bomber was flown to a Canadian base first.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — Well, folks, we've all been wrong. I mean about the 77th Congress, Second Session.

That's no name for a race horse, but 77th Congress, Second Session, was running true to form until it got into the home stretch—the pre-election stretch. Since then, Old 77 has been running like a son of Man-o'-War, with Whirlaway and Alsab as godfathers.

Nobody thought it could happen here in Washington, but it has. With the November elections only a photo-flash away, there probably are more Senators and House members in the Capitol than any time since "national defense" was first mentioned.

Not only that, but Congress is taking those controversial hurdles like the man in the barrel took Niagara. A few months ago it didn't take much of a canvass to predict that anti-inflation, the 18-19-year-old draft, taxes and several other things would get no serious consideration until after the elections.

There were intimations in pretty high places that Congress wouldn't even be consistently in session until the votes were counted. The boys just had to attend the hustings, it was explained. No Congress ever had violated that political rule—not in World War I or even in the Civil War when, on still nights, you could stand on Constitution avenue and hear the Rebel yell echo from the hills of Virginia.

Yet when the vote on the 18-19 draft was tallied in the House the other day, a scant two weeks before election, there were 361 members on the floor. Only in the case of the declarations of war have there been more members present in recent sessions.

Both House and Senate have been tossing political dynamite around as if there were nothing to it. The wage and farm price control act has become a law and is in operation. True, there was some haggling and the law, as passed, was called "a compromise measure", but it was mostly a matter of saving face.

The tax measure had been knocking around for months, but the suddenness with which it came to a vote took the wind out of a lot of Congressional observers.

There is, of course, a reason for all this and it's one that I've talked about before. Congress is the mirror of America. Let them know what the score has to be and they'll come through with that tally. Early in the war, it became apparent that a No. 1 order from home was: Stay on the job. It took a while for some members to understand this. They had been taught differently. But by the time a few House members and Senators had been renominated without even leaving Washington, it began to sink through.

There already have been some changes made that will be apparent in the 78th Congress. There'll be others when all the votes are in. But it isn't so much a matter of party now as it is of getting the job done as well and as quickly as possible.

O'Neil Is Held For Grand Jury

Youth, 17, Charged With Attempted Robbery

Hugh F. O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, waived examination this morning when arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court on a charge of attempted robbery, and was held for grand jury action.

O'Neil was arrested last night by Officer Robert F. Healey on a warrant sworn out by Sanford Cline of 24 Abeel street. According to Mr. Cline's story he had had a young woman do an errand for him at a grocer store. The grocer had placed the merchandise and the change from a five dollar bill in a paper bag which the young woman carried in her hand. As she entered the hallway at 24 Abeel street, O'Neil followed her in and tried to take the paper bag from her. She screamed and Cline ran down the stairs and shoved O'Neil away and then went up to his apartment.

Cline said that O'Neil followed him upstairs and kicked in the door.

Hubert Williams of Lawrence, Mass., charged with public intoxication, was fined $3 in police court today.

splintering crash, and then screams."

Mary Alla, 12, one of the bus passengers who escaped with slight injuries, said "I was in the front end of the bus and all I know is that there was a crash and then I fell down and then somebody cut through a piece of wood and picked me out."

Employes of a coal office, against which the front end of the bus was hurled, said two nuns were among the few passengers who were not injured.

Driver Is Held

Glos, who is 25 years old, has been a regular coach operator for two years. He was taken to the police station in suburban Hamtramck for questioning. Nolan said Clos was unable to tell a coherent story of the accident.

The crash occurred at the Detroit-Hamtramck boundary, on the Hamtramck side. The front end of the bus was tossed into Detroit territory by the locomotive.

Officers worker for nearly an hour to extricate the bodies of several youths who apparently were en route to classes in a Detroit high school.

Along the right of way were found the bodies of five women and of two other persons which at first could not be determined to be either man or woman.

The train, a through passenger from Chicago bv way of Durand, Mich., was in charge of John Irwin, conductor; W. McDaniels, engineer, and S. Babcock, fireman, all of Durand.

Frank Lyman, terminal superintendent of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, began an immediate investigation of the tragedy.

Arthur Curtis of Detroit, who was in a private passenger car alongside the bus, said that "I saw the bus start up as the freight train cleared. I caught a glimpse of the approaching passenger train and threw my hands over my eyes and the next thing I heard was an awful crash."

Curtis' car was wrecked as the bus swung sidewise into it, but he escaped injury.

The accident occurred shortly before 9 a. m., when many children were en route to schools. School books were scattered all about the scene.

Lane Indictment Is Dismissed in Court

An indictment charging Louis Lane of Mt. Tremper with grand larceny was dismissed in County Court this morning. Lane was indicted some time ago for failure to pay for building materials used in the construction of a building. Restitution was made and District Attorney Haver consented to the dismissal.

A civil action brought to recover under a contract by Sophie Jacobowitz against William Shore and Sadie Shore, was stipulated to be tried before the court without a jury and County Judge Conway set the matter down for 2 o'clock on November 18.

There being no further business ready at this time court was adjourned until Friday at 10 o'clock without a jury and the jurors were excused from further service until December 7 at 2 p. m.

Gable Is Graduated

Miami Beach, Fla., Oct. 28 (AP)—Officer Candidate Clark Gable had to shave off his mustache, but Second Lieutenant Gable may grow another one if he wishes. For the 11 weeks he was a student in the Army Air Forces Officer Training School here, Gable had a bare upper lip. Under orders, he whacked off his actor's mustache the day he reported here. He was graduated as a second lieutenant today, and other officers understand he will let his trim lip adornment sprout again. Gable is in the Army now, so he wasn't available to speak for himself.

allowance of $50. The 1942 Legislature appropriated $119,136,500 for state aid to education, $115,451,500 of it for elementary schools.

Assistant Education Commissioner A. W. Schmidt, addressing the State School Boards Association at Syracuse last week, said state aid must be increased "appreciably" to provide an adequate program in all communities.

Wayne W. Soper, head of the state department's statistical division, said declines in enrollment appear to be about evenly divided between boys and girls, and to be heaviest in war production centers where industrial jobs are luring high school students from classes. Few communities have reported gains.

Representative preliminary reports to Soper's office showed these losses from last year:

Binghamton, 14,109 to 12,527; Corning (one of two districts) 1,204 to 1,183; Mount Vernon, 10,805 to 10,268; Olean, 3,959 to 3,769; Schenectady, 12,170 to 11,768, and Johnson City, 3,214 to 3,136.

the voters to help them with their battle cry of 'experience'."

Dewey then reviewed the Republican campaign, with reiteration of his plans to help farmers, expand New York's participation in the war effort with greater utilization of small business, and place income taxation on a pay-as-you go basis with increased exemptions.

During brief speeches in the railroad villages of Owego and Waverly, the Republican candidate accused Democrats of conducting a campaign of "boogymen and rumors." He reported, as an example, the spreading of "rumors" that election of a Republican administration will mean repeal of a law requiring "full crews" on trains.

"That," said Dewey, "is the bunk."

Clinton Avenue Apartment Is Damaged by Fire

Tuesday evening a fire was discovered in the hall of the second floor apartment of Max Lutzberg in the Governor Clinton Apartments at 240 Clinton avenue. The fire originated in a basket filled with scrapings from the floor which was being painted. The fire burned through the basket into the floor and had worked its way up to the door frame before it was brought under control.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said that he believed the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion of the materials that had been placed in the basket by the painters that day.

The fire was discovered by F. Harley Keator, employed at the Thomson Laundry across the street, who saw the reflection of the fire in the glass doors of the apartment and turned in an alarm at 9:30 o'clock that night.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire department was called to the home of Karl Deuscher at 11 Russell street, where excess oil in the kitchen range ignited, filling the house with smoke.

Bennett Is Appointed Temporary Fireman

Tuesday afternoon the Board of Fire Commissioners met at the Central Fire Station and appointed Clifford T. Bennett, one of the dispatchers on the city's fire alarm system, as a temporary fireman to fill the vacancy caused by the induction of Fireman Julius Buchholtz into the U. S. Army.

Fireman Buchholtz will leave Saturday with the contingent from Kingston for Camp Upton where he will receive his preliminary army training.

No appointment was made to fill the post left vacant as dispatcher, but that will be filled later by the fire board.

Five Principal Changes in New Corporation Tax

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Oct. 28—There are five principal changes affecting corporations in the new tax law.

They increase the surtaxes, slap on a 90 per cent excess profits levy, place an over-all limit on taxation, provide some relief in the form of post-war rebate and current debt reduction credit, and put all corporations on a calendar year tax basis for the future.

Let's take them up one by one:

1. Normal and surtaxes.

The normal tax rate is unchanged: For corporations with normal tax net income of not more than $25,000, the rates are 15 per cent on the first $5,000; 17 per cent on the next bracket up to $20,000; 19 per cent on the $20,000-$25,000 bracket. For corporations whose normal tax net income is over $25,000, the rate is a flat 24 per cent.

The surtax rates have been boosted. For corporations whose surtax net income is not more than $25,000, the new rate is 10 per cent. For corporations whose surtax net income is over $25,000, the new rate is 16 per cent, applicable to the whole amount.

Thus the total of corporate income tax at full rates will be 40 per cent, compared with the present 31 per cent.

(Note: Corporate net income for tax purposes is decreased by the amount of an excess-profits net income, which is subject only to excess profits taxes.)

Corporations with affiliated companies may file consolidated returns on their regular as well as excess profits taxes if they pay an extra two per cent in corporate income surtax.

2. Excess profits tax.

A flat 90 per cent is levied on the adjusted excess-profits net income—that is, the excess-profits net income less the excess-profits credit and a specific exemption of $5,000.

In determining the excess-profits credit by the income method, the figure of 95 per cent of average earnings in the base period (1936-39) is retained. However, in case of a deficit year or years in the base period, the law provides for increasing the base by using for one such year an amount equal to 75 per cent of the average of the other years.

For corporations using the invested-capital method of determining the credit, there are two changes in rates, for the first $5,000,000 of invested capital, the rate of eight per cent is retained; for the next $5,000,000, the rate of seven per cent is continued. For the amount from $10,000,000 to $200,000,000, the new rate is six per cent (instead of seven), and over $200,000,000, the new rate is five per cent (instead of seven).

3. Over-all limit: A limitation on the total effective rate of income and excess profits taxes assessed against any corporation is placed at 80 per cent of corporation surtax net income (computed without any excess-profits credit).

4. Relief provisions.

A post-war credit in the amount of 10 per cent of the excess profits tax will take the form of non-negotiable, non-interest-bearing bonds to be issued to the corporation by the Treasury, to be paid off after the war.

Up to the same amount, a corporation may take a credit against excess profits taxes to the extent of 40 per cent of the money it pays out during the taxable year in retirement of debt. But this credit reduces the post-war credit by its amount.

5. The calendar-year basis.

All corporations are placed on a calendar-year tax basis in the future. For 1942, there are two provisions: A corporation with a fiscal year which ended on or before June 30, 1942, will pay under the rates of the old law; a corporation having a fiscal year ending later than June 30 in this year will have to make two computations and pay proportionately.

6. Notes:

The dividing line between short- and long-term capital gains and losses is fixed at six months (formerly eight months).

The capital stock tax and declared-value-excess-profits tax are retained.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Fast Ride

New York—Kenneth Porter, 9, was locked out when he got home from school.

He went to the roof of his apartment house, climbed into the dumbwaiter and prepared to lower away, but his strength was no match for the contraption.

He and it zoomed downward.

Kenneth grabbed at a sill and hung on until his cries attracted neighbors who called police for the rescue.

He wasn't hurt.

Family Party

Gallup, N. M. Polly Ryan volunteered for the W.A.A.C.S. while her brother, R. M., Jr., took his preliminary examinations as an aviation cadet.

If both pass their tests, they will be sworn in together at a public ceremony.

Youthful Warrior

Los Angeles—Garry H. Dean heard he would need a birth certificate to join the navy. So he got one, and showed up with it at recruiting headquarters.

It proved he was born all right in Los Angeles 11 years ago.

Sleep Saver

Orrick, Mo.—A mouse trap gives Joe Albertson, owner of a small coal mine near, another hour's sleep each morning.

A string runs from an alarm clock to the mouse trap. When the alarm goes off, the vibration of the string springs the trap.

The trap throws a switch that starts an electric pump.

By the time Albertson and his helpers arrive, all the water which has seeped in overnight has been pumped out of the mine—and they can start work immediately.

Mystery Singer

Philadelphia—A tall blonde entered the stage door canteen and introduced herself as "Mrs. Helen Bass, a singer."

She sang for 20 minutes and the servicemen shouted an ovation.

"Wow!" a corporal exulted. "That dame oughtta be in the movies."

After she'd left a committeewoman explained that Mrs. Helen Bass in public life is Helen Traubel, famous Metropolitan Opera soprano.

Saboteuring Santas

Wichita, Kas.—Santa Claus can wear his mask in a department store, but if he steps into the street, he will break the law.

The city council has passed an anti-mask ordinance, but Santa Clauses who remain on private property won't be affected.

Police Chief Thomas Jaycox asked for the law, primarily to hamper Halloweeners. He says criminals and saboteurs could lurk unprotected behind the masks.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, October 27—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Civill of Coeymans are parents of a son born at the Albany Hospital on October 19. Mrs. Civill is the former Evelyn Roosa of Stone Ridge.

Miss Anna Mae Conners of Poughkeepsie spent the week-end with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sickler.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sahler spent the week-end at Fonda where they visited the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Hunt and son, Teddy, Elmer Hunt and Jesse Hunt were guests Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Nettie Lockwood and Mrs. Claire Lockwood. Mrs. William Hicks of Washington also visited the Lockwood home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hasbrouck spent Sunday with Mrs. Hasbrouck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark of Tillson.

Miss Phyllis Mulier is convalescing at her home from a recent illness.

The date for opening the Girl Scout House has been postponed and will be announced later. On Saturday afternoon the Girl Scouts visited Mrs. Sadie Snyder, who gave an interesting talk, and visited the estate of Dr. John Hasbrouck where the scouts became acquainted with imported ornamental trees.

A Halloween party will be held at the Methodist Sunday school room on Friday evening, October 30. All are requested to come in costume. The party starts at 7:30 and the grand march will begin at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

A spaghetti supper will be served at the Grange Hall on Election evening, Tuesday, November 3. Servings will begin at 6:30 and continue until all are served.

A chicken supper will be served on Thursday, November 5, at the Methodist Church. Servings will begin at 6 o'clock.

But Why Wait?

Our comradeship shall earn renown in each and every section.
Of what great land; we'll go to town—after the next election!
We'll banish every wage dispute, each labor insurrection;
Our team-work will be absolute —after the next election!
We'll gain what we are fighting for, liberty's resurrection;
We'll really start to win this war —after the next election!

Hey, Voter! Do you like the way your country's being run?
Have you enough of liberty in all things—work and fun?
Or do you find you're handicapped by rules and laws and such;
And think some changes here and there would help you very much?
Remember this land's yours and mine; and it's a dog-gone shame
To tolerate what we don't like; that is—when we're to blame.
Our nation's one where voters rule; our weapons are elections.
If all is right, let's keep it so; if wrong, let's make corrections.

Willie—Hello! Why are you standing here in front of the office you got fired from last week? Waitin' to get taken back?

Jimmie — Not much! I just wanted to see if they was still in business.

"On Me Alone"

In January 1918 a young American who died in obedience to the command of his countrymen wrote the following words:

"America must win this war . . . therefore, I will WORK . . . I will SAVE . . . I will SACRIFICE . . . I will ENDURE . . . I will FIGHT cheerfully and do my utmost, as if the whole struggle depended on ME alone."

Could there be for every one of us a finer pledge of allegiance than this?

Parson—Brother Jones, does your daughter trust in God?

Brother J—She must—judging from the company she keeps.

An Irishman carrying a large sack of potatoes along a lonely road was overtaken by a man driving a horse and cart. The driver offered Pat a lift, which he glady accepted, but he still kept the sack of potatoes on his back. The driver told him to put them down in the cart.

"Sure", Pat replied, "I'm thankful for the lift ye gave me, but I don't want ye to be burdened with the taters as well."

After the clergyman with whom he was playing a round of golf had completely missed the ball several times, the late U. S. Supreme Court Justice John Marshall Harla looked intently in his fast-reddening face.

The Justice said quietly, "Reverend, it's the most profane silence I ever knew."

NO SOMME FOR STALINGRAD

The fight for Stalingrad has often been compared to the last war's struggle for Verdun. Both were stoutly defended. The retention or capture of both became a symbol, beyond the mere strategic importance of the place, of victory or defeat.

Verdun was saved, and that in itself is a good omen for Stalingrad. What saved Verdun, however, was the great British attack on the Somme. Launched on July 1, 1916, it made such gains as to force the Germans to draw off from Verdun vitally needed men and guns. Eventually the Somme became a bloody slaughter for British and Germans alike, but it achieved its purpose—that of diverting the German attack on Verdun.

Stalingrad has had no relieving battle like the Somme. The Russian attempts to provide one by their attacks in the Rhzev sector may or may not succeed. But they recognize the principle that unless the Nazi striking force can be split between two areas, the one on which the Germans concentrate is only too likely to be captured.

POLITICS ARE IMPORTANT

Speakers at political rallies this fall are saying that there is too much apathy shown in politics this year, and that the average man and woman is thinking more about the war than the candidates to be elected in the important state election on November 3.

The fact that registration is lower than it has been in the past two years, however, is no indication that the public is apathetic.

A great many men are now in the active service of the country and in large measure accounts for the decline in registration.

Never before in the history of the country was it more important that the voters elect the men who are best capable of carrying on the duties for which they will be selected. This fall the Republican party in Ulster county has named one of the strongest tickets in its long and honorable history.

The Republican party has selected men who have shown that they are efficient and capable. Every candidate on the Republican ticket this fall from Thomas E. Dewey for governor down through the list has been selected because they were best qualified to serve.

Voters this fall, irrespective of party affiliations, will make no mistake in voting a straight Republican ticket.

A strong home front is as greatly needed as a powerful front on the battlefields of the world. Civilian affairs must be carried on with higher efficiency than ever before.

All indications point to the fact that this fall Ulster county will not only elect the Republican county ticket, but will give Dewey and the other candidates on the ticket the usual Republican majorities.

CONTINUOUS SCRAPPING

There has been some confusion in several quarters about the number of scrap drives that have been staged in the various communities, counties and states since the war started.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that these are not separate drives, but integral parts of a continuous program launched by the Conservation Division of the War Production Board. It is a program that will continue indefinitely—as long as the war lasts.

Scrapping is not a one-shot proposition. Everyone must be a scrapper every day. There is hardly a day that passes that some article of metal, rubber or cloth does not outlive its usefulness in your home. The time when this object could be pushed back out of sight in the cellar is no more. It must be saved and salvaged.

Use of the word drive may be ill-advised in connection with our national scrap salvage program, but it is a favorite American word that has been worked overtime and we probably will continue to use it to describe any concentrated effort we make to get a job done.

This land of plenty was the least salvage conscious of any nation in the world, and the various drives that have been held and will be held before this war is ended were and are necessary to awaken the nation to this vital phase of the war effort. It was the same in Great Britain in September, 1939. Every imaginable kind of salvage drive was inaugurated to collect idle materials. Now salvage is an everyday job that every British citizen does automatically. He has been taught to waste nothing. His salvage effort is continuous, just as ours must be until the Axis dictators no longer threaten our homes and our liberty.

FIRST AID

One of the good things that comes from the war is the interest in first aid. Everywhere, even in small villages, first aid classes are being formed and the members of the class learn the correct manner of handling the injured, and water, gas, and electricity accidents.

So widespread is the interest in first aid that our humorists and cartoonists are using it in their strips or columns. I have spoken before of one class in which the young man was treated for a "supposed" broken leg was allowed to fall off the table and really did break his leg. In putting him into the ambulance he was not pushed far enough forward and the door being forcibly closed struck his head and caused concussion. The humorous comment was that with a few more lessons this class could be set against the enemy.

A daily cartoon about youngsters shows the little heroine trying first aid methods on youngsters whom her boy friend had damaged in order to give her the necessary cases on which to practice.

As a matter of fact, the first lesson taught by the instructor to a first aid class is that they are not learning to be doctors but to do the right thing until the doctor arrives, thereby preventing complications and saving life. Many physicians, including myself, can testify to the skill and judgment of the members of these classes. I have taught first aid classes and have worked with members of the Red Cross and St. John's Ambulance Corps.

My point in writing about first aid is to emphasize the importance of the first lesson given by the first aid instructors which is that what not to do is as important as what to do.

Dr. H. E. McDermott, editor of the Canadian Journal, in his Editorial Comments, says: "There is great value in a widespread knowledge of first aid methods and there can be nothing but encouragement of the movement. At the same time experience shows that enthusiasm to learn and practice first aid must be kept within proper bounds. The first aider must realize his limits and must not exceed them. That is the first and great commandment in his work."

"First aid is largely a combination of physiology and common sense. Of physiology we can never know too much, and without common sense the most profound knowledge may be of no avail."

Republican Candidates

A series of word-pictures of the Republican Candidates

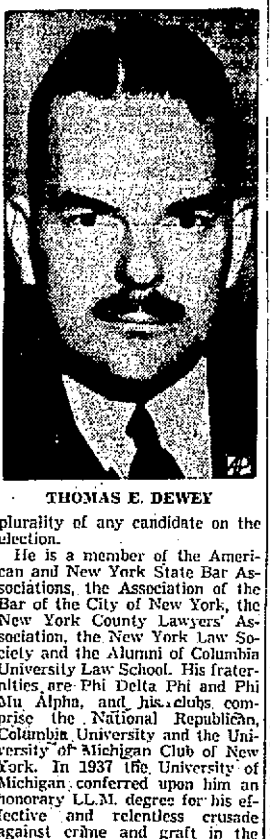
Thomas Edmund Dewey, Republican candidate for governor, was born at Owosso, Michigan, March 24, 1902, the son of George Martin and Annie Thomas Dewey. His first American paternal ancestor was Thomas Dewey, a native of England, who reached Boston in 1630 and settled five years later in Windsor, Conn., which he helped found.

After graduating at the University of Michigan with an A. B. degree in 1923, and at the end of one year of law at the University of Michigan Law School, Thomas Dewey completed his professional studies at the law school of Columbia University, where he was awarded his LL.B in 1925. He was admitted to the bar of New York state in 1926. From 1925 to 1926 he was associated with the law firm of Larkin, Ruthbone & Perry; he was with the firm of McNamara & Seymour from November 1926, until April 1, 1931, when he became chief assistant U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

In this capacity he conducted or participated in the prosecution of Irving Wexler, alias Waxey Gordon, one of the most notorious gangster leaders of the day; James J. McCormack, a deputy city clerk; Patrick Commerford, labor racketeer; Henry Miro and Wilfred Brunder, policy bankers; Patrick McGovern, subway builder; and David Paris, member of the New York state legislature. During 1934-35 he engaged in private practice in New York city, also in this period acting as counsel of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York in proceedings resulting in the removal from the bench of Municipal Justice Harold L. Kunstler (1934); serving as special assistant U. S. attorney general in the conduct of civil income tax proceedings against Charles Edwin Mitchell (1934-35) and also in the connection with the appeal of Irving Wexler (1934-35).

In 1935 a New York city grand jury, believing the incumbent district attorney unable or unwilling to proceed against racketeers, requested Gov. Herbert H. Lehman to appoint an independent prosecutor and suggested for the post the subject of this sketch. Governor Lehman appointed Mr. Dewey special prosecutor in the investigation of organized crime in the city of New York. From July 29, 1935, until December 31, 1937, he conducted investigations and procured indictments and convictions of dominant figures in the loan shark racket; a syndicate representing an organization of all chain houses or prostitution in the city of New York by a group of gunmen and narcotic peddlers; a restaurant racket involving the Dutch Schultz mob and executives of two labor unions; a bakery racket involving leading gangsters and executives of two unions and others; a poultry racket and a garment trucking racket.

He also obtained indictments in the policy and garment rackets, in which the defendants were either fugitives from justice or awaiting trial at the time this sketch was written. He ordered and sponsored legislation permitting joinder of similar or connected offenses in a single case; and he conducted an appeal which resulted in an unanimous opinion by the New York state court of appeals sustaining the constitutionality of the statute. In the fall of 1937, yielding to the pressure from many quarters, he consented to stand as Republican candidate for the office of district attorney of New York county; he received the joint endorsement of the Fusion, American Labor and Progressive parties, and was elected on November 2 by the largest plurality of any candidate on the election.



THOMAS E. DEWEY

He is a member of the American and New York State Bar Associations, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the New York County Lawyers' Association, the New York Law Society and the Alumni of Columbia University Law School. His fraternities are Phi Delta Phi and Phi Mu Alpha, and his clubs comprise the National Republican, Columbia University and the University of Michigan Club of New York. In 1937 the University of Michigan conferred upon him an honorary LL.M. degree for his effective and relentless crusade against crime and graft in the year. Tufts College also honored him with an LL.D degree. His religious affiliation is with the Protestant Episcopal Church. Sailing and tennis are his favorite forms of outdoor recreation. He was married June 16, 1928, in New York, to Frances Eileen, daughter of Orla Thomas and Lee Davis Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., and they have two sons, Thomas Edmund, Jr., and John Martin.

Niagara Falls' Electrochemistry

Behind the scenic wonders of Niagara Falls, electrochemistry has developed the great salt-consuming industries of America which annually use 400,000 tons of common salt, or approximately 4 per cent of total United States production.

The promising power situation, proximity to vast salt fields and the favorable location with respect to potential consumers have been the major factors responsible for leadership of the Niagara area in the production of saline chemicals, according to the report.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Back in the Gay Nineties in Kingston there was published an extensive work in a number of volumes under the general title of "Picturesque Ulster." It was the work of R. Lionel DeLisser, a famous artist, who traveled the highways and byways of Ulster county in a horse and buggy armed with his camera snapping familiar and unfamiliar sights encountered on his trips.

There are many older readers of this column who have at least one or two of these profusely illustrated books in their possession, and it is interesting to recall that the artist died on September 16, 1907, in Munich, Bavaria.

As I recall it three of the books were devoted to picturing Kingston as it was in the Gay Nineties, and the photographs show many buildings that no longer exist. There are also many pictures of boats that once were famous on the Hudson river, such as the Mary Powell and the boats of the old Central Hudson Line.

In addition to the hundreds of photographs the books carried many interesting articles on Ulster county history. Several of these articles were written by the late A. W. Hoffman, for many years editor of The Freeman.

The other day I read an old clipping dated September 18, 1907, which told of the disbanding of Weber Hose Co., No. 3. Veteran volunteer firemen will recall the years when this fire company was active.

I also recall that in September, 1907, Isaac Delamater purchased of Mrs. Mary Mellert the bakery on lower Broadway, adjoining the former furniture house of Stock & Cordts.

Recalling the days of the handmade cigars that were enjoyed by Kingston smokers one of the best known of the cigar makers in the Gay Nineties was James B. Jarman who died on September 20, 1917, in his home on Hoffman street.

Dr. Charles O. Sahler who founded Sahler's Sanitarium on Wall street, died on September 17, 1917. He was an authority on therapeutics. Dr. Sahler for years was active in the Ulster county Prohibition party and also in the affairs of the old Citizens' League, which was very active in the years at the turn of the century.

I recall that whenever I attended a show put on by a traveling hyponist, that Dr. Sahler always occupied one of the seats up front. He was deeply interested in hypnotism and used it extensively in his work of curing the sick.

Leafing the pages of the city's history to Saturday, September 17, 1927, that day marked the opening of the J. J. Newberry Co. store on Wall street. This store had been erected on the site of the old St. John's Church, which had been taken down and re-erected on its present site on Albany avenue.

Willkie's Free Discussion Has Given President Roosevelt Strong Support on Entire War Program

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 28—Wendell Willkie's outline of a new internationalism may have thrilled the people overseas even more than it did the people of his own country. For not since the days of Woodrow Wilson has a discussion of international policy been expressed on a plane so high and yet so close to the aspirations of millions of human beings abroad whose cooperation is vital to victory.

One may detect here and there in the Willkie address a bit of earnest criticism of the administration but he would be shortsighted who does not see that in the main no stronger arm of support than Mr. Willkie extended could have been given to President Roosevelt as he copes with the problems of the present and the future in relation to second fronts, peace terms and the economic barriers that produce international friction and eventually war.

One may also differ with Mr. Willkie's criticism as to the meagre amount of Lend-Lease equipment that has gone abroad thus far; one may see the merit of a possible answer the President could make, namely that global strategy dictated what we have done to date and yet one may see even in this a helping hand to the effort that inevitably must be made by the President to turn certain Allied leaders from a psychology of defensiveness to an offensive of increasing proportions.

The Willkie speech comes at a time when some Americans may be dispirited by the terrible toll being taken of our men and ships in the Pacific, but this is not the moment to remind anybody at length that we are fighting a two-ocean war with a one-ocean navy and that the United States despite her prowess of the past is the underdog in this fight.

Where are our ships? Where are our troops and transports, our tanks and our planes? They certainly are not even in the Pacific areas as yet where our own prestige is at stake because the defense of England has absorbed much and so also have the other theatres of war in the Middle East. We have sent some to China, some to Russia, some to North Africa, some to Australia — it's a small amount to any one place but in the aggregate, it represents the 1941 and 1942 production of a nation that really never went to war till ten months ago and in some respects, judging by the selfishness and the bickering and the political maneuvering here, has not yet gone to war.

Mr. Willkie's broad explanation of what the rest of the world wants from us is invaluable. It is an honest, frank, outspoken speech of historic importance. All around the globe the nations we need most to encourage will derive inspiration from it. And within the United States, those who believe that there should be a global peace will find comfort in the fact that it is a Republican leader who is talking to a party which has within its ranks a substantial number of patriotic persons who do not believe in our maintenance of a world organization for peace.

Mr. Willkie may or may not be again a presidential candidate. He may never hold public office. But he has revealed a forthrightness on international issues which is as essential to the formation of American public opinion on peace problems as anything that has been said thus far even by the President or members of his official family. It is heartening that such a speech could be made by a rival presidential candidate of 1940 for it shows that despite the presence of isolationism in the Republican party, there is also a substantial opinion growing up behind the international concept of human relations today. Mr. Willkie sketches, of course, only the highlights. A powerful realism will some day demand that the abstract principles be translated into actual workable terms of peace at a time when the war will have been won and the leverage that influences allies in time of crisis has long since passed. But Mr. Willkie has made a fine beginning. He has started a worldwide discussion on war-aims and peace aims. He has brought back a message of fraternity, expressed with splendid fidelity toward those he left behind in the vast expanses over which he travelled. He has made a great contribution and he has, in effect, challenged the administration to go boldly ahead in a global strategy and a global peace with the confidence that there will be millions overseas as well as in America who will fight all the more intensely for human liberty because Americans irrespective of party can still speak the truth unhampered and unafraid.

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

"The Harvey Girls," by Samuel Hopkins Adams

About halfway down the flapmatter on the jacket of Samuel Hopkins Adams' "The Harvey Girls" the reason for the novel's peculiar texture comes out. Later says, the blurb-writer, the book will be transferred to the screen, since it was bought from the manuscript. Why, therefore, should Mr. Adams bother to make a rounded performance out of the book?

The fact is that his material is as nearly perfect as any novelist is likely to have this season. Easterners may not know about the eating houses Fred Harvey founded back in 1876, with the cooperation of the Santa Fe railway. The fact is that these amazing restaurants were a kind of gustatory declaration of independence in a land where public restaurants were as bad as any in the world. And the additional, and perhaps even more amazing fact was that Mr. Harvey watched over his waitresses so carefully that as a rule their station was equal to that of anybody in the towns they served, and often it was superior.

So the Harvey girls actually were top crust, and actually did more than a waitress' share to develop the country in which they worked. Some of them became People Who Matter. Many of them deserved that fate.

Mr. Adams takes three girls, snatched from various backgrounds, and sends them through some of the novelist's most hackneyed situations. They arrive in a remote village called Sandrock, reconstructed from the most popular Hollywood horse operas—dance-hall, embattled and handsome young rancher; impressive Judge in Prince Albert who is boss of Sandrock, even the young Englishman who arrives on his uppers and drops final "g's" all over the desert. There are naughty girls from the Alhambra, a delightful low-comedy pantrywoman (or something like that), a red-headed Irish telegrapher and a prim overseer with a cast-iron bosom.

As Mr. Adams has ripped it off, "The Harvey Girls" has a lot of conventional humor and a good standard-gauge "point." But this is material for a really fine novel of the real West, and Mr. Adams has not bothered to develop it. Maybe Hollywood will.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — Well, folks, we've all been wrong. I mean about the 77th Congress, Second Session.

That's no name for a race horse, but 77th Congress, Second Session, was running true to form until it got into the home stretch—the pre-election stretch. Since then, Old 77 has been running like a son of Man-o'-War, with Whirlaway and Alsab as godfathers.

Nobody thought it could happen here in Washington, but it has. With the November elections only a photo-flash away, there probably are more Senators and House members in the Capitol than any time since "national defense" was first mentioned.

Not only that, but Congress is taking those controversial hurdles like the man in the barrel took Niagara. A few months ago it didn't take much of a canvass to predict that anti-inflation, the 18-19-year-old draft, taxes and several other things would get no serious consideration until after the elections.

There were intimations in pretty high places that Congress wouldn't even be consistently in session until the votes were counted. The boys just had to attend the hustings, it was explained. No Congress ever had violated that political rule—not in World War I or even in the Civil War when, on still nights, you could stand on Constitution avenue and hear the Rebel yell echo from the hills of Virginia.

Yet when the vote on the 18-19 draft was called in the House the other day, a scant two weeks before election, there were 361 members on the floor. Only in the case of the declarations of war have there been more members present in recent sessions.

Both House and Senate have been tossing political dynamite around as if there were nothing to it. The wage and farm price control act has become a law and is in operation. True, there was some haggling and the law, as passed, was called "a compromise measure", but it was mostly a matter of saving face.

The tax measure had been knocking around for months, but the suddenness with which it came to a vote took the wind out of a lot of Congressional observers.

There is, of course, a reason for all this and it's one that I've talked about before. Congress is the mirror of America. Let them know what the score has to be and they'll come through with that tally. Early in the war, it became apparent that a No. 1 order from home was: Stay on the job. It took a while for some members to understand this. They had been taught differently. But by the time a few House members and Senators had been renominated without even leaving Washington, it began to sink through.

There already have been some changes made that will be apparent in the 78th Congress. There'll be others when all the votes are in. But it isn't so much a matter of party now as it is of getting the job done as well and as quickly as possible.

Among the booths are those for fancy articles, homemade foods, candy, religious articles and a children's corner. There will be entertainment and dancing each evening and refreshments will be served.

Quick-Finkbeiner

Saugerties, Oct. 28 — A pretty home wedding was held Saturday afternoon when Miss Muriel D. Finkbeiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Finkbeiner of Robinson street, became the bride of Vincent R. Quick of Kerhonkson. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John E. Greening, pastor of the Saugerties Baptist Church, and Mrs. Greening played the wedding march and sang. Miss Virginia Finkbeiner, a sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor and Francis Quick of Kerhonkson, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride following the ceremony, with guests present from Connecticut, Poughkeepsie, Saugerties, Maybrook and other nearby communities. Upon return from the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Quick will reside at Kerhonkson.

Mothers Entertain At St. Ursula's

Yesterday afternoon, the Mothers' Association of the Academy of St. Ursula entertained at tea in honor of the new mothers who have become members of the group this year. The new mothers were introduced by Mrs. Ralph Gardner, president of the association, and each was presented with a corsage.

A short musical program was given by Miss Patricia Scudder, violinist, accompanied by her father, Samuel Scudder. Miss Scudder played "Lustspiel Overture" by Keler Bela; "Adoration" by Felix Borowski; and "Mazurka" by Mlynarski. They also played while tea was being served.

The tea table was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and white candles. Those who assisted in pouring were Mrs. John Cordts, Sr., Mrs. Francis E. O'Connor, Mrs. Stanley Dempsey and Mrs. Lincoln Crosby.

Arrangements for the tea were made by Mrs. Bernard Forst, chairman; Mrs. Thomas Crowley, Mrs. John Van Gonsic, and Mrs. Harold Wilson.

Preceding the tea a short business meeting was conducted at which plans were started for a card party to be held in November. Officers of the association this year are Mrs. Ralph Gardner, president; Mrs. John Cordts, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Stanley Dempsey, treasurer; Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, secretary. The next meeting will be November 10.

Miss Merritt Gives Original Travelogue Skit at Sorosis

At the regular meeting of Sorosis, Monday afternoon, it was decided to assist at the Service Men's Center. The society met with Mrs. Clarence Dumm at her home, 4 Mountain View avenue.

Continuing with the study of "Our American Heritage" the members turned to the South at this meeting as Miss Lucinda Merritt gave a travelogue impersonation of a trip through the South starting from Washington, D. C. She wrote her paper in monologue form giving the conversation of a Southern gentleman guiding a Frenchman through the southern states. Along the way he would describe the country; people and several of the activities such as the Mardi Gras at New Orleans. From there the Frenchman traveled to Florida with an introduction to an Irish family. Before the end of the story, Miss Merritt had woven in a plot with the romance of the Frenchman for the daughter in the Irish family.

Next week the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, 7 Mountain View avenue, at 2:45 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Organtini will make their home at 10 St. James street.

Mozart's Opera Is Scheduled Monday

Mozart's enchanting comedy, "The Marriage of Figaro," will be presented here in English, Monday evening, November 2, at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Kingston High School, by the Nine O'clock Opera Company, a group of young American singing-actors whose first trans-continental tour of 75 appearances last season was one of the sensations of the concert world.

The performance is sung in a notable translation by the contemporary English librettist and critic, Edward Dent. This is the translation which Grove's authoritative "Dictionary of Music and Musicians" cerdits with having "set a new standard" in English translation of opera.

Since it was performed first in 1786, the opera buffa of Mozart's has been popular the world over. Such gems as Figaro's martial solo, "non piu andrai," Cherubino's flawless melody, "Voi Che Sapete" in Act 2, of Susanna's lovely aria, "Deh, vieni non tardar" in Act 4, are treasured by all great music lovers. Sung in English, however, "Figaro" is great comedy as well as great music. Its gay but complicated plot is made clear and good fun in a translation of wit and point. Non-essentials in the old-fashioned plot are eliminated, and the story is condensed. The bridge of 150 years is spanned by the narrator.

New York critics launched the production with an enthusiastic reception. Virgil Thompson wrote in the Herald Tribune, "It was really an opera, and the singers sang and acted like a real company of troupers who had been playing together more or less all their lives. Never have I seen an audience enjoy, never, have I myself enjoyed 'Figaro' with such whole hearted gusto."

The opera is the first of this season's Cooperative Concerts.

Bride-Elect Honored

Dysentery Carrier Banned, Tests for Milk Discussed

Stated That Cows Whose Milk Is Sold Here Be Examined at Closer Intervals

High bacteria count in the milk consumed in Kingston during the past summer, and the banning of an eight-year-old dysentery carrier from the public schools of the city, were the principal topics discussed at the monthly meeting of the Board of Health on Tuesday afternoon.

Following the meeting the board went into executive session to consider the milk question here.

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, reported that the boy, a dysentery carrier, had been banned from attending school by the education authorities after parents of other children had raised objections to their children coming in contact with the boy.

The health officer said that while the boy was being kept out of school he had been treating him in an effort to cure him of being a carrier.

The discussion on the milk situation followed the reading of a report made by Dr. Fred Voss, a member of the milk committee of the board, of a special meeting held by the committee with state health department officials when the situation was discussed at length.

Dr. Voss said that the statement was made at the meeting that cows whose milk was sold in Kingston should be examined at closer intervals than at present when the herds are tested once a year.

The opinion was also expressed that more tests should be made of milk both raw and after it was pasteurized. Dr. Voss said that in order to take care of this additional work it might be necessary to furnish more assistance to Dr. Harold Clarke, the board's milk inspector.

After the reading of Dr. Voss's minutes of the committee meeting, Mayor William F. Edelmuth, who presided at the board session, directed that an executive session of the board be held to consider at length the milk question.

Reports of the officers of the board showed that there had been 88 births and 41 deaths reported in the city during September, as compared with 67 births and 56 deaths in September of last year.

During September there had been four cases of chickenpox, 14 of whooping cough, one of typhoid fever and five of pneumonia reported in the city.

Lieut. Mitchell Dies Of Rare Blood Disease

Pine Camp, N. Y. Oct. 28 (AP)—Lieut. John Lendrum Mitchell, 22, son of the late Brig. Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell, prophet of modern aerial warfare, died last night after a three weeks' illness with a rare blood disease.

At his bedside was his mother, Mrs. Franklin F. Korell, Alexandria, Va.

Capt. Irving E. Pugh, army public relations officer, made the announcement.

Mitchell entered the army infirmary about three weeks ago. Mrs. Rose McMullin of Philadelphia, known as the "woman of the golden blood" because of her recovery from a comparatively rare streptococcus aureus, gave a transfuction last week-end.

Mitchell, a native of Washington, D. C., enlisted in 1940 at Milwaukee where an airfield was being dedicated to the memory of his father, and was graduated from the officer's training school at Fort Knox last summer. He served in the tank corps.

Besides his mother, Mitchell leaves two sisters, Mrs. Harriet Anderson, wife of Commander Paul R. Anderson of the navy, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell of Alexandria.

Grand Larceny Charge

Frank Sanicola, 30, whose home is at Tucker's Corners and who has been working in the grape juice factory at Highland was arrested Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Jacob DeWitt on a bench warrant charging grand larceny in the second degree. He was held at the county jail pending arraignment before County Judge J. Edward Conway.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

It is never considered necessary to tell the mothers of young children that they too will be welcome at the party if they choose to come. In other words it is taken for granted that someone will come with the children. This may be the mother; it may be another member of the family, or it may be a nurse. This answers the following letter:

"I would very much like to give a birthday party for our young child. This means having to invite someone older to come with the children because they are all too young to go to parties alone. Some of these little friends are looked after by their mothers; others have nurses. Shall I invite the mothers in all cases?"

In further answer, although several mothers may arrange together to have one take two or three children, you should count on as many older people as on children. Usually, but not always, this means that they will be offered ice cream and cake or whatever you are having for refreshments.

Substantial Buffet Collation

Dear Mrs. Post: May a substantial buffet collation be served at a wedding reception in the middle of the afternoon? Many of our relatives will be arriving from out of town and going back the same day, which is why we are having the wedding early. Because of the distances from which many of these people come, mother thought more substantial food should be served. On the other hand, it may be out of place to serve a meal at such an hour.

Answer: Very substantial collations have been conventional for generations. It is only lately when everything has grown simpler, and especially since the beginning of the war, that refreshments have been very light. You can with perfect propriety serve bouillon or any other soup that you prefer in cups, have chicken croquettes with celery salad, ice cream and coffee, as well as the sandwiches and cakes and punch or champagne you would otherwise have.

Tipping

Dear Mrs. Post: The total cost of my wedding reception, which is to be held in a private dining-room of a local hotel will be about $150. Besides the head waiter there was a young woman with whom I made the arrangements. What shall be allowed for tipping and to whom is this given and how many of these people should it include?

Answer: You give the young woman with whom you made the arrangements $15 (in other words, 10 per cent) and tell her to apportion it for you.

Van Demark Body Found by Smith

B.W.S. Employe Discovers Corpse in Reservoir; Verdict Is Given

The body of Elmer Van Demark, 63-year-old Tabasco resident who met death on September 27 when a car which he was driving went off the road at Cold Brook into the flood waters of the Esopus creek, was recovered shortly after 9 a. m. yesterday in the Ashokan reservoir a short distance west of the point where the bodies of the two other victims were recovered some time ago.

Smith was cruising alone in the Board of Water Supply boat which has been patroling the reservoir shoreline since the accident when he discovered the body of Mr. VanDemark floating off shore above the spot where the bodies of Miss Mary Terwilliger, 70, a sister-in-law, and that of his wife, Mrs. Amelia Van Demark, 62, were recovered. The scene was about opposite the "Weidner Point."

The body was brought to shore and Smith notified the Department of Water Supply and the sheriff's office was called. Under Sheriff Stanley Winne went to the scene after calling Coroner Frank J. McCardle of Rosendale.

On Sunday afternoon, September 27, the three people left home to go to Andes to see about canary birds. On the way home the Chevrolet coupe went into the Esopus creek at the Cold Brook turn just west of the Winne Garage after the driver apparently lost control on the curve and sideswiped another car which was proceeding west. After striking the car the Chevrolet car crashed through the guard rail and plunged into the swollen creek. The driver of the other car left his machine and attempted to follow the car down stream but lost sight of it as it was sinking slowly beneath the water. State Police at Phoenicia were summoned and a search was started for the car.

For days Sheriff Anderson had men searching the stream and upper end of the reservoir. State Police and Forest Rangers continued the search and B. W. S. police took up the search in the Ashokan after pieces of the car had been recovered. High water prevented the search from meeting with much success for a few days but as the water cleared and the stream dropped every hole in the creek and the open end of the Ashokan were inspected. Several pieces of the car were recovered and searchers found a bird cage with a dead canary in it.

On October 6 while Lieut Edward Schwall and Harold "Chick" Smith were searching on the west bank of the reservoir near the Brodhead shore the body of Mrs. Van Demark was found floating near shore. Later the same boat came on the body of Miss Terwilliger on October 11 when Smith discovered the second body.

Since then State Police and Deputy Sheriffs have been searching the water without avail. It was believed the body of Mr. VanDemark must be caught in the car and Sheriff Anderson finally decided to call his men from the job. State Police also gave up the search but the Department of Water Supply continued the search from the boat in which Smith operated. Tuesday that search produced the third body.

Car Is Not Located

The car has not been located as yet although there has been located a large object which is lodged in about fifteen feet of water and which may be the car. Grappling hooks which were used by the sheriff's men have repeatedly failed to bring the object to the surface.

Coroner McCardle went to the scene and after an examination rendered a verdict of accidental death by drowning. The body was turned over to the Pulling Funeral Home of Ellenville, after identity had been established. On the body was found a gold open face Standard watch which had stopped at 5 o'clock, indicating the time of the accident, a fountain pen, three $10 bills folded in the pocket, a gold band wedding ring and a pair of glasses. Although the body had been in the water a month today it was not in a bad state of preservation and was fully clothed when found.

Forty Hours' Devotion Ends at St. Mary's

A large congregation attended the closing service of the Forty Hours' Devotion held Tuesday evening at St. Mary's Church. The exercises were presided over by the Very Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, P.R., V.F., pastor of the church. Many clergy from neighboring churches attended as did several of the Redemptorist Fathers from Mt. St. Alphonsus.

Following the chanting of the litany, a solemn procession was held through the church aisles with the men of the parish acting as a guard of honor for the Blessed Sacrament. They were followed by the acolytes and clergy. The exercises closed with solemn benediction, the celebrant being the Right Rev. Msgr. John J. Stanley of New York, a former pastor of St. Mary's. He was assisted by the Rev. Lawrence Ryan of Hartsdale, N. Y., and the Rev. Edmund Nilan of Ellenville. The Rev. Peter J. Fox and the Rev. John J. Drew, assistants at St. Mary's, acted as masters of ceremonies. St. Mary's male choir rendered the musical part of the service in a splendid manner under the direction of the choir director, Ted Riccobono.

Best Costumes Are To Receive Prizes

Costumes Will Be Judged at Gala Halloween Party

Five cash prizes will be awarded to the best costumed people at the city-wide Halloween celebration to be held in the Municipal Auditorium Saturday night, October 31, under the joint supervision of the Department of Recreation and the American Legion. The prizes are being donated by the local post of Forty and Eight.

The awards will be made by three judges who will judge the costumes in three different divisions. First, there will be a prize for the best patriotic costume. The remaining prizes will be divided between adults and children, with two adults and two children receiving prizes for the best costumes. Judges for the costume parade will be Miss Dorothy Lowe, Girls' Reserve secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Bert Tandy, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Nelson Snyder of the Forty and Eight.

The costume prize judging will be only one of the great features of the big Halloween celebration in which all children and adults of the city have been invited to participate. In addition to this, there will be the big parade, Halloween stunts, special entertainment, and eight reels of talking pictures.

O'Neil Is Held For Grand Jury

Youth, 17, Charged With Attempted Robbery

Hugh F. O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, waived examination this morning when arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court on a charge of attempted robbery, and was held for grand jury action.

O'Neil was arrested last night by Officer Robert F. Healey on a warrant sworn out by Sanford Cline of 24 Abeel street. According to Mr. Cline's story he had had a young woman do an errand for him at a grocer store. The grocer had placed the merchandise and the change from a five dollar bill in a paper bag which the young woman carried in her hand.

As she entered the hallway at 24 Abeel street, O'Neil followed her in and tried to take the paper bag from her. She screamed and Cline ran down the stairs and shoved O'Neil away and then went up to his apartment.

Cline said that O'Neil followed him upstairs and kicked in the door.

Hubert Williams of Lawrence, Mass., charged with public intoxication, was fined $3 in police court today.

splintering crash, and then screams."

Mary Alla, 12, one of the bus passengers who escaped with slight injuries, said "I was in the front end of the bus and all I know is that there was a crash and then I fell down, and then somebody cut through a piece of wood and picked me out."

Employes of a coal office, against which the front end of the bus was hurled, said two nuns were among the few passengers who were not injured.

Driver Is Held

Glos, who is 25 years old, has been a regular coach operator for two years. He was taken to the police station in suburban Hamtramck for questioning. Nolan said Clos was unable to tell a coherent story of the accident.

The crash occurred at the Detroit-Hamtramck boundary, on the Hamtramck side. The front end of the bus was tossed into Detroit territory by the locomotive.

Officers worker for nearly an hour to extricate the bodies of several youths who apparently were en route to classes in a Detroit high school.

Along the right of way were found the bodies of five women and of two other persons which at first could not be determined to be either man or woman.

The train, a through passenger from Chicago by way of Durand, Mich., was in charge of John Irwin, conductor; W. McDaniels, engineer, and S. Babcock, fireman, all of Durand.

Frank Lyman, terminal superintendent of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, began an immediate investigation of the tragedy.

Arthur Curtis of Detroit, who was in a private passenger car alongside the bus, said that "I saw the bus start up as the freight train cleared. I caught a glimpse of the approaching passenger train and threw my hands over my eyes and the next thing I heard was an awful crash."

Curtis' car was wrecked as the bus swung sidewise into it, but he escaped injury.

The accident occurred shortly before 9 a. m., when many children were en route to schools. School books were scattered all about the scene.

Lane Indictment Is Dismissed in Court

An indictment charging Louis Lane of Mt. Tremper with grand larceny was dismissed in County Court this morning. Lane was indicted some time ago for failure to pay for building materials used in the construction of a building. Restitution was made and District Attorney Haver consented to the dismissal.

A civil action brought to recover under a contract by Sophie Jacobowitz against William Shore and Sadie Shore, was stipulated to be tried before the court without a jury and County Judge Conway set the matter down for 2 o'clock on November 18.

There being no further business ready at this time court was adjourned until Friday at 10 o'clock without a jury and the jurors were excused from further service until December 7 at 2 p. m.

Gable Is Graduated

Miami Beach, Fla., Oct. 28 (AP) — Officer Candidate Clark Gable had to shave off his mustache, but Second Lieutenant Gable may grow another one if he wishes. For the 11 weeks he was a student in the Army Air Forces Officer Training School here, Gable had a bare upper lip. Under orders, he whacked off his actor's mustache the day he reported here. He was graduated as a second lieutenant today, and other officers understand he will let his trim lip adornment sprout again. Gable is in the Army now, so he wasn't available to speak for himself.

Hongkong Raid Reported

Tokyo (From Japanese Broadcasts), Oct. 28 (AP)—The Tokyo radio reported that Hongkong was raided this morning by seven United States bombers. No damage was caused by the raiders, the announcement said, and one plane was reported shot down. (United States bombers set fires among Hongkong's docks in a raid Sunday night and returned the following morning to blast the island's main power plant.)

allowance of $50. The 1942 Legislature appropriated $119,136,500 for state aid to education, $115,451,500 of it for elementary schools.

Assistant Education Commissioner A. W. Schmidt, addressing the State School Boards Association at Syracuse last week, said state aid must be increased "appreciably" to provide an adequate program in all communities.

Wayne W. Soper, head of the state department's statistical division, said declines in enrollment appear to be about evenly divided between boys and girls, and to be heaviest in war production centers where industrial jobs are luring high school students from classes. Few communities have reported gains.

Representative preliminary reports to Soper's office showed these losses from last year:

Binghamton, 14,109 to 12,527; Corning (one of two districts) 1,204 to 1,183; Mount Vernon, 10,805 to 10,268; Olean, 3,959 to 3,769; Schenectady, 12,170 to 11,768, and Johnson City, 3,214 to 3,136.

the voters to help them with their battle cry of 'experience'."

Dewey then reviewed the Republican campaign, with reiteration of his plans to help farmers, expand New York's participation in the war effort with greater utilization of small business, and place income taxation on a pay-as-you go basis with increased exemptions.

During brief speeches in the railroad villages of Owego and Waverly, the Republican candidate accused Democrats of conducting a campaign of "boogymen and rumors." He reported, as an example, the spreading of "rumors" that election of a Republican administration will mean repeal of a law requiring "full crews" on trains.

"That," said Dewey, "is the bunk."

Clinton Avenue Apartment Is Damaged by Fire

Tuesday evening a fire was discovered in the hall of the second floor apartment of Max Lutzberg in the Governor Clinton Apartments at 240 Clinton avenue. The fire originated in a basket filled with scrapings from the floor which was being painted. The fire burned through the basket into the floor and had worked its way up to the door frame before it was brought under control.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said that he believed the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion of the materials that had been placed in the basket by the painters that day.

The fire was discovered by F. Harley Keator, employed at the Thomson Laundry across the street, who saw the reflection of the fire in the glass doors of the apartment and turned in an alarm at 9:30 o'clock that night.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire department was called to the home of Karl Deuscher at 11 Russell street, where excess oil in the kitchen range ignited, filling the house with smoke.

Bennett Is Appointed Temporary Fireman

Tuesday afternoon the Board of Fire Commissioners met at the Central Fire Station and appointed Clifford T. Bennett, one of the dispatchers on the city's fire alarm system, as a temporary fireman to fill the vacancy caused by the induction of Fireman Julius Buchholtz into the U. S. Army.

Fireman Buchholtz will leave Saturday with the contingent from Kingston for Camp Upton where he will receive his preliminary army training.

No appointment was made to fill the post left vacant as dispatcher, but that will be filled later by the fire board.

Majors May Split Loops Into Two Groups During 1943 According to Plan

Giants, Dodgers, Yanks Would Be in League; Clubs Must Solve Railroad Problem

A new plan, whereby major League teams will be divided into two groups as the Eastern and Western Division, may be offered at the December meetings of the two circuits in Chicago. This plan would be in connection with the present emergency and will be presented in the hope of continuing the big leagues next season.

Should this radical co-operative plan by the two leagues be put into effect, the Eastern Division, or whatever name is selected for it, would be composed of the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox, Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators of the American League and the New York Giants, Boston Braves, Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phils of the National League.

The Western Division would be composed of the Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns and the Chicago White Sox of the American League and the Cincinnati Reds, Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

Executive Gives Plan

This plan was announced by a major league executive who didn't wish to be quoted, but remarked, "at the moment it is just something that we are thinking about. And we must think of something because, after all, the thing that is most likely to cripple us next year is the lack of transportation facilities to move the Eastern teams into the West and the Western clubs into the East."

Of course, this wouldn't be a permanent arrangement. It may be just for a year until the emergency is cleared up to some degree. The speaker, who was asked that the idea might not go in cities where two teams operated said, "I think for a year anyway there would be increased interest in a 22-game series between the Yankees and Dodgers, the Yanks and Giants, Cards and Browns, Braves and Red Sox, and other two-team city clubs. And certainly such series would solve our present transportation problem."

It was also announced that the player limit will likely be reduced for the duration. The majors could operate with 320 players. Regardless of their age, they could carry on the American tradition of recreation. President Roosevelt said this last year in a letter to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis when he put the green light on for the 1942 season. He said that there would be older players participating in the sport but he figured that the veterans could give the fans good baseball and a good form of recreation.

Will Have Players

Continuing with his idea of this new plan to aid the present questionable 1943 baseball season, the executive declared, "I think we will be able to have enough players next year but I don't think the teams will be able to do the traveling by railroad that was necessary under our age-old form of schedule. To overcome this difficulty, which appears right now as the chief difficulty, I think that the club owners, to keep their parks open and at least pay their taxes, may consider a closer co-operation for the good of the whole, and for a year at least, group all of the Eastern teams in one league and all the Western teams in another.

Needless to say, this is a radical idea but the war forms radical plans and thus some other means to hold the 1942 baseball season together must be made. Baseball in its usual form is out for the present and such a division of Eastern and Western teams represents a sound plan to continue this great national pastime.

Ohio State After Sixth Victory in Row on Saturday

Buckeyes and Badgers Might Play Before a Sell-Out Crowd in Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28 (AP)—There is no old oaken bucket or little brown jug at stake in Wisconsin's homecoming battle with Ohio State here Saturday but the contest between the undefeated elevens packs plenty of box office punch in other ways.

Those who have been lucky enough to get pasteboards—the ticket office expects a near sell-out—may see in action the new western conference titleholder or even the next mythical national champion.

Ohio State, unbeaten and untied in five games this season, has been parked in the number one spot on the Associated Press' nation's honor grid list for the past three weeks while Wisconsin, with five victories and a tie with Notre dame, is in sixth place.

The game, which the super-charged Buckeyes are favored to win, has a two-for-the-price of one attraction for a thrifty grid fan.

In action on the field at the same time will be Ohio State's Gene Fekete, fullback, and Badger Halfback Elroy Hirsch, two of the foremost sophomore backfield men in the country. Fekete so far has piled up eight touchdowns and 12 extra points for a total of 60. Hirsch has tallied five times and pitched one scoring aerial. For good measure there are Badger Fullback Pat Harder, leading Big Ten scorer and ground gainer last year, and Buckeye Halfback Paul Sarringhaus, who skipped through the Northwestern Wildcats for two markers last Saturday.

If the superstitious want to make anything of it, this game will mark the thirteenth meeting of the teams. Ohio State has won six, Wisconsin four and two ended in ties. The last Badger victory was in 1918, during the first World War and Wisconsin fans are hoping for history to repeat itself.

The Badgers scored 34 points in last year's contest, enough to win two ordinary games, but the Buckeyes ran up 46 to whip them.

Out of this game of the week may come the coach of the year. On benches on opposite sides of the field will sit two former high school quarterbacks who grew up in Masillon, Ohio. The Buckeyes' Paul Brown bounded from a high school coaching job to boss at Ohio State. Harry Stuhldreher, the Badgers' tutor, went up via Notre Dame and the Four Horsemen.

Only sure thing about the game is that Masillon can't lose.

By Harold Claassen

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—If you have been wondering how the U. S. Military Academy could lose 34 of the 44 members on its football squad of a year ago and still approach the coming November with an unbeaten eleven, perhaps this will help you . . . Bud Troxell, the cadet fullback, played for Dartmouth last season . . . Substitute halfback Bob Woods was a first stringer at Navy last fall before plunking out and winning a West Point appointment . . . and Francis Merritt, sophomore tackle, was a sensation as a Fordham frosh in 1940.

Perhaps even Connie Mack has forgotten that he coached the champion pro football team of the state of Pennsylvania in 1902. When the Philadelphia National League baseball club sponsored a pro eleven in 1901, the Athletics retaliated the next season with a club and Mack as coach.

The Mackmen walloped the Phils and then went to Pittsburgh for the state title game. It ended in a tie but on the following Sunday the Athletics won, 12 to 6.

Connie had his gridders warm up for the Pittsburgh scrap by playing at Elmira on Friday, another game on Saturday. They cooled off with a fourth game in four days at Williamstown on Monday.

It was when the Monday gate promised to be small that Mack sent his star baseball pitcher, Rube Waddell, to parade the town wearing a placard. Waddell visited the high school during the noon hour and approximately a thousand students missed school that afternoon.

Skip Palrang, head coach at Creighton University, wound up his skull practice for quarterbacks with the ever present question: "It is third down and one to go, what would you do?"

Ten minutes after the session, Palrang went out to his car and found his third flat tire within a trio of days. Just then the quarterback contingent walked by.

"OK, Coach," said one signal caller, "that's your third down. Now tell us what you are going to do."

Freeman League Scores

With Roland Post and Johnny Slizewski giving series of 474 and 451 Team No. 2 continued to hold a comfortable lead on the first place spot in the Freeman Bowling League this week by whipping Team No. 3 in three straight games. Post came through with scores of 148, 166 and 160 while Silzewski had 138, 154 and 159. Jack Hartman of the losers featured with a high single and high triple of 184 and 490 but his marks failed to bring his team through.

Tuesday night at the Immanuel alleys Team No. 1 forged into second place by winning two games from No. 4, handicapped by two blind scores. Walter Kirchofer blasted out a 193 single and 524 triple for the winners. His other marks were 147 and 184. Milfred Buddenhagen sparked the losers with a 443 series on a string of 163, 173 and 137.

So far the draft and through enlistments the league has lost the services of Andy Campbell, Bob Saehloff, Don Hyatt and Ken Roosa. Campbell and Saehloff are already in service while Hyatt leaves Saturday and Roosa next Monday.

The standing to date:

Team No. 2	11	4	.733
Team No. 1	7	8	.467
Team No. 3	6	9	.400

Robinson Collects 609

George Robinson captured high single and high triple honors in the Central Rec League last night at the Recreation alleys as he blasted out a sensational 609 triple and a power-laden 233 single for the Ulsters who won three from Dawkins. Robinson's other scores were 214 and 162. Lou Guadagnola had a 564, Costello 552 and Ernie Magnusson 518 for Ulsters. Jack Dawkins' 544 was tops for the losers.

Joe Dulin and Avery sparked Hercules to two wins over the Astors with triples of 574 apiece. Avery poured out a neat 231 single. Dulin had a 214 solo. Dixon's 561 topped the Astors. His 224 was high for the club. Fassbender had a 201 single

Although Harry Smith captured a 224 and 587 honors for Vining and Smith that club dropped two games to the Sangis' bowlers. Smith's other scores were 189 and 174. Joe Messinger had a 222 single. Orv Van Alstyne's 553 was high for the winners. He also had a 212 single game.

Winne's 210 single and 585 triple paced the Crystals to two wins over the Gov. Clintons. Joe Hoffman had a 546 series while Hod Spaulding came on with a 511. Cunningham's 545 paced the Clintons.

Catholic League

A new high single was established for the Catholic League last night when Frank Nerone of St. Colmans blasted out a powerful 240 as the Flatbushers won three on forfeit from the Presentations. Charlie Tiano's 565 took high triple honor. Nerone had a 547 series.

Walt Petersen's 203 and 525 sparked the Holy Name but not enough to trim St. Joseph's who won two games. W. Reis had a 479 for the winners.

High School League

Secretary Joe Schiavone's report of the Kingston High School bowling matches at the Central Recreation alleys Tuesday afternoon disclose that the Devil Dogs and Yankees are in a tie for first place with six wins in as many games. The Flying Fortresses, Reds, Spitfires and Eagles are tied for the next slot with five triumphs in six starts.

The Devil Dogs captured three in a row from the Thunderbolts yesterday with T. Amato banging out a 277 double. The Devil Dogs won the third game on forfeit. Amato posted scores of 141 and 136. S. Werbolowsky had 239 for the losers.

A. Werbalowsky and Dick Howard registered triples of 407 for the Spitfires and Dodgers respectively but the former team won two games. Werbalowsky had a high 154 single game.

With Joe Schiavone pouring out a 165 single and 438 triple the Fortresses won all three from the Hurricanes. Short had a 339 score for the losing bowlers.

L. Bruno's 424 paced the Reds to two triumphs over the Senators. He had a high single of 157 with other scores of 137 and 130. A. Smith posted 165 for the Senators.

The Tigers won three from the Cardinals on forfeit. T. Albany registered a 458 series for the winners while Fred Schryver had a high 160 single.

Another forfeit resulted in three wins for the Eagles over the Mustangs. W. Vining had a 448 triple for the Eagles while also coming through with a neat single of 164.

The final match found the Yankees, in their usual style, except for the World Series, winning three straight decisions from the Rangers. Carl Wiebke's 465 triple and 162 single did the trick. Del Pritchard had 384 for the losers.

DUSO League Grid Games In Spotlight This Week; Odds on Middies and Port

Johnny Bateman Warns M. H. S. of Kingston; Tri-Staters Favorite Over Newburgh

The second big DUSO League football menu is slated for Saturday afternoon with all four contestants seeing action. Kingston High School will travel to Middletown and Bill Elder's Newburgh Free Academy eleven will be guests at Port Jervis.

On the basis of season play to date the powerful Middletown Middies, coached by Johnny Bateman and Al Chase's surprising Port Jervis aggregation will be favorites to win and continue their undivided supremacy for the 1942 gridiron crown.

At this writing it appears as though a perfect game will be scheduled for Thanksgiving Day to decide the pennant winner between Middletown and Port Jervis. Nothing except a miracle will change the outlook for these two aspirants.

Middies Are Warned

Like Poughkeepsie High School last week, Johnny Bateman, former Columbia University player, has warned his perhaps over-confident Middletown squad about holding Kingston in too little regard. Middletown is expected to have an easy time with Coach Ted Conwicke's lads but Bateman, realizing what the Maroons did to Poughkeepsie in that first half last week, isn't taking any chances.

Yesterday Bateman put his Middletown charges through a long drill in the high school gymnasium which proves that he isn't taking the Maroons too lightly. He's also warned his players to keep on the alert. He received word that Kingston looked pretty good against the Kallochmen for awhile last Saturday and with Poughkeepsie a 14-0 winner over Middletown, it's quite positive that Bateman will not leave any stones unturned in his quest for this important league victory.

Meanwhile, Coach Conwicke is giving his Maroons daily drills in hopes of improving some weak points which were noticeable in Saturday's second half play. The first half was satisfactory. The squad is still waiting for good news from Lee Boice whether he'll be ready for action or not. Kingston could give the Middies a pretty good battle providing a competent passer and pass receiver could be found by game time Saturday.

Port Is Favorite

Al Chase's strong Port Jervis team, competitors in two games, is undefeated, untied and unscored upon which proves that the Port outfit has something on the ball this year. Before its tussle with Kingston, Port was considered just another ball club. However, that 39 to 0 rout made the experts change opinions of the Chasemen.

Although Liberty and Kingston can hardly be called tough opponents for Port Jervis, the Chase-coached squad at this moment stands as a direct threat to unseat Middletown as the DUSO league king. Featuring a good running attack in Lynch and Adams, Port will be a tough team Saturday against Newburgh. Barring an upset, Port should give Middletown a run for its money also on Turkey Day.

Newburgh, on the other hand, has been about as much disappointment to its fans as Kingston. Newburgh has lost to Middletown, North Tarrytown and Ossining, all pretty good stickers. The N. F. A. squad had Middletown on the run until the last few minutes of the ball game when the Middies finally woke up and went on to score a couple of touchdowns to breeze in.

Everything points to a No. 2 Thanksgiving Day clash this year. Middletown and Port Jervis, providing they win Saturday, will enter the Turkey Day clash with two victories apiece. Kingston engages Newburgh at the Hilly City and providing the odds are true to form Saturday, they'll both have two losses apiece when game time rolls around. There should be some consolation gained in that struggle between these two down-trodden clubs. However, football is a funny game and funny things can happen. All of the above is mere pregame thinking, not actual results so it would be a wiser thing to wait until next Sunday to think about the forthcoming DUSO League finals on Thanksgiving Day than to voice any harsh predictions at this time.

Roosevelt Explains Atlantic Charter

Declares It Applies to All Nations in Reply to Willkie's Speech

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—The world had President Roosevelt's renewed assurance today that the Atlantic Charter "applied to all humanity."

It became known as the "Atlantic Charter," the President explained at yesterday's press conference, because the Atlantic Ocean was the scene of the 1941 meeting at which it was promulgated by himself and Prime Minister Churchill.

Mr. Roosevelt authorized reporters to quote him directly to lend emphasis to his reply to Wendell Willkie's assertion Monday night that many people of Asia and eastern Europe were bewildered and anxious about America's war aims and were asking: "What about a world charter?"

The charter declares among other things that the signatory governments, which include Russia and China and all the other United Nations, "respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them."

Therefore, you and each of you are cited to show cause before the Surrogate's Court of our County of Ulster, City of Kingston, New York, on the 9th day of November, 1942, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why an order should not be made, authorizing Kingston Trust Company as Administrator c. t. a. of the Estate of Elisabeth Grafin Finck von Finckenstein, deceased, to sell said interest in said real estate of which said Elisabeth Grafin Finck von Finckenstein died seized and possessed, to William OR. Hayes, of Utica, New York, in consideration of the Sum of $1000.00 said purchase price being set forth in an agreement of option referred to in the petition filed in this proceeding.

[L. S.] IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of Ulster to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS, HON. HARRY H. FLEMMING, Surrogate of our said County the 2nd day of October, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty Two.

Canterbury Fears Anglo-U. S. Amity Might Be Cooled

upon the resignation of Dr. Cosmo Lang.

What I really called on the archbishop for was to get his views on the delectable subject of hanging Hitler and whether the Allies were fighting this war for Christianity—a matter of some debate in England.

The question of the "leftist" movement just cropped up incidentally.

Social Change Emphasized

I'm glad this angle did appear because it emphasizes what a lot of people fail to realize—that not only Britain but the United States and many other countries are undergoing a great social revolution which is being spurred on by the war.

As I travel about and meet great leaders like Dr. Temple I increasingly encounter this "leftist" drift.

Last week I told you about Sir Stafford Cripps, the so-called extremist who may one day be prime minister of England. His views seem to fit the temper of Britons. And there are many other distinguished figures, some of them men of great wealth whose names I have no permission to mention here.

The archbishop received me in his official London home, ancient Lambeth Palace, against which snuggled the Church of St. Mary, whose written history runs back 900 years and there loses trail. Both palace and church have suffered heavily from Hitler's hate but they still serve those who seek guidance.

Dr. Temple is a grand fellow to meet. Should that seem a shockingly undignified way to speak about the primate of all England (and it probably is), my reply is that I'm trying to introduce you to one of the "regulars." If you could experience his delightfully friendly personality and see him throw back his head in peals of schoolboy laughter, you would understand what I mean.

He is the sort of chap I'd like to go fishin' with and as a dyed-in-the-wool fisherman, that's the highest compliment I can pay him.

He looks well in his black breeches, gaiters and knee-length frock coat, but I'd like to see him in an old tweed suit up on Moosehead Lake in Maine with a fly rod in his hand.

The archbishop installed me in a big tapestry covered armchair in his old-world study, settled himself comfortably in another antique and smilingly invited me to shoot. I raised the query of whether we are fighting for Christianity and called his attention to a question which had been asked in the House of Commons while I was present the other day.

A member's inquiry was based on statements recently made by Viscount Halifax and the British ambassador to Spain. The envoys were said to have defined the issues of the war "as establishment of Christian civilization and Christian brotherhood."

The questioner asked whether in view of the fact that "millions of Jews, Hindus, Moslem Rationalists and Atheists are engaged in prosecuting the war" the government would indicate "that war and peace aims of the United Nations should be expressed in the broad and generally accepted terms of the Atlantic Charter and not as the exclusive concern of Christianity or any body or religious faith."

To this the undersecretary of foreign affairs replied:

"No, sir! though the Atlantic Charter remains the authoritative expression of the war aims of his Majesty's government, I think my honorable friend would admit that the charter falls within the broad principles of Christianity as would, I hope, any other aims to which his Majesty's government subscribe." Cheers greeted this answer.

Dr. Temple approached the subject with the remark that "Naziism is opposed to Christianity."

"It is an anti-Christian thing we are fighting," he said. "Naziism puts no limits to the state; that is to say, it makes it absolute. Christianity must resist that and insist that the state owes allegiance to God.

"Our civilization has many Christian features. The beliefs of civilized peoples are akin to Christianity though the ideas may have come from other religions. So we are fighting against an anti-Christian thing and for something which is in harmony with Christianity.

"However, we are not fighting for the Christian faith itself. Moslems, Hindus, Jews and followers of other religions are battling beside the Christians for civilization.

"To say, for instance, that we are fighting for the doctrines of the incarnation and the atonement would be nonsense."

The doctor's kindly, round face broke into a broad grin—and then, as was inevitable, he threw back his head and laughed and laughed.

It emphasized his point and you couldn't help laughing with him.

"In this ultimate sense of Christian faith it would be wrong to fight for it," Dr. Temple continued.

"You can't extend it by fighting. Missionaries must not fight.

"However, in this war, we are resisting an anti-Christian thing. We are keeping open the way of life that agrees with Christianity.

"We are fighting to give every man his chance. That is democracy. We are fighting for and that is part of practical Christianity."

Hitler as Anti-Christ

I asked his Grace if he regarded Hitler as anti-Christ. The primate nodded and then told a story which was new to me. It was this:

"I understand that when Hitler came to power he called in members of the churches for a conference. He told them that he did not want any trouble with them but that he regarded Christianity as a dying thing. He added: 'You go on, but don't interfere with me and I won't interfere with you.'

"Later, he encountered opposition, of which Rev. Martin Niemoeller is an outstanding example. Then the internment camps were filled with Christians.

"Hitler is out to destroy Christianity. Nazi leaders are definitely working for this goal and he fully acquiesces.

"He believes in a pantheistic super-human force which he calls God. To his mind the German race is the highest expression of this force.

"He gave an exhibition of his paganism when he delivered his eulogy at the funeral of Hindenburg. Hitler invited the spirit of the soldier-president to enter Valhalla. Well, Valhalla hardly fits in with the Christian conception of the hereafter."

Again the doctor broke into laughter. I wish the Fuehrer could have heard it.

Then arose the question of whether the Nazi all-highest must be removed from the picture in one way or another as soon as Germany has surrendered.

"I think so," said the archbishop. "But it may be difficult to hold trials which will give impartial justice.

"There is a danger of horrible massacres. Peoples may act against the quislings and the Nazis in the occupied countries and there may be such an outburst of passion that folks will recoil against any trial.

"That is, this may happen unless the Allies can act in time to prevent it. Christian influence must be thrown on the side of justice. There must be a period of policing of Germany and we must try to create a brotherhood.

"Of course, Prussianism must be coerced. Prussia is the only state in Europe which began as an army. The army became a state.

"But there is nothing biological in the influence that causes Prussianism. Not all Germans are bad Germans.

True, most of them do admire aggressiveness. They are easily regimented. They love the word 'Verboten' and take huge delight in pointing out innumerable 'Verboten' signs in their country to visitors. But they are not all bad."

So ended our chat.

His Grace the most Reverend Father in God, William, by Divine Providence Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England and metropolitan, accompanied your correspondent down the age-worn stairs to the great oaken door and offered to help me with my topcoat. That is the unpretentious and friendly sort of man the "Leftist" archbishop is.

'Raise' Cry Ends For War's Duration

have to make more than $67,000 a year to be affected by the $25,000 limitation.

Before reaching the $25,000 maximum, deductions are permitted for federal income taxes, "customary" charitable contributions, payments on life insurance policies and other fixed obligations in effect on October 3, 1942, and for past income taxes due.

The qualified freezing of salaries of $5,000 or less became effective yesterday and that of salaries of more than $5,000 was retroactive to October 3.

Increases may be granted automatically in these classifications in cases of individual promotions or reclassifications; individual merit increases within established salary rate ranges; operation of an established system of salary increases based on service; increased productivity under an incentive plan, and in the operation of a trainee system.

Even raises in these groups would be forbidden if they caused "any substantial increase of the level of costs or shall furnish the basis either to increase price ceilings of the commodity or service involved or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in such price ceilings."

Control of all wages and salaries not in excess of $5,000 was given to the War Labor Board in the case of employes represented by a labor organization or those not employed in an executive, administrative or professional capacity. The Treasury Department assumed jurisdiction over all other salaries.

The regulations covering salaries up to $5,000 do not apply to employers of eight persons or less. Similarly, the $25,000 limitation does not limit fees of doctors and lawyers unless they are retained by a corporation on a regular salary basis.

Home Defense

It is necessary for all connected with the defense set-up of the Fourth Ward to meet Thursday evening at eight o'clock at 239 Hasbrouck avenue, as well as all interested men and women.

Wardens are called to meeting in accordance with their duty through their oath of office. Interested citizens are welcome.

Matters of extreme importance such as the new "V Home" campaign, so vital to the war effort, and ordered by the State War Council; also, the scrap drive of the Fourth Ward week ending November 14, so vital to our war production; and the distribution of helmets and other equipment, the method of, etc., through the supply officer, your zone warden. Full cooperation of all is needed.

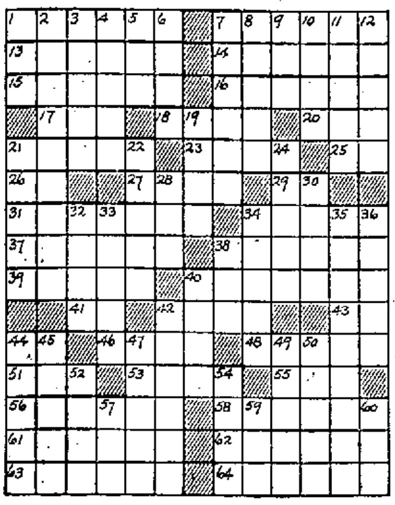
Solution Of Yesterday's Puzzle



But Why Wait?

Our comradeship shall earn renown in each and every section.
Of what great land; we'll go to town—after the next election!
We'll banish every wage dispute, each labor insurrection;
Our team-work will be absolute —after the next election!
We'll gain what we are fighting for, liberty's resurrection;
We'll really start to win this war —after the next election!

Hey, Voter! Do you like the way your country's being run?
Have you enough of liberty in all things—work and fun?
Or do you find you're handicapped by rules and laws and such;
And think some changes here and there would help you very much?
Remember this land's yours and mine; and it's a dog-gone shame
To tolerate what we don't like; that is—when we're to blame.
Our nation's one where voters rule; our weapons are elections.
If all is right, let's keep it so; if wrong, let's make corrections.

Willie—Hello! Why are you standing here in front of the office you got fired from last week? Waitin' to get taken back?

Jimmie — Not much! I just wanted to see if they was still in business.

"I can keep secrets. It's the people I tell them to who can't." Think it over.

"On Me Alone"

In January 1918, a young American who died in obedience to the command of his countrymen wrote the following words:

"America must win this war . . . therefore, I will WORK . . . I will SAVE . . . I will SACRIFICE . . . I will ENDURE . . . I will FIGHT cheerfully and do my utmost, as if the whole struggle depended on ME alone."

Could there be for every one of us a finer pledge of allegiance than this?

Parson—Brother Jones, does your daughter trust in God?

Brother J—She must—judging from the company she keeps.

An Irishman carrying a large sack of potatoes along a lonely road was overtaken by a man driving a horse and cart. The driver offered Pat a lift, which he glady accepted, but he still kept the sack of potatoes on his back. The driver told him to put them down in the cart.

"Sure", Pat replied. "I'm thankful for the lift ye gave me, but I don't want ye to be burdened with the taters as well."

After the clergyman with whom he was playing a round of golf had completely missed the ball several times, the late U. S. Supreme Court Justice John Marshall Harla looked intently in his fast-reddening face.

The Justice said quietly, "Reverend, it's the most profane silence I ever knew."

Training Courses In Machine Shop Work Are Given

Opportunities for young men and women between the ages of 16 and 25, regardless of draft classification, to secure training for jobs in war industry and be paid $25.60 a month while learning, are now available under the War Man Power Commission of the United States Government.

Herbert S. Bell, field interviewer of the War Man Power Commission, will be at the Municipal Auditorium on Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. to talk to any of Kingston's young men and women who are interested in war industry training. He will explain the course and make arrangements for entrance to the course.

The course now being given is primarily machine shop shoptraining and includes learning the operation and set-up of all types of lathes, milling machines, drill press and shaper. Welding is also offered in the courses along with instructions in reading various types of machine shop instruments such as calipers, scales and micrometers as well as elementary training in blue print reading.

The length of the course varies with the individual's ability to learn. Arrangements are made through the United States Employment Service to place youth in industry immediately upon conclusion of the training. It is expected that the Government will relocate youth in non-essential employment, to work directly concerned with the war effort. For this reason it is especially desirable for young people to begin training in war industry trade immediately and continue work in this field.

Girls especially are encouraged to take these courses, which lead to profitable employment, and at the same time make it possible to release men for the armed forces.

The courses are now being given at Poughkeepsie and arrangements have been made for free transportation of Kingston's youth to and from these classes by government bus. The bus leaves Monday through Friday at 7:15 a. m. from the Central Post Office, and at 7:30 from the downtown Youth Center at 97 Broadway.

Approximately 20 young men and women of Kingston are now taking the course at Poughkeepsie and several will be ready for employment within the next two weeks.

Those who are interested in securing this technical training are urged to be present at the Municipal Auditorium Friday afternoon, when refreshments will be served and Mr. Bell will answer all questions regarding the courses. Further information may be secured by calling the Department of Recreation, phone 1682.

'Snack Bars' Suggested

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Installation of "snack bars" in factories to provide quick pick-up foods, coupled with brief between-meal intermissions to enable workers to obtain additional nourishment will step up production of war goods, the New York Labor Department declares. Workers in New York plants are not getting enough of the proper foods, the department's industrial hygiene division reports after a survey of nearly 2,000 plants.

To Review Applications Of Farm Truck Owners

The Ulster County Farm Transportation Committee meets today to review applications of farmers for certificates of necessity for use of farm trucks.

The committee has around 45 applications to review. These are applications which the committee assisted in filling out, but according to Albert Kurdt, Farm Bureau manager, they represent only a small proportion of the several thousand farm-owned trucks.

Some farmers have sent their filled-out applications direct to the O.D.T. office in Detroit, but a large number have not even received application forms, as these forms, according to Mr. Kurdt, were not mailed to those who purchased new or used trucks since last winter, nor to the many farmers who have what are known as farm-license trucks.

Those who have not yet received applications are being advised to write at once to the Office of Defense Administration, Peekskill, and secure them, as they must have certificates of necessity to operate their trucks after November 15.

RECRUITS MEN FOR NAVY

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—Charles C. Head, who served in many parts of the world with the Army before retiring as a captain, has closed his little neighborhood grocery and is carrying on a one-man volunteer recruiting service —for the navy.

Enlistment posters have replaced the stock in his place of business. He uses his own automobile to visit young men and their families in spreading the gospel of navy service.

He began by signing up his son, Charles, Jr., when he returned from a year of army duty. Two grandsons also are in the nation's sea service.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—Persistent heaviness of the steel shares blocked early recovery efforts in the stock market today.

The list had a good sprinkling of plus signs through the first hour, with some of the gains running to a point or so. Most of these had been eliminated by midday on an increase in offerings and near the fourth hour fractional losses predominated. Several pivotals had fairly steep declines.

U. S. Steel slipped off more than a point and equally wide dips were traced by Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Chrysler, and U. S. Gypsum. Down fractions were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, duPont, Texas Co., Santa Fe Southern Railway and Southern Pacific.

Bonds were irregularly lower and commodities mixed.

Rules Against Actress

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 28 (AP)—Screen Actress Barbara Bennett's action in remarrying a few days after Tenor Morton Downey divorced her was an indication that she did not possess "mother love" and therefore she cannot have custody of their five children, ruled Superior Court Judge Edward J. Quinlan. Miss Bennett, he said in a decision handed down yesterday, "permitted volatile infatuation to be substituted for mother love."

The Fascist command said 53 British tanks were destroyed or captured and 22 R. A. F. planes shot down.

Solomon Islands—American forces blasting at Japan's huge sea armada were credited officially with sinking two more Japanese destroyers and damaging a battleship, a cruiser and another destroyer as the battle flamed over a widespread area of the 900-mile archipelago.

In Washington, President Roosevelt commented that he did not know whether he would use the adjective "decisive" in describing the South Seas conflict, while Navy Secretary Frank Knox declared:

"The navy has hit the enemy some savage blows and we have just begun to fight."

In land fighting on Guadalcanal, American troops were reported to have crushed a Japanese assault on the south flank and forced the enemy to retreat in "heavy fighting" on the west flank.

Night Attack

A navy communique said Japanese shock troops broke through the American south flank in a night attack, October 25-26, but were thrown back by regular U. S. Army troops who regained their lost positions.

U. S. Marines, who originally captured the prize Guadalcanal air base early in August, compelled the Japanese to withdraw on the west flank after holding firmly against a series of attacks unleashed by the enemy since last Friday.

On the basis of these reports, the all-out Japanese land offensive appeared to have made little headway.

Red Star said the Russians, charging over fir-clad slopes, broke through the German front line at night, stormed the hill and wiped out automatic riflemen on the peak with hand grenades.

"About three companies of Hitlerites were annihilated," the Soviet command reported.

In the 65-day-old siege of Stalingrad, Red Army headquarters said the Germans launched new mass attacks against the city's northern defenses—the sector of the "Red October" arms factory —but declared that wave after wave of Nazi shock troops faltered and broke under the fire of Soviet gunners.

More than 900 Germans were left dead on the battlefield and 11 Nazi tanks were destroyed.

The Russians acknowledged that German assault forces "at a cost of heavy losses succeeded in advancing two streets" inside Stalingrad, but reported that an enemy infantry battalion was wiped out and five tanks, 23 blockhouses and 40 trucks were destroyed.

On the Steppes northwest of the city, Soviet forces defending a recaptured village in the Volga-Don corridor were credited with killing 850 Axis troops and beating off a score of attacks in 24 hours.

New One-Minute Test Tells Allergy From CommonCold

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Writer)

St. Louis, Oct. 28—A dye which shows in a one-minute test whether a cold is true or false—that is, is it due to infection by common cold organisms or to irritations of allergy—was described today to the American Public Health Association.

The treatment for these two types of colds is different, and confusing them may do harm. The same dye test promises to be useful in diagnosing sinus trouble.

The report was delivered by Dr. French F. Hansel of St. Louis. He said that about 12 per cent of the children who have recurring chronic colds and bronchitis are affected with an allergy rather than an infection. Allergy is a sensitivity to a foreign substance.

Many unnecessary tonsil operations are performed on children whose allergic colds are mistakenly diagnosed. Allergy also is an important cause among persons suffering with chronic nasal and sinus troubles. It is thought to be an infection—and is theated accordingly.

The dye is used to stain a sample of a nasal discharge. A sample under a microscope discloses tiny particles. If the particles are germs which accompany a common cold, they stain blue. If they are particles due to an allergy, they turn red. Sometimes an apparent cold proves to be a mixture of a real cold and an allergy.

Doctor Hansel said about 10 per cent of the general population suffers from allergies. An additional 50 per cent has allergic attacks now and then. This is for all allergies, not merely colds.

He said that ragweed pollen, which the public regards as the only cause of hay fever, is probably the biggest cause of other allergies because these other troubles have a better chance to fasten themselves upon a person during a ragweed attack.

Ragweed sensitizes persons to other substances, he explained.

THOMAS E.
DEWEY'S
FARM AID PROGRAM

"1. On January 1, I shall take steps to set up an employment service, designed particularly to find and train workers for this State's farms. Farming is a skilled occupation. Thousands of skilled hands have already been lost. To meet that need we shall have to have replacement centers to train new farm workers.

"2. There is also need for organizing seasonal help for fruit and other crops. Last year the Republican Legislature, anticipating this wartime need, passed a bill permitting boys and girls to be excused from classes to work on the farms. That was a beginning, but much more can and will be done.

"3. In time of war we must be prepared to meet a breakdown of transportation. The men on the railroads and on trucks are working hard to keep up the flow of feed to the farm and food from the farm. That flow must be maintained. If a breakdown does occur, I will not hesitate to employ the whole fleet of State trucks, including those now lying idle, to maintain the line of supply.

"4. We will take every step to see that New York farmers get the farm machinery they need. New York's farmers, handicapped for years by low prices, have been unable in the past to buy enough equipment. Under any system of rationing this State needs strong representation to see that we get our share of the available machinery, according to the necessities of food production and not according to past purchases.

"5. Finally, if the problems of our farmers, including the special problem of getting and keeping skilled labor, do not receive adequate consideration in the national program, I will present the State's case with all the force needed to get it recognized."

Annual Bazaar Open At St. Peter's Church

The annual bazaar of St. Peter's Church was opened last evening in the school hall on Adams street. The bazaar will continue through Saturday of this week.

Among the booths are those for fancy articles, homemade foods, candy, religious articles and a children's corner. There will be entertainment and dancing each evening and refreshments will be served.

Quick-Finkbeiner

Saugerties, Oct. 28 — A pretty home wedding was held Saturday afternoon when Miss Muriel D. Finkbeiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Finkbeiner of Robinson street, became the bride of Vincent R. Quick of Kerhonkson. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John E. Greening, pastor of the Saugerties Baptist Church, and Mrs. Greening played the wedding march and sang. Miss Virginia Finkbeiner, a sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor and Francis Quick of Kerhonkson, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride following the ceremony, with guests present from Connecticut, Poughkeepsie, Saugerties, Maybrook and other nearby communities. Upon return from the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Quick will reside at Kerhonkson.

Mothers Entertain At St. Ursula's

Yesterday afternoon, the Mothers' Association of the Academy of St. Ursula entertained at tea in honor of the new mothers who have become members of the group this year. The new mothers were introduced by Mrs. Ralph Gardner, president of the association, and each was presented with a corsage.

A short musical program was given by Miss Patricia Scudder, violinist, accompanied by her father, Samuel Scudder. Miss Scudder played "Lustspiel Overture" by Keler Bela; "Adoration" by Felix Borowski; and "Mazurka" by Mlynarski. They also played while tea was being served.

The tea table was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and white candles. Those who assisted in pouring were Mrs. John Cordts, Sr., Mrs. Francis E. O'Connor, Mrs. Stanley Dempsey and Mrs. Lincoln Crosby.

Arrangements for the tea were made by Mrs. Bernard Forst, chairman; Mrs. Thomas Crowley, Mrs. John Van Gonsic, and Mrs. Harold Wilson.

Preceding the tea a short business meeting was conducted at which plans were started for a card party to be held in November. Officers of the association this year are Mrs. Ralph Gardner, president; Mrs. John Cordts, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Stanley Dempsey, treasurer; Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, secretary. The next meeting will be November 10.

Miss Merritt Gives Original Travelogue Skit at Sorosis

At the regular meeting of Sorosis, Monday afternoon, it was decided to assist at the Service Men's Center. The society met with Mrs. Clarence Dumm at her home, 4 Mountain View avenue.

Continuing with the study of "Our American Heritage" the members turned to the South at this meeting as Miss Lucinda Merritt gave a travelogue impersonation of a trip through the South starting from Washington, D. C. She wrote her paper in monologue form giving the conversation of a Southern gentleman guiding a Frenchman through the southern states. Along the way he would describe the country; people and several of the activities such as the Mardi Gras at New Orleans. From there the Frenchman traveled to Florida with an introduction to an Irish family. Before the end of the story, Miss Merritt had woven in a plot with the romance of the Frenchman for the daughter in the Irish family.

Next week the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, 7 Mountain View avenue, at 2:45 o'clock.

Surprise Birthday Party

A surprise birthday party was given last evening in honor of Walter Kieffer at his home on Bruyn avenue. He received several gifts including a large birthday cake. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Leo T. Arace, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dolan, Mrs. Walter Kieffer and daughter, Marion, and Mrs. M. Shader of Yonkers.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Schleicher of New York city announced the engagement of their daughter, Doris, to Arthur Umhay of Phoenicia at a party given at their home October 6.

Final Plans Made for Party Of Kingston Hospital Auxiliary

The card party and food sale sponsored by the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary will be held Friday afternoon, October 30, at 2:30 o'clock at the Nurses' Home on Broadway. Much enthusiasm has been shown according to reports made at the meeting held yesterday and a large attendance is expected. Players are asked to bring their own cards and all those who have obtained tables are asked to notify Mrs. Parker K. Brinnier. Those who wish to patronize the food sale but do not care to play cards may do so. The sale starts at 2 p. m.

Woman's Exchange Card Party

The annual card party for the benefit of the Women's Exchange will be held this year, Thursday, November 5, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Playing will start at 2 o'clock. A food table will be conducted by Mrs. David Burgevin. Reservations may be made by calling the Exchange, telephone 2221. Players are asked to bring cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Organtini will make their home at 10 St. James street.

Mozart's Opera Is Scheduled Monday

Mozart's enchanting comedy, "The Marriage of Figaro," will be presented here in English, Monday evening, November 2, at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Kingston High School, by the Nine O'clock Opera Company, a group of young American singing-actors whose first trans-continental tour of 75 appearances last season was one of the sensations of the concert world.

The performance is sung in a notable translation by the contemporary English librettist and critic, Edward Dent. This is the translation which Grove's authoritative "Dictionary of Music and Musicians" cerdits with having "set a new standard" in English translation of opera.

Since it was performed first in 1786, the opera buffa of Mozart's has been popular the world over. Such gems as Figaro's martial solo, "non piu andrai," Cherubino's flawless melody, "Voi Che Sapete" in Act 2, of Susanna's lovely aria: "Deh, vieni non tardar" in Act 4, are treasured by all great music lovers. Sung in English, however, "Figaro" is great comedy as well as great music. Its gay but complicated plot is made clear and good fun in a translation of wit and point. Non-essentials in the old-fashioned plot are eliminated, and the story is condensed. The bridge of 150 years is spanned by the narrator.

New York critics launched the production with an enthusiastic reception. Virgil Thompson wrote in the Herald Tribune, "It was really an opera, and the singers sang and acted like a real company of troupers who had been playing together more or less all their lives. Never have I seen an audience enjoy, never, have I myself enjoyed 'Figaro' with such whole hearted gusto."

The opera is the first of this season's Cooperative Concerts.

Bride-Elect Honored

A surprise shower was given in honor of Miss Alice Sicrist of Tillson, at the home of Miss Evelyn Modest of New York city. The rooms were decorated in blue and white, and the bride-elect received many gifts.

Road to Victory Is Long, Hard, Says Knox in Navy Talk

Country Is Rising to Huge Military Strength, but We Must Prepare for More Sacrifice

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox says this country is rising unyieldingly to a military strength that assures victory, but that only a long, bloody, costly fight will produce that victory.

"We have a long and agonizing road ahead of us," Knox told some 3,000 persons at a Navy Day dinner last night. " . . . the relentless vice of war will squeeze us tighter and tighter. The price in blood and treasure will be staggering.

"We will suffer cruel losses . . . but we know now . . . that we are going to measure up to our destiny."

He declared that the navy had "hit the enemy some savage blows and we have just begun to fight," but said that while ships, planes and trained men were coming faster, the pace was not fast enough to do "properly our vast, world-wide job of patrolling, of escorting and of fighting on all the seas."

He asserted that when the United States reflected upon its troubles, it might also reflect on those of the enemy whose "sky is not so rosy as the fourth winter of his bid for the world sets in."

Knox said submarines had taken an "awful" toll of cargo ships and seamen, we had lost proud fighting ships and the enemy had pushed us back to the waters of Australia and the banks of the Volga.

"But," he added, "the picture is changing now."

He said more than 500,000 men were overseas and millions more were in training, and that navy personnel had more than doubled.

"We are marshaling our manpower to the last man," he continued. "We are marshaling our economic power to the last dollar and our materials to the last pound of metal.

"We have converted the greatest peaceful industrial plant of all time into the greatest arsenal of all time. We will produce more munitions and construction for war purposes in 1943 than the total production for all purposes in 1940."

He declared that after the war "we must for our security insist upon the maintenance of American naval power, at least during the transition period between the end of formal hostilities and until effective means of preventing war have been established and proven."

Students Are Vaccinated Against Smallpox

Twenty-two students in the Kingston High School and the Myron J. Michael School were vaccinated against smallpox this morning by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer. The pupils were vaccinated in the rooms of the health board in the city hall.

Dr. Sanford said that shortly he would call at the grade schools and vaccinate the children, whose parents had signed the consent slips that had been distributed in the schools.

The health officer called attention to the fact that in 1940 there were 182 pupils in the high school and the Michael School who had been vaccinated, and in 1941, there had been 562 pupils in the grade schools vaccinated.

Dr. Sanford plans to vaccinate all children entering school for the first time each year, and by this plan it will be possible to have practically every school child vaccinated.

Troopers Still Are Busy Investigating Incident

State Police were still investigating the identity of a man found dead in a shack on the Milo Hepworth farm Monday. Coroner Jesse McHugh, who was called, said death was apparently caused by a heart attack. The man had been dead a couple of days when the body was discovered.

Trooper William Martin of Marlborough and Troopers John Metzer and L. Baker of the B. C. I. investigated the matter and sent out a description of the man. The man, apparently a wandering laborer, was between 60 and 65 years old, five feet seven inches tall and weighed about 130 pounds. He had brown hair, blue eyes and was partly bald. His clothing consisted of a blue shirt and blue overalls, brown work shoes. It is believed he entered the building on Saturday night to spend the night and died shortly thereafter. The body was taken in charge by H. S. Tuthill & Son Funeral Parlors at Marlborough.

Lowell Club Meets With Mrs. C. V. Gunther

Lowell Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. C. V. Gunther at her home on the Plank road. In both of the papers for the day the American Indians were the main topics.

Mrs. W. D. Delaplane reviewed the synopsis of "Yemasses" by William Gilmore Sims which had been prepared by Mrs. James Guttridge. Treatment of the Indians by the Colonists was reported by Mrs. William Fessenden. She added a sketch of the dealings between William Penn and the Indians in Pennsylvania as a contrast to those in most of the other colonies.

Next week the club will meet with Miss Mary E. Hale, 13 Orchard street.

Dysentery Carrier Banned, Tests for Milk Discussed

Stated That Cows Whose Milk Is Sold Here Be Examined at Closer Intervals

High bacteria count in the milk consumed in Kingston during the past summer, and the banning of an eight-year-old dysentery carrier from the public schools of the city, were the principal topics discussed at the monthly meeting of the Board of Health on Tuesday afternoon.

Following the meeting the board went into executive session to consider the milk question here.

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, reported that the boy, a dysentery carrier, had been banned from attending school by the education authorities after parents of other children had raised objections to their children coming in contact with the boy.

The health officer said that while the boy was being kept out of school he had been treating him in an effort to cure him of being a carrier.

The discussion on the milk situation followed the reading of a report made by Dr. Fred Voss, a member of the milk committee of the board, of a special meeting held by the committee with state health department officials when the situation was discussed at length.

Dr. Voss said that the statement was made at the meeting that cows whose milk was sold in Kingston should be examined at closer intervals than at present when the herds are tested once a year.

The opinion was also expressed that more tests should be made of milk both raw and after it was pasteurized. Dr. Voss said that in order to take care of this additional work it might be necessary to furnish more assistance to Dr. Harold Clarke, the board's milk inspector.

After the reading of Dr. Voss's minutes of the committee meeting, Mayor William F. Edelmuth, who presided at the board session, directed that an executive session of the board be held to consider at length the milk question.

Reports of the officers of the board showed that there had been 88 births and 41 deaths reported in the city during September, as compared with 67 births and 56 deaths in September of last year.

During September there had been four cases of chickenpox, 14 of whooping cough, one of typhoid fever and five of pneumonia reported in the city.

Lieut. Mitchell Dies Of Rare Blood Disease

Pine Camp, N. Y. Oct. 28 (AP)—Lieut. John Lendrum Mitchell, 22, son of the late Brig. Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell, prophet of modern aerial warfare, died last night after a three weeks' illness with a rare blood disease.

At his bedside was his mother, Mrs. Franklin F. Korell, Alexandria, Va.

Capt. Irving E. Pugh, army public relations officer, made the announcement.

Mitchell entered the army infirmary about three weeks ago. Mrs. Rose McMullin of Philadelphia, known as the "woman of the golden blood" because of her recovery from a comparatively rare streptococcus aureus, gave a transfusion last week-end.

Mitchell, a native of Washington, D. C., enlisted in 1940 at Milwaukee where an airfield was being dedicated to the memory of his father, and was graduated from the officer's training school at Fort Knox last summer. He served in the tank corps.

Besides his mother, Mitchell leaves two sisters, Mrs. Harriet Anderson, wife of Commander Paul R. Anderson of the navy, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell of Alexandria.

Grand Larceny Charge

Frank Saniccola, 30, whose home is at Tucker's Corners and who has been working in the grape juice factory at Highland was arrested Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Jacob DeWitt on a bench warrant charging grand larceny in the second degree. He was held at the county jail pending arraignment before County Judge J. Edward Conway.

Good Taste Today

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

It is never considered necessary to tell the mothers of young children that they too will be welcome at the party if they choose to come. In other words it is taken for granted that someone will come with the children. This may be the mother; it may be another member of the family, or it may be a nurse. This answers the following letter:

"I would very much like to give a birthday party for our young child. This means having to invite someone older to come with the children because they are all too young to go to parties alone. Some of these little friends are looked after by their mothers; others have nurses. Shall I invite the mothers in all cases?"

In further answer, although several mothers may arrange together to have one take two or three children, you should count on as many older people as on children. Usually, but not always, this means that they will be offered ice cream and cake or whatever you are having for refreshments.

Substantial Buffet Collation

Dear Mrs. Post: May a substantial buffet collation be served at a wedding reception in the middle of the afternoon? Many of our relatives will be arriving from out of town and going back the same day, which is why we are having the wedding early. Because of the distances from which many of these people come, mother thought more substantial food should be served. On the other hand, it may be out of place to serve a meal at such an hour.

Answer: Very substantial collations have been conventional for generations. It is only lately when everything has grown simpler, and especially since the beginning of the war, that refreshments have been very light. You can with perfect propriety serve bouillon or any other soup that you prefer in cups, have chicken croquettes with celery salad, ice cream and coffee, as well as the sandwiches and cakes and punch or champagne you would otherwise have.

Tipping

Dear Mrs. Post: The total cost of my wedding reception, which is to be held in a private dining-room of a local hotel will be about $150. Besides the head waiter there was a young woman with whom I made the arrangements. What shall be allowed for tipping and to whom is this given and how many of these people should it include?

Answer: You give the young woman with whom you made the arrangements $15 (in other words, 10 per cent) and tell her to apportion it for you.

Kit Bag Fund Has Only Reached Its One-Third Mark

An announcement from the Ulster county headquarters of the American Red Cross reveals that only a third of the necessary fund to provide the 1,800 kit bags needed for the armed forces, has been received.

"We need about $3,500 to make these kit bags," stated a local Red Cross official, "and we have to depend on voluntary contributions. So far we have only about one third of the amount and we cannot go forward with the production of these kit bags until we have the money to order the necessary materials and merchandise."

A total of $1,061.13 has been received at the Red Cross office, 237 Fair street, Kingston. Contributions from all interested persons are requested. Donors may mail or leave their contribution at 237 Fair street, marked for the Kit Bag Fund.

Van Demark Body Found by Smith

B.W.S. Employe Discovers Corpse in Reservoir; Verdict Is Given

The body of Elmer Van Demark, 63-year-old Tabasco resident who met death on September 27 when a car which he was driving went off the road at Cold Brook into the flood waters of the Esopus creek, was recovered shortly after 9 a. m. yesterday in the Ashokan reservoir a short distance west of the point where the bodies of the two other victims were recovered some time ago.

Smith was cruising alone in the Board of Water Supply boat which has been patroling the reservoir shoreline since the accident when he discovered the body of Mr. Van Demark floating off shore above the spot where the bodies of Miss Mary Terwilliger, 70, a sister-in-law, and that of his wife, Mrs. Amelia Van Demark, 62, were recovered. The scene was about opposite the "Weidner Point."

The body was brought to shore and Smith notified the Department of Water Supply and the sheriff's office was called. Under Sheriff Stanley Winne went to the scene after calling Coroner Frank J. McCardle of Rosendale.

On Sunday afternoon, September 27, the three people left home to go to Andes to see about canary birds. On the way home the Chevrolet coupe went into the Esopus creek at the Cold Brook turn just west of the Winne Garage after the driver apparently lost control on the curve and sideswiped another car which was proceeding west. After striking the car the Chevrolet car crashed through the guard rail and plunged into the swollen creek. The driver of the other car left his machine and attempted to follow the car down stream but lost sight of it as it was sinking slowly beneath the water. State Police at Phoenicia were summoned and a search was started for the car.

For days Sheriff Anderson had men searching the stream and upper end of the reservoir. State Police and Forest Rangers continued the search and B. W. S. police took up the search in the Ashokan after pieces of the car had been recovered. High water prevented the search from meeting with much success for a few days but as the water cleared and the stream dropped every hole in the creek and the open end of the Ashokan were inspected. Several pieces of the car were recovered and searchers found a bird cage with a dead canary in it.

On October 6 while Lieut Edward Schwall and Harold "Chick" Smith were searching on the west bank of the reservoir near the Brodhead shore the body of Mrs. Van Demark was found floating near shore. Later the same boat came on the body of Miss Terwilliger on October 11 when Smith discovered the second body.

Since then State Police and Deputy Sheriffs have been searching the water without avail. It was believed the body of Mr. Van Demark must be caught in the car and Sheriff Anderson finally decided to call his men from the job. State Police also gave up the search but the Department of Water Supply continued the search from the boat in which Smith operated. Tuesday that search produced the third body.

Car Is Not Located

The car has not been located as yet although there has been located a large object which is lodged in about fifteen feet of water and which may be the car. Grappling hooks which were used by the sheriff's men have repeatedly failed to bring the object to the surface.

Coroner McCardle went to the scene and after an examination rendered a verdict of accidental death by drowning. The body was turned over to the Pulling Funeral Home of Ellenville, after identity had been established. On the body was found a gold open face Standard watch which had stopped at 5 o'clock, indicating the time of the accident, a fountain pen, three $10 bills folded in the pocket, a gold band wedding ring and a pair of glasses. Although the body had been in the water a month today it was not in a bad state of preservation and was fully clothed when found.

Held for Hearing

Frank Smith, 34, cook, of 63 North Front street, reported intoxicated near Jump's gas station, Esopus, Tuesday afternoon, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Herbert Segelken and committed to the county jail pending a hearing before Justice John O. Beaver.

Forty Hours' Devotion Ends at St. Mary's

A large congregation attended the closing service of the Forty Hours' Devotion held Tuesday evening at St. Mary's Church. The exercises were presided over by the Very Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, P.R., V.F., pastor of the church. Many clergy from neighboring churches attended as did several of the Redemptorist Fathers from Mt. St. Alphonsus.

Following the chanting of the litany, a solemn procession was held through the church aisles with the men of the parish acting as a guard of honor for the Blessed Sacrament. They were followed by the acolytes and clergy. The exercises closed with solemn benediction, the celebrant being the Right Rev. Msgr. John J. Stanley of New York, a former pastor of St. Mary's. He was assisted by the Rev. Lawrence Ryan of Hartsdale, N. Y., and the Rev. Edmund Nilan of Ellenville. The Rev. Peter J. Fox and the Rev. John J. Drew, assistants at St. Mary's, acted as masters of ceremonies. St. Mary's male choir rendered the musical part of the service in a splendid manner under the direction of the choir director, Ted Riccobono.

Best Costumes Are To Receive Prizes

Costumes Will Be Judged at Gala Halloween Party

Five cash prizes will be awarded to the best costumed people at the city-wide Halloween celebration to be held in the Municipal Auditorium Saturday night, October 31, under the joint supervision of the Department of Recreation and the American Legion. The prizes are being donated by the local post of Forty and Eight.

The awards will be made by three judges who will judge the costumes in three different divisions. First, there will be a prize for the best patriotic costume. The remaining prizes will be divided between adults and children, with two adults and two children receiving prizes for the best costumes. Judges for the costume parade will be Miss Dorothy Lowe, Girls' Reserve secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Bert Tandy, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Nelson Snyder of the Forty and Eight.

The costume prize judging will be only one of the great features of the big Halloween celebration in which all children and adults of the city have been invited to participate. In addition to this, there will be the big parade, Halloween stunts, special entertainment, and eight reels of talking pictures.

Majors May Split Loops Into Two Groups During 1943 According to Plan

Giants, Dodgers, Yanks Would Be in League; Clubs Must Solve Railroad Problem

A new plan, whereby major League teams will be divided into two groups as the Eastern and Western Division, may be offered at the December meetings of the two circuits in Chicago. This plan would be in connection with the present emergency and will be presented in the hope of continuing the big leagues next season.

Should this radical co-operative plan by the two leagues be put into effect, the Eastern Division, or whatever name is selected for it, would be composed of the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox, Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators of the American League and the New York Giants, Boston Braves, Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phils of the National League.

The Western Division would be composed of the Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns and the Chicago White Sox of the American League and the Cincinnati Reds, Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

Executive Gives Plan

This plan was announced by a major league executive who didn't wish to be quoted, but remarked, "at the moment it is just something that we are thinking about. And we must think of something because, after all, the thing that is most likely to cripple us next year is the lack of transportation facilities to move the Eastern teams into the West and the Western clubs into the East."

Of course, this wouldn't be a permanent arrangement. It may be just for a year until the emergency is cleared up to some degree. The speaker, who was asked that the idea might not go in cities where two teams operated said, "I think for a year anyway there would be increased interest in a 22-game series between the Yankees and Dodgers, the Yanks and Giants, Cards and Browns, Braves and Red Sox, and other two-team city clubs. And certainly such series would solve our present transportation problem."

It was also announced that the player limit will likely be reduced for the duration. The majors could operate with 320 players. Regardless of their age, they could carry on the American tradition of recreation. President Roosevelt said this last year in a letter to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis when he put the green light on for the 1942 season. He said that there would be older players participating in the sport but he figured that the veterans could give the fans good baseball and a good form of recreation.

Will Have Players

Continuing with his idea of this new plan to aid the present questionable 1943 baseball season, the executive declared, "I think we will be able to have enough players next year but I don't think the teams will be able to do the traveling by railroad that was necessary under our age-old form of schedule. To overcome this difficulty, which appears right now as the chief difficulty, I think that the club owners, to keep their parks open and at least pay their taxes, may consider a closer co-operation for the good of the whole, and for a year at least, group all of the Eastern teams in one league and all the Western teams in another.

Needless to say, this is a radical idea but the war forms radical plans and thus some other means to hold the 1942 baseball season together must be made. Baseball in its usual form is out for the present and such a division of Eastern and Western teams represents a sound plan to continue this great national pastime.

Ohio State After Sixth Victory in Row on Saturday

Buckeyes and Badgers Might Play Before a Sell-Out Crowd in Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28 (AP)—There is no old oaken bucket or little brown jug at stake in Wisconsin's homecoming battle with Ohio State here Saturday but the contest between the undefeated elevens packs plenty of box office punch in other ways.

Those who have been lucky enough to get pasteboards—the ticket office expects a near sell-out—may see in action the new western conference titleholder or even the next mythical national champion.

Ohio State, unbeaten and untied in five games this season, has been parked in the number one spot on the Associated Press' nation's honor grid list for the past three weeks while Wisconsin, with five victories and a tie with Notre dame, is in sixth place.

The game, which the supercharged Buckeyes are favored to win, has a two-for-the-price of one attraction for a thrifty grid fan.

In action on the field at the same time will be Ohio State's Gene Fekete, fullback, and Badger Halfback Elroy Hirsch, two of the foremost sophomore backfield men in the country. Fekete so far has piled up eight touchdowns and 12 extra points for a total of 60. Hirsch has tallied five times and pitched one scoring aerial. For good measure there are Badger Fullback Pat Harder, leading Big Ten scorer and ground gainer last year, and Buckeye Halfback Paul Sarringhaus, who skipped through the Northwestern Wildcats for two markers last Saturday.

If the superstitious want to make anything of it, this game will mark the thirteenth meeting of the teams. Ohio State has won six, Wisconsin four and two ended in ties. The last Badger victory was in 1918, during the first World War and Wisconsin fans are hoping for history to repeat itself.

The Badgers scored 34 points in last year's contest, enough to win two ordinary games, but the Buckeyes ran up 46 to whip them.

Out of this game of the week may come the coach of the year. On benches on opposite sides of the field will sit two former high school quarterbacks who grew up in Masillon, Ohio. The Buckeyes' Paul Brown bounded from a high school coaching job to boss at Ohio State. Harry Stuhldreher, the Badgers' tutor, went up via Notre Dame and the Four Horsemen.

Only sure thing about the game is that Masillon can't lose.

By Harold Claassen

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—If you have been wondering how the U. S. Military Academy could lose 34 of the 44 members on its football squad of a year ago and still approach the coming November with an unbeaten eleven, perhaps this will help you . . . Bud Troxell, the cadet fullback, played for Dartmouth last season . . . Substitute halfback Bob Woods was a first stringer at Navy last fall before plunking out and winning a West Point appointment . . . and Francis Merritt, sophomore tackle, was a sensation as a Fordham frosh in 1940.

Perhaps even Connie Mack has forgotten that he coached the champion pro football team of the state of Pennsylvania in 1902. When the Philadelphia National League baseball club sponsored a pro eleven in 1901, the Athletics retaliated the next season with a club and Mack as coach.

The Mackmen walloped the Phils and then went to Pittsburgh for the state title game. It ended in a tie but on the following Sunday the Athletics won, 12 to 6.

Connie had his gridders warm up for the Pittsburgh scrap by playing at Elmira on Friday, another game on Saturday. They cooled off with a fourth game in four days at Williamstown on Monday.

It was when the Monday gate promised to be small that Mack sent his star baseball pitcher, Rube Waddell, to parade the town wearing a placard. Waddell visited the high school during the noon hour and approximately a thousand students missed school that afternoon.

Skip Palrang, head coach at Creighton University, wound up his skull practice for quarterbacks with the ever present question: "It is third down and one to go, what would you do?"

Ten minutes after the session, Palrang went out to his car and found his third flat tire within a trio of days. Just then the quarterback contingent walked by.

"OK, Coach," said one signal caller, "that's your third down. Now tell us what you are going to do."

Freeman League Scores

With Roland Post and Johnny Slizewski giving series of 474 and 451 Team No. 2 continued to hold a comfortable lead on the first place spot in the Freeman Bowling League this week by whipping Team No. 3 in three straight games. Post came through with scores of 148, 166 and 160 while Slizewski had 138, 154 and 159. Jack Hartman of the losers featured with a high single and high triple of 184 and 490 but his marks failed to bring his team through.

Tuesday night at the Immanuel alleys Team No. 1 forged into second place by winning two games from No. 4, handicapped by two blind scores. Walter Kirchofer blasted out a 193 single and 524 triple for the winners. His other marks were 147 and 184. Milfred Buddenhagen sparked the losers with a 443 series on a string of 163, 173 and 137.

So far the draft and through enlistments the league has lost the services of Andy Campbell, Bob Saehloff, Don Hyatt and Ken Roosa. Campbell and Saehloff are already in service while Hyatt leaves Saturday and Roosa next Monday.

The standing to date:

Team No. 2	11	4	.733
Team No. 1	7	8	.467
Team No. 3	6	9	.400
Team No. 4	6	9	.400

Robinson Collects 609

George Robinson captured high single and high triple honors in the Central Rec League last night at the Recreation alleys as he blasted out a sensational 609 triple and a power-laden 233 single for the Ulsters who won three from Dawkins. Robinson's other scores were 214 and 162. Lou Guadagnola had a 564, Costello 552 and Ernie Magnusson 518 for Ulsters. Jack Dawkins' 544 was tops for the losers.

Joe Dulin and Avery sparked Hercules to two wins over the Astors with triples of 574 apiece. Avery poured out a neat 231 single. Dulin had a 214 solo. Dixon's 561 topped the Astors. His 224 was high for the club. Fassbender had a 201 single Although Hurry Smith captured a 224 and 587 honors for Vining and Smith that club dropped two games to the Sangis' bowlers. Smith's other scores were 189 and 174. Joe Messinger had a 222 single. Orv Van Alstyne's 553 was high for the winners. He also had a 212 single game.

Winne's 210 single and 585 triple paced the Crystals to two wins over the Gov. Clintons. Joe Hoffman had a 546 series while Hod Spaulding came on with a 511. Cunningham's 545 paced the Clintons.

Catholic League

A new high single was established for the Catholic League last night when Frank Nerone of St. Colmans blasted out a powerful 240 as the Flatbushers won three on forfeit from the Presentations. Charlie Tiano's 565 took high triple honor. Nerone had a 547 series.

Walt Petersen's 203 and 525 sparked the Holy Name but not enough to trim St. Joseph's who won two games. W. Reis had a 479 for the winners.

High School League

Secretary Joe Schiavone's report of the Kingston High School bowling matches at the Central Recreation alleys Tuesday afternoon disclose that the Devil Dogs and Yankees are in a tie for first place with six wins in as many games. The Flying Fortresses, Reds, Spitfires and Eagles are tied for the next slot with five triumphs in six starts.

The Devil Dogs captured three in a row from the Thunderbolts yesterday with T. Amato banging out a 277 double. The Devil Dogs won the third game on forfeit. Amato posted scores of 141 and 136. S. Werbolowsky had 239 for the losers.

A. Werbalowsky and Dick Howard registered triples of 407 for the Spitfires and Dodgers respectively but the former team won two games. Werbalowsky had a high 154 single game.

With Joe Schiavone pouring out a 165 single and 488 triple the Fortresses won all three from the Hurricanes. Short had a 339 score for the losing bowlers.

L. Bruno's 424 paced the Reds to two triumphs over the Senators. He had a high single of 157 with other scores of 137 and 130. A. Smith posted 165 for the Senators.

The Tigers won three from the Cardinals on forfeit. T. Albany registered a 458 series for the winners while Fred Schryver had a high 160 single.

Another forfeit resulted in three wins for the Eagles over the Mustangs. W. Vining had a 448 triple for the Eagles while also coming through with a neat single of 164.

The final match found the Yankees, in their usual style, except for the World Series, winning three straight decisions from the Rangers. Carl Wiebke's 465 triple and 162 single did the trick. Del Pritchard had 384 for the losers.

DUSO League Grid Games In Spotlight This Week; Odds on Middies and Port

Johnny Bateman Warns M. H. S. of Kingston; Tri-Staters Favorite Over Newburgh

The second big DUSO League football menu is slated for Saturday afternoon with all four contestants seeing action. Kingston High School will travel to Middletown and Bill Elder's Newburgh Free Academy eleven will be guests at Port Jervis.

On the basis of season play to date the powerful Middletown Middies, coached by Johnny Bateman and Al Chase's surprising Port Jervis aggregation will be favorites to win and continue their undivided supremacy for the 1942 gridiron crown.

At this writing it appears as though a perfect game will be scheduled for Thanksgiving Day to decide the pennant winner between Middletown and Port Jervis. Nothing except a miracle will change the outlook for these two aspirants.

Middies Are Warned

Like Poughkeepsie High School last week, Johnny Bateman, former Columbia University player, has warned his perhaps over-confident Middletown squad about holding Kingston in too little regard. Middletown is expected to have an easy time with Coach Ted Conwicke's lads but Bateman, realizing what the Maroons did to Poughkeepsie in that first half last week, isn't taking any chances.

Yesterday Bateman put his Middletown charges through a long drill in the high school gymnasium which proves that he isn't taking the Maroons too lightly. He's also warned his players to keep on the alert. He received word that Kingston looked pretty good against the Kallochmen for awhile last Saturday and with Poughkeepsie a 14-0 winner over Middletown, it's quite positive that Bateman will not leave any stones unturned in his quest for this important league victory.

Meanwhile, Coach Conwicke is giving his Maroons daily drills in hopes of improving some weak points which were noticeable in Saturday's second half play. The first half was satisfactory. The squad is still waiting for good news from Lee Boice whether he'll be ready for action or not. Kingston could give the Middies a pretty good battle providing a competent passer and pass receiver could be found by game time Saturday.

Port Is Favorite

At Chase's strong Port Jervis team, competitors in two games, is undefeated, untied and unscored upon which proves that the Port outfit has something on the ball this year. Before its tussle with Kingston, Port was considered just another ball club. However, that 39 to 0 rout made the experts change opinions of the Chasemen.

Although Liberty and Kingston can hardly be called tough opponents for Port Jervis, the Chase-coached squad at this moment stands as a direct threat to unseat Middletown as the DUSO league king. Featuring a good running attack in Lynch and Adams, Port will be a tough team Saturday against Newburgh. Barring an upset, Port should give Middletown a run for its money also on Turkey Day.

Newburgh, on the other hand, has been about as much disappointment to its fans as Kingston. Newburgh has lost to Middletown, North Tarrytown and Ossining, all pretty good stickers. The N. F. A. squad had Middletown on the run until the last few minutes of the ball game when the Middies finally woke up and went on to score a couple of touchdowns to breeze in.

Everything points to a No. 2 Thanksgiving Day clash this year. Middletown and Port Jervis, providing they win Saturday, will enter the Turkey Day clash with two victories apiece. Kingston engages Newburgh at the Hilly City and providing the odds are true to form Saturday, they'll both have two losses apiece when game time rolls around. There should be some consolation gained in that struggle between these two down-trodden clubs. However, football is a funny game and funny things can happen. All of the above is mere pregame thinking, not actual results so it would be a wiser thing to wait until next Sunday to think about the forthcoming DUSO League finals on Thanksgiving Day than to voice any harsh predictions at this time.

Roosevelt Explains Atlantic Charter

Declares It Applies to All Nations in Reply to Willkie's Speech

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—The world had President Roosevelt's renewed assurance today that the Atlantic Charter "applied to all humanity."

It became known as the "Atlantic Charter," the President explained at yesterday's press conference, because the Atlantic Ocean was the scene of the 1941 meeting at which it was promulgated by himself and Prime Minister Churchill.

Mr. Roosevelt authorized reporters to quote him directly to lend emphasis to his reply to Wendell Willkie's assertion Monday night that many people of Asia and eastern Europe were bewildered and anxious about America's war aims and were asking: "What about a world charter?"

The charter declares among other things that the signatory governments, which include Russia and China and all the other United Nations, "respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them."

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK BY THE GRACE OF GOD FREE AND INDEPENDENT

TO—

ADOLF GRAF FINCK VON FINCKENSTEIN, Teichwalde Mark uber, Crosser Oder Land, Germany

EDITHA ELIZABETH FINCK VON FINCKENSTEIN, Teichwalde Mark uber, Crosser Oder Land, Germany

The distributees, next of kin and heirs at law of ELISABETH GRAFIN FINCK VON FINCKENSTEIN, deceased, SEND GREETING:

WHEREAS, KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY, of Kingston, New York, as Administrator c. t. a., of the Estate of Elisabeth Grafin Finck von Finckenstein, deceased, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of the County of Ulster for authority as said Administrator c. t. a. to sell the interest in real estate of which said Elisabeth Grafin Finck von Finckenstein died seized and possessed, described in the petition filed herein as follows:

All that tract or parcel of land known as part of Lot 9 in Cosby Manor, City of Utica, County of Oneida, State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the division line between Lot 9 and Lot 8, Cosby Manor, where said division line is intersected by the southwesterly appropriation line of the Barge Canal lands of the State of New York; thence S. 65° 52' E. 893.8 feet along said appropriation line to the division line between said Lot 9 and Lot 10; thence S. 31° 08' W. 2186.8 feet along said division line to the northeasterly boundary of a strip of land, appropriated from Anna T. Pratt by the State of New York for widening the right of way of the Adirondack Division of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R.; thence N. 22° 06' W. 1219.7 feet along the boundary of said strip to the division line between Lots 9 and 8; thence N. 30° 43' E. 1335.6 feet along said division line to the place of beginning; containing 37.3 acres more or less.

Also all that other part of said Lot 9 bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the division line between Lot 9 and Lot 10 where said division line is intersected by the southwesterly boundary of the right of way of the Adirondack Division of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R.: thence S. 31° 08' W. 900 feet more or less along said division line to the northerly bank of the Mohawk River; thence southwesterly 1680 feet more or less along the bank of said River as it winds and turns to the division line between said Lot 9 and Lot 8; thence N. 30° 43' E. 2525 feet more or less along said division line to the southwesterly boundary of land appropriated by the State of New York; thence S. 26° 34' E. 391.6 feet along said boundary line to a point in the southwesterly boundary of said railroad right of way; thence S. 22° 06' E. 805.0 feet along said boundary to the place of beginning; containing 38.0 acres of land more or less. Excepting from said parcel a right of way of the Utica Gas & Electric Company adjoining the northeasterly boundary of said parcel and a second right of way of said Utica Gas & Electric Company crossing said parcel northerly of the Mohawk River, as shown on map made by John E. Foote, Surveyor, dated July 23, 1942.

Therefore, you and each of you are cited to show cause before the Surrogate's Court of our County of Ulster, City of Kingston, New York, on the 9th day of November, 1942, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why an order should not be made, authorizing Kingston Trust Company as Administrator c. t. a. of the Estate of Elisabeth Grafin Finck von Finckenstein, deceased, to sell said interest in said real estate of which said Elisabeth Grafin Finck von Finckenstein died seized and possessed, to William OR. Hayes, of Utica, New York, in consideration of the Sum of $100.00 said purchase price being set forth in an agreement of option referred to in the petition filed in this proceeding.

[L. S.] IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of Ulster to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS, HON. HARRY H. FLEMMING, Surrogate of our said County the 2nd day of October, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty Two.

Canterbury Fears Anglo-U. S. Amity Might Be Cooled

upon the resignation of Dr. Cosmo Lang.

What I really called on the archbishop for was to get his views on the delectable subject of hanging Hitler and whether the Allies were fighting this war for Christianity—a matter of some debate in England.

The question of the "leftist" movement just cropped up incidentally.

Social Change Emphasized

I'm glad this angle did appear because it emphasizes what a lot of people fail to realize—that not only Britain but the United States and many other countries are undergoing a great social revolution which is being spurred on by the war.

As I travel about and meet great leaders like Dr. Temple I increasingly encounter this "leftist" drift.

Last week I told you about Sir Stafford Cripps, the so-called extremist who may one day be prime minister of England. His views seem to fit the temper of Britons. And there are many other distinguished figures, some of them men of great wealth whose names I have no permission to mention here.

The archbishop received me in his official London home, ancient Lambeth Palace, against which snuggled the Church of St. Mary, whose written history runs back 900 years and there loses trail. Both palace and church have suffered heavily from Hitler's hate but they still serve those who seek guidance.

Dr. Temple is a grand fellow to meet. Should that seem a shockingly undignified way to speak about the primate of all England (and it probably is), my reply is that I'm trying to introduce you to one of the "regulars." If you could experience his delightfully friendly personality and see him throw back his head in peals of schoolboy laughter, you would understand what I mean.

He is the sort of chap I'd like to go fishin' with and as a dyed-in-the-wool fisherman, that's the highest compliment I can pay him.

He looks well in his black breeches, gaiters and knee-length frock coat, but I'd like to see him in an old tweed suit up on Moosehead Lake in Maine with a fly rod in his hand.

The archbishop installed me in a big tapestry covered armchair in his old-world study, settled himself comfortably in another antique and smilingly invited me to shoot. I raised the query of whether we are fighting for Christianity and called his attention to a question which had been asked in the House of Commons while I was present the other day.

A member's inquiry was based on statements recently made by Viscount Halifax and the British ambassador to Spain. The envoys were said to have defined the issues of the war "as establishment of Christian civilization and Christian brotherhood."

The questioner asked whether in view of the fact that "millions of Jews, Hindus, Moslem Rationalists and Atheists are engaged in prosecuting the war" the government would indicate "that war and peace aims of the United Nations should be expressed in the broad and generally accepted terms of the Atlantic Charter and not as the exclusive concern of Christianity or any body or religious faith."

To this the undersecretary of foreign affairs replied:

"No, sir! though the Atlantic Charter remains the authoritative expression of the war aims of his Majesty's government, I think my honorable friend would admit that the charter falls within the broad principles of Christianity as would, I hope, any other aims to which his Majesty's government subscribe." Cheers greeted this answer.

Dr. Temple approached the subject with the remark that "Nazi-ism is opposed to Christianity."

"It is an anti-Christian thing we are fighting," he said. "Naziism puts no limits to the state; that is to say, it makes it absolute. Christianity must resist that and insist that the state owes allegiance to God.

"Our civilization has many Christian features. The beliefs of civilized peoples are akin to Christianity though the ideas may have come from other religions. So we are fighting against an anti-Christian thing and for something which is in harmony with Christianity.

"However, we are not fighting for the Christian faith itself. Moslems, Hindus, Jews and followers of other religions are battling beside the Christians for civilization.

"To say, for instance, that we are fighting for the doctrines of the incarnation and the atonement would be nonsense."

The doctor's kindly, round face broke into a broad grin—and then, as was inevitable, he threw back his head and laughed and laughed.

It emphasized his point and you couldn't help laughing with him.

"In this ultimate sense of Christian faith it would be wrong to fight for it," Dr. Temple continued. "You can't extend it by fighting. Missionaries must not fight.

"However, in this war, we are resisting an anti-Christian thing. We are keeping open the way of life that agrees with Christianity.

"We are fighting to give every man his chance. That is democracy we are fighting for and that is part of practical Christianity."

Hitler as Anti-Christ

I asked his Grace if he regarded Hitler as anti-Christ. The primate nodded and then told a story which was new to me. It was this:

"I understand that when Hitler came to power he called in members of the churches for a conference. He told them that he did not want any trouble with them but that he regarded Christianity as a dying thing. He added: 'You go on, but don't interfere with me and I won't interfere with you.'

"Later, he encountered opposition of which Rev. Martin Niemoeller is an outstanding example. Then the internment camps were filled with Christians.

"Hitler is out to destroy Christianity. Nazi leaders are definitely working for this goal and he fully acquiesces.

"He believes in a pantheistic super-human force which he calls God. To his mind the German race is the highest expression of this force.

"He gave an exhibition of his paganism when he delivered his eulogy at the funeral of Hindenburg. Hitler invited the spirit of the soldier-president to enter Valhalla. Well, Valhalla hardly fits in with the Christian conception of the hereafter."

Again the doctor broke into laughter. I wish the Fuehrer could have heard it.

Then arose the question of whether the Nazi all-highest must be removed from the picture in one way or another as soon as Germany has surrendered.

"I think so," said the archbishop. "But it may be difficult to hold trials which will give impartial justice.

"There is a danger of horrible massacres. Peoples may act against the quislings and the Nazis in the occupied countries and there may be such an outburst of passion that folks will recoil against any trial.

"That is, this may happen unless the Allies can act in time to prevent it. Christian influence must be thrown on the side of justice. There must be a period of policing of Germany and we must try to create a brotherhood.

"Of course, Prussianism must be coerced. Prussia is the only state in Europe which began as an army. The army became a state.

"But there is nothing biological in the influence that causes Prussianism. Not all Germans are bad Germans.

True, most of them do admire aggressiveness. They are easily regimented. They love the word 'Verboten' and take huge delight in pointing out innumerable 'Verboten' signs in their country to visitors. But they are not all bad."

So ended our chat.

His Grace the most Reverend Father in God, William, by Divine Providence Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England and metropolitan, accompanied your correspondent down the age-worn stairs to the great oaken door and offered to help me on with my topcoat. That is the unpretentious and friendly sort of man the "Leftist" archbishop is.

'Raise' Cry Ends For War's Duration

have to make more than $67,000 a year to be affected by the $25,000 limitation.

Before reaching the $25,000 maximum, deductions are permitted for federal income taxes, "customary" charitable contributions, payments on life insurance policies and other fixed obligations in effect on October 3, 1942, and for past income taxes due.

The qualified freezing of salaries of $5,000 or less became effective yesterday and that of salaries of more than $5,000 was retroactive to October 3.

Increases may be granted automatically in these classifications in cases of individual promotions or reclassifications; individual merit increases within established salary rate ranges; operation of an established system of salary increases based on service; increased productivity under an incentive plan, and in the operation of a trainee system.

Even raises in these groups would be forbidden if they caused "any substantial increase of the level of costs or shall furnish the basis either to increase price ceilings of the commodity or service involved or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in such price ceilings."

Control of all wages and salaries not in excess of $5,000 was given to the War Labor Board in the case of employes represented by a labor organization or those not employed in an executive, administrative or professional capacity. The Treasury Department assumed jurisdiction over all other salaries.

The regulations covering salaries up to $5,000 do not apply to employers of eight persons or less. Similarly, the $25,000 limitation does not limit fees of doctors and lawyers unless they are retained by a corporation on a regular salary basis.

Home Defense

It is necessary for all connected with the defense set-up of the Fourth Ward to meet Thursday evening at eight o'clock at 239 Hasbrouck avenue, as well as all interested men and women.

Wardens are called to meeting in accordance with their duty through their oath of office. Interested citizens are welcome.

Matters of extreme importance such as the new "V Home" campaign, so vital to the war effort, and ordered by the State War Council; also, the scrap drive of the Fourth Ward week ending November 14, so vital to our war production; and the distribution of helmets and other equipment, the method of, etc., through the supply officer, your zone warden. Full cooperation of all is needed.

Training Courses In Machine Shop Work Are Given

Opportunities for young men and women between the ages of 16 and 25, regardless of draft classification, to secure training for jobs in war industry and be paid $25.60 a month while learning, are now available under the War Man Power Commission of the United States Government.

Herbert S. Bell, field interviewer of the War Man Power Commission, will be at the Municipal Auditorium on Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. to talk to any of Kingston's young men and women who are interested in war industry training. He will explain the course and make arrangements for entrance to the course.

The course now being given is primarily machine shop shoptraining and includes learning the operation and set-up of all types of lathes, milling machines, drill press and shaper. Welding is also offered in the courses along with instructions in reading various types of machine shop instruments such as calipers, scales and micrometers as well as elementary training in blue print reading.

The length of the course varies with the individual's ability to learn. Arrangements are made through the United States Employment Service to place youth in industry immediately upon conclusion of the training. It is expected that the Government will relocate youth in non-essential employment, to work directly concerned with the war effort. For this reason it is especially desirable for young people to begin training in war industry trade immediately and continue work in this field.

Girls especially are encouraged to take these courses, which lead to profitable employment, and at the same time make it possible to release men for the armed forces.

The courses are now being given at Poughkeepsie and arrangements have been made for free transportation of Kingston's youth to and from these classes by government bus. The bus leaves Monday through Friday at 7:15 a. m. from the Central Post Office, and at 7:30 from the downtown Youth Center at 97 Broadway.

Approximately 20 young men and women of Kingston are now taking the course at Poughkeepsie and several will be ready for employment within the next two weeks.

Those who are interested in securing this technical training are urged to be present at the Municipal Auditorium Friday afternoon, when refreshments will be served and Mr. Bell will answer all questions regarding the courses. Further information may be secured by calling the Department of Recreation, phone 1682.

'Snack Bars' Suggested

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Installation of "snack bars" in factories to provide quick pick-up foods, coupled with brief between-meal intermissions to enable workers to obtain additional nourishment will step up production of war goods, the New York Labor Department declares. Workers in New York plants are not getting enough of the proper foods, the department's industrial hygiene division reports after a survey of nearly 2,000 plants.

To Review Applications Of Farm Truck Owners

The Ulster County Farm Transportation Committee meets today to review applications of farmers for certificates of necessity for use of farm trucks.

The committee has around 45 applications to review. These are applications which the committee assisted in filling out, but according to Albert Kurdt, Farm Bureau manager, they represent only a small proportion of the several thousand farm-owned trucks.

Some farmers have sent their filled-out applications direct to the O.D.T. office in Detroit, but a large number have not even received application forms, as these forms, according to Mr. Kurdt, were not mailed to those who purchased new or used trucks since last winter, nor to the many farmers who have what are known as farm-license trucks.

Those who have not yet received applications are being advised to write at once to the Office of Defense Administration, Peekskill, and secure them, as they must have certificates of necessity to operate their trucks after November 15.

RECRUITS MEN FOR NAVY

Phoenix, Ariz. (UP)—Charles C. Head, who served in many parts of the world with the Army before retiring as a captain, has closed his little neighborhood grocery and is carrying on a one-man volunteer recruiting service—for the navy.

Enlistment posters have replaced the stock in his place of business. He uses his own automobile to visit young men and their families in spreading the gospel of navy service.

He began by signing up his son, Charles, Jr., when he returned from a year of army duty. Two grandsons also are in the nation's sea service.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—Persistent heaviness of the steel shares blocked early recovery efforts in the stock market today.

The list had a good sprinkling of plus signs through the first hour, with some of the gains running to a point or so. Most of these had been eliminated by midday on an increase in offerings and near the fourth hour fractional losses predominated. Several pivotals had fairly steep declines.

U. S. Steel slipped off more than a point and equally wide dips were traced by Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Chrysler, and U. S. Gypsum. Down fractions were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, duPont, Texas Co., Santa Fe Southern Railway and Southern Pacific.

Bonds were irregularly lower and commodities mixed.

Rules Against Actress

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 28 (AP)—Screen Actress Barbara Bennett's action in remarrying a few days after Tenor Morton Downey divorced her was an indication that she did not possess "mother love" and therefore she cannot have custody of their five children, ruled Superior Court Judge Edward J. Quinlan. Miss Bennett, he said in a decision handed down yesterday, "permitted volatile infatuation to be substituted for mother love."

Gimbels Rent Gould House

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Fifth avenue mansion of the late Jay Gould, fabulously wealthy railroad baron of the nineteenth century and one of the few remaining show places of the eighties, today was leased as an art auction annex by Gimbel Brothers Department Store. The first objects to be auctioned will be the contents of the house which Gould bequeathed to his eldest daughter, Helen, who died in 1938.

U. S. Holds Firmly In Solomon Isles

in our hands after a fierce struggle."

The Fascist command said 53 British tanks were destroyed or captured and 22 R. A. F. planes shot down.

Solomon Islands—American forces blasting at Japan's huge sea armada were credited officially with sinking two more Japanese destroyers and damaging a battleship, a cruiser and another destroyer as the battle flamed over a widespread area of the 900-mile archipelago.

In Washington, President Roosevelt commented that he did not know whether he would use the adjective "decisive" in describing the South Seas conflict, while Navy Secretary Frank Knox declared:

"The navy has hit the enemy some savage blows and we have just begun to fight."

In land fighting on Guadalcanal, American troops were reported to have crushed a Japanese assault on the south flank and forced the enemy to retreat in "heavy fighting" on the west flank.

Night Attack

A navy communique said Japanese shock troops broke through the American south flank in a night attack, October 25-26, but were thrown back by regular U. S. Army troops who regained their lost positions.

U. S. Marines, who originally captured the prize Guadalcanal air base early in August, compelled the Japanese to withdraw on the west flank after holding firmly against a series of attacks unleashed by the enemy since last Friday.

On the basis of these reports, the all-out Japanese land offensive appeared to have made little headway.

Russia—Soviet dispatches reported an important turn in the battle along the Black Sea coast, in the western Caucasus, where the Red armies recaptured a strategic hill and sent the Germans into retreat northeast of Tuapse.

Red Star said the Russians, charging over fir-clad slopes, broke through the German front line at night, stormed the hill and wiped out automatic riflemen on the peak with hand grenades.

"About three companies of Hitlerites were annihilated," the Soviet command reported.

In the 65-day-old siege of Stalingrad, Red Army headquarters said the Germans launched new mass attacks against the city's northern defenses—the sector of the "Red October" arms factory—but declared that wave after wave of Nazi shock troops faltered and broke under the fire of Soviet gunners.

More than 900 Germans were left dead on the battlefield and 11 Nazi tanks were destroyed.

The Russians acknowledged that German assault forces "at a cost of heavy losses succeeded in advancing two streets" inside Stalingrad, but reported that an enemy infantry battalion was wiped out and five tanks, 23 blockhouses and 40 trucks were destroyed.

On the Steppes northwest of the city, Soviet forces defending a recaptured village in the Volga-Don corridor were credited with killing 850 Axis troops and beating off a score of attacks in 24 hours.

New One-Minute Test Tells Allergy From Common Cold

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Writer)

St. Louis, Oct. 28—A dye which shows in a one-minute test whether a cold is true or false—that is, is it due to infection by common cold organisms or to irritations of allergy—was described today to the American Public Health Association.

The treatment for these two types of colds is different, and confusing them may do harm. The same dye test promises to be useful in diagnosing sinus trouble.

The report was delivered by Dr. French F. Hansel of St. Louis. He said that about 12 per cent of the children who have recurring chronic colds and bronchitis are affected with an allergy rather than an infection. Allergy is a sensitivity to a foreign substance.

Many unnecessary tonsil operations are performed on children whose allergic colds are mistakenly diagnosed. Allergy also is an important cause among persons suffering with chronic nasal and sinus troubles. It is thought to be an infection—and is treated accordingly.

The dye is used to stain a sample of a nasal discharge. A sample under a microscope discloses tiny particles. If the particles are germs which accompany a common cold, they stain blue. If they are particles due to an allergy, they turn red. Sometimes an apparent cold proves to be a mixture of a real cold and an allergy.

Doctor Hansel said about 10 per cent of the general population suffers from allergies. An additional 50 per cent has allergic attacks now and then. This is for all allergies, not merely colds.

He said that ragweed pollen, which the public regards as the only cause of hay fever, is probably the biggest cause of other allergies because these other troubles have a better chance to fasten themselves upon a person during a ragweed attack.

Ragweed sensitizes persons to other substances, he explained.

The killer whale will attack much larger species and even boats and small ships.

THOMAS E.
DEWEY'S

"1. On January 1, I shall take steps to set up an employment service, designed particularly to find and train workers for this State's farms. Farming is a skilled occupation. Thousands of skilled hands have already been lost. To meet that need we shall have to have replacement centers to train new farm workers.

"2. There is also need for organizing seasonal help for fruit and other crops. Last year the Republican Legislature, anticipating this wartime need, passed a bill permitting boys and girls to be excused from classes to work on the farms. That was a beginning, but much more can and will be done.

"3. In time of war we must be prepared to meet a breakdown of transportation. The men on the railroads and on trucks are working hard to keep up the flow of feed to the farm and food from the farm. That flow must be maintained. If a breakdown does occur, I will not hesitate to employ the whole fleet of State trucks, including those now lying idle, to maintain the line of supply.

"4. We will take every step to see that New York farmers get the farm machinery they need. New York's farmers, handicapped for years by low prices, have been unable in the past to buy enough equipment. Under any system of rationing this State needs strong representation to see that we get our share of the available machinery, according to the necessities of food production and not according to past purchases.

"5. Finally, if the problems of our farmers, including the special problem of getting and keeping skilled labor, do not receive adequate consideration in the national program, I will present the State's case with all the force needed to get it recognized."

Road to Victory Is Long, Hard, Says Knox in Navy Talk

Country Is Rising to Huge Military Strength, but We Must Prepare for More Sacrifice

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox says this country is rising unyieldingly to a military strength that assures victory, but that only a long, bloody, costly fight will produce that victory.

"We have a long and agonizing road ahead of us," Knox told some 3,000 persons at a Navy Day dinner last night. " . . . the relentless vice of war will squeeze us tighter and tighter. The price in blood and treasure will be staggering.

"We will suffer cruel losses . . . but we know now . . . that we are going to measure up to our destiny."

He declared that the navy had "hit the enemy some savage blows and we have just begun to fight," but said that while ships, planes and trained men were coming faster, the pace was not fast enough to do "properly our vast, world-wide job of patrolling, of escorting and of fighting on all the seas."

He asserted that when the United States reflected upon its troubles, it might also reflect on those of the enemy whose "sky is not so rosy as the fourth winter of his bid for the world sets in."

Knox said submarines had taken an "awful" toll of cargo ships and seamen, we had lost proud fighting ships and the enemy had pushed us back to the waters of Australia and the banks of the Volga.

"But," he added, "the picture is changing now."

He said more than 500,000 men were overseas and millions more were in training, and that navy personnel had more than doubled.

"We are marshaling our manpower to the last man," he continued. "We are marshaling our economic power to the last dollar and our materials to the last pound of metal.

"We have converted the greatest peaceful industrial plant of all time into the greatest arsenal of all time. We will produce more munitions and construction for war purposes in 1943 than the total production for all purposes in 1940."

He declared that after the war "we must for our security insist upon the maintenance of American naval power, at least during the transition period between the end of formal hostilities and until effective means of preventing war have been established and proven."

Students Are Vaccinated Against Smallpox

Twenty-two students in the Kingston High School and the Myron J. Michael School were vaccinated against smallpox this morning by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer. The pupils were vaccinated in the rooms of the health board in the city hall.

Dr. Sanford said that shortly he would call at the grade schools and vaccinate the children, whose parents had signed the consent slips that had been distributed in the schools.

The health officer called attention to the fact that in 1940 there were 182 pupils in the high school and the Michael School who had been vaccinated, and in 1941, there had been 562 pupils in the grade schools vaccinated.

Dr. Sanford plans to vaccinate all children entering school for the first time each year, and by this plan it will be possible to have practically every school child vaccinated.

Troopers Still Are Busy Investigating Incident

State Police were still investigating the identity of a man found dead in a shack on the Milo Hepworth farm Monday. Coroner Jesse McHugh, who was called, said death was apparently caused by a heart attack. The man had been dead a couple of days when the body was discovered.

Trooper William Martin of Marlborough and Troopers John Metzer and L. Baker of the B. C. I. investigated the matter and sent out a description of the man. The man, apparently a wandering laborer, was between 60 and 65 years old, five feet seven inches tall and weighed about 130 pounds. He had brown hair, blue eyes and was partly bald. His clothing consisted of a blue shirt and blue overalls, brown work shoes. It is believed he entered the building on Saturday night to spend the night and died shortly thereafter. The body was taken in charge by H. S. Tuthill & Son Funeral Parlors at Marlborough.
